San Rafael Area Valuation Jumps $16 Million

A breakdown of Marin County property valuations by supervisorial districts given supervisors today by Auditor-Controller Michael Mitchell showed that District 1 including San Rafael has made the largest jump in values with Novato's District 5 as runner-up.

The first district increased 16 million dollars in a year to a new total value of $105,574,490, representing 31.7 per cent of the county as compared with 30.4 per cent last year, Mitchell said.

Next in rate of increase was the Novato area with a 12 million dollar jump in value. This brought the total to $47,061,040 which ranked it fourth with 14.2 per cent of the county as compared with 11.9 per cent last year.

Second in total valuation is District 2 including San Anselmo and four other cities, its new figure being $89,447,520 representing 26.9 per cent which is down from 28.8 last year. Its increase was only four and one-half million dollars.

The third district including Mill Valley and Sausalito is now valued at a total of $82,308,460 or 24.7 per cent of the total, down from 26.1. This year's increase was five and one-half million dollars.

West Marin, the Fourth District, increased only $100,000 to $8,420,940 which represents 2.5 per cent, down from 2.8 per cent last year.

THE NEGRO IN MARIN

Unions, Realtors Deny Active Bias

By PHIL FRADKIN
(Second in a Series)

The dialogue goes this way:

"There are few Negro members of union locals in Marin County."

"Yes, but we get few (or no) applications. Our union has no color bar."

"There are few Negroes living in the county outside of Marin City."

"Yes, but look at the cost of living and the cost of buying a home or renting an apartment."

These are the answers you get when talking to representatives of labor union locals in the county and persons who deal in the sale of homes or the rental of apartments.

Yet, specific cases of discrimination in jobs and housing are cited. Persons active in civil rights organizations in the county agree that discrimination is "subtle, rather than blatant here."

Two facts stick out. The median family income in Marin is the highest in the state. Two per cent of the county's population in 1960, according to census figures, was Negro.

(The 2 per cent figure includes military installations, but excludes San Quentin. There has been a drop in Marin City's population since 1960.)

1. Bartenders and culinary workers: About one-fourth of the total membership of 1,200 is Negro. Most are cooks, busboys and dishwashers. "There are no Negro bartenders," according to Mrs. L. C. Jensen, secretary.

2. Retail clerks: There are 10 Negro members out of a total membership of 850. About half are employed in markets, with

Heated Words Fired By Behr At Fusselman

Supervisors Argue Over Procedures For Bodega Hearing

A hot exchange today between Supervisor Chairman William D. Fusselman and Supervisor Peter Behr apparently foreshadowed further excitement next Tuesday afternoon on the issue of whether Marin residents are to be allowed to speak before the board concerning the projected atomic energy power plant on Bodega Head.

Fusselman said he intends to limit expression to one individual, Paul Golis, secretary of the Sonoma County Assn. for Development of Bodega Bay with headquarters at Rohnert Park, Sonoma County.

Behr brought up the matter to clarify that what he called "the Bodega Bay hearing" was to be Tuesday afternoon, not Monday as earlier reported.

ONLY GOLIS

Fusselman agreed that the board recently voted to hear something from Golis on Tuesday but declared "we're not setting up a hearing" and that only Golis and associates would be heard.

"Is it the intention that no one else who may be present will be allowed to make any remarks?" asked Behr. Fusselman responded that such was his intention for "I don't propose to listen to cat-calling back and forth about something in another county."

"We're going to extend courtesy to someone from Sonoma but not to Marin County residents?" Behr persisted.

Fusselman said the Sonoma County supervisors have "deeply resented" any indication of Marin criticism of their action in granting Pacific Gas and Electric Co. a use permit at Bodega Head. "They (the Sonoma supervisors) have approved and another county shouldn't say they shouldn't have done it," he added.

LEYDECKER VIEWS

Behr said that the issue is not restricted to Sonoma, that if Marin residents wish to express their views they should not be barred from the chambers of their own supervisors and that his personal desire was not to take condemnatory action but to learn all possible facts, which he understood also to be the attitude of new supervisor Byron W. Leydecker.

"I don't want to see a donnybrook here any more than anybody else," said Leydecker, "but having taken steps to inform myself privately, I feel the people should have oppor-

McNamara Backs Test Ban Treaty

Tells Of Huge U.S. Stockpile

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara said today U. S. nuclear superiority over Russia has increased substantially in the last four years and this country now has warheads "in the tens of thousands."

Nothing in the limited nuclear test ban treaty will shift the balance of power, he said.

McNamara was urging ratification of the treaty at a second day of Senate hearings when he gave the unusual statement of comparative military might.

IN CAUCUS ROOM

He testified before the Senate Foreign Relations, Armed Services and Atomic committees. The big Senate caucus room, scene of the hearing, was jammed with spectators.

McNamara had said earlier in an opening statement that the treaty would help preserve a nuclear lead over Russia.

In giving his "unequivocal support" to the treaty which would ban all but underground tests, he assured the Senate the United States is determined to maintain a nuclear force that is "manifestly superior to the Soviet Union's."

"By limiting Soviet testing to the underground environment," he declared, "we can at least retard Soviet progress and prolong the duration of our technical superiority."

Thus in an opening, prepared statement for the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and members of other interested committees, McNamara gave military backing to the treaty much as Secretary of State Dean Rusk supported it yesterday on diplomatic grounds.

NEW TESTING

Just 12 hours before McNamara went to Capitol Hill, the Atomic Energy Commission announced the underground detonation at its Nevada test site of a nuclear device of low yield.

This was the first nuclear explosion since the United States, Britain and Russia signed the treaty a week ago in Moscow.

McNamara's defense of the treaty—an unprecedented public discussion of U.S. nuclear capabilities—was, in effect, a reply to those who fear the ban would work to the military disadvantage to the United States.

He gave detailed figures on

Patrol Checking Man In 'Shove And Run'

A sailor attached to the Alameda Naval Air Station was questioned today by California Highway Patrol officers in Marin County to determine if he had any part in the "shove and run" injury of a woman cyclist deliberately pushed to the ground Sunday.

Ownership of the car involved was traced to the sailor through its license plates, Officer Frank Hulley said.

It was not known if the sailor was driving or if he was involved, Hulley said. He would not release the sailor's name until a police report of the interview was completed.

The cyclist, Mrs. Catherine Banks, 40, of 116 Corte Madera Avenue, a secretary employed by a San Francisco construction firm told the Independent-Journal she had suffered a fractured collar bone and, "I'm going to sue the person responsible for everything he's got!"

The CHP wanted to learn who was riding with the person driving the car when the incident took place about 4:15 p.m. Sunday.

Mrs. Banks was cycling north on Miller Avenue near Almonte Boulevard when the car passed her. As it passed, one of three youths reached far out the window and shoved her off the bicycle. The car then sped away.

Peri Honored With Naming Of Playground

In discussing the naming of the playground after Andrew Peri, late city police chief, Councilman Frank L. Lawrence said that the goal of constructing two tennis courts with $1,045 in the memorial fund seemed "too far out of reach."

Lawrence said the city had received estimates of from $12,000 to $24,000 for the two courts.

He backed a recreation commission recommendation that the park be named after Peri. "He was affectionately known as Andy throughout the city," Lawrence suggested.

Councilman Freeman Blake replied, "The name of Andy Peri jars me as a name for a park."

Lawrence agreed and the council decided to call the park the Andrew Peri Memorial Playground.

Negroes Granted Charter For Bank

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Negroes have been granted a charter for a state bank in Los Angeles, the first Negro bank in California, Superintendent of Banks John A. O'Kane said today.

"The charter was granted strictly on the basis of need for a banking office in the locality," O'Kane said. "The statutes are color blind and it is purely a coincidence that this is a Negro institution.

"I also want to emphasize that this action was taken in June — before the advent of racial picketing."

Flood Work May Start In April On Coyote

Construction of the Coyote Creek flood control project in South Marin could start as soon as next April, Marin County supervisors learned today through a letter from Col. John A. Morrison, Army district engineer.

Morrison explained that his office is preparing plans and specifications for completion next month, assuming that Marin County similarly completes certain planning work.

"There is substantial indication that construction funds for the project will be made available in fiscal year 1964," added Morrison as basis for his forecast. The county must finish its share of the job by next March.

Supervisor Peter Behr termed this "a major undertaking and one of the largest in the history of the county."

He said that purchase of all the required land parcels, expected to total around 100, represents the major county share of the work and added that it will also be necessary to make appraisals and start negotiation in hopes of purchases without condemnation.

"There is bound to be mixed feelings among the people affected," Behr observed.

Police Arrest Crowd Over Integration

CHICAGO (UPI) — Integrationists climbed power poles, buildings and barricades today in the second day of demonstrations at a mobile classroom site on Chicago's racially troubled South Side.

At least eight persons were arrested in the first few hours of demonstrations at the South Side block where the board of education is trying to install mobile classrooms which integrationists charge foster de facto segregation.

More than 50 persons were arrested in tumultous demonstrations yesterday and 37 of them spent the night in jail. During the night, an attempt was made to burn down one of the five mobile classrooms at the 73rd and Lowe streets site. An arson squad investigation was ordered.

The pickets showed a shift in strategy today when Wayne Yancy, 20, a Negro, and Sibylle Bearskin, 18, an Indian girl from Green Bay, Wis., scampered up ladders and perched on the cross beams of power poles 35 feet above the ground.

ZIP Taken Out Of Post Office

Postmaster Warren H. Williams reported to San Rafael police yesterday that a ZIP-man sign, standing four feet tall in plywood, and a ZIP map were stolen between 3 p.m. Saturday and 2 p.m. Sunday.

Also missing were other maps, mail schedules and signs. Replacement cost, he said, was $18.

HOOK REMOVAL FOR SNAPPER HAS DRAWBACKS

Dale Grizez, 12, of Homestead, was fishing for fish in Homestead Creek yesterday and caught a two-pound snapping turtle. He couldn't unhook the turtle because it kept snapping. Dale took him to Fred Foss Jr. at the Homestead firehouse. Foss hung the turtle up by a wire so his neck would stretch, then unhooked the hook.

Together Foss and Dale returned to the creek, submerged the turtle and watched him zoom away.

Explosion Victim Dies Following 6 Years In Coma

RENO (UPI) — A 47-year-old victim of the 1957 Sierra Street explosion here died yesterday after living six years, six months and six days in a deep coma.

Mrs. Elizabeth O. Thompson was on an errand for the county assessor's office during her lunch hour on Feb. 5, 1957, when a pocket of gas trapped underneath the downtown section of the city exploded, killing two people outright, injuring 49 others and causing damage estimated at 2.3 million dollars.

The blast hurled Mrs. Thompson into a parking meter. Parts of the brain controlling consciousness were damaged and she had been under 24-care at Washoe Medical Center ever since.

Mail Train Robber Gang Used Barn

LONDON (AP)—Scotland Yard announced today that police have found the hideout used by the gang which carried out the world's greatest mail train robbery.

The hideout is Leatherslade Farm at Oakley, 53 miles northwest of London. A truck and two army type vehicles were found there.

The police announcement said an intensive search was going on in the area but it appeared the robbers had left three days ago.

Some mail bags were found but there was no trace of the 2½ million pounds (seven million dollars) loot taken from the Glasgow-to-London mail train robbery.

The brick farm house is in an isolated area. Its windows were blacked out. A large supply of food was found there.

Fingerprint experts and other police scientists were rushed to the area. The district was sealed off.

There were indications the bandit gang, believed to number 20 or 30 men, had been in the Buckinghamshire house several days and were trying to burn or bury something when they left in a hurry.

Income Tax Cut Plan Near Crucial Vote

WASHINGTON (AP)—A proposal to cut most Americans' income taxes an average of 15½ per cent approached a crucial vote today in the House Ways and Means Committee.

The plan was worked out by the Treasury to complete a tax bill the committee has been putting together for most of the year. The House is expected to take up the legislation early next month. Action may take longer in the Senate, despite President John F. Kennedy's pleas that a tax cut be enacted this year.

One key member of the committee said a vote by the tax writing group would come soon. Several said they expected agreement on rates approximating those proposed by the Treasury which revised its own earlier suggestions to conform with changes the committee has made in other parts of the tax program.

As unveiled yesterday before the committee by Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon, the revised proposals would result in a net reduction of $10,640,000,000 in individual and corporate tax rates by 1965. Kennedy's proposals in January were estimated to net a $10,320,000,000 reduction.

Thus, the administration reshaped its rate reduction proposals to come up with approximately the same net result after taking into account changes made by the committee in the president's revenue-raising proposals.

A major factor, Dillon said, was the committee's rejection of a 5 per cent floor under itemized deductions. This provision would have cut down itemized deductions—for local taxes, interest, charity and the like — by allowing only the amount in excess of 5 per cent of a taxpayer's income.

By rejecting it, the committee wiped out more than two-thirds of the 3 billion dollars pickup in revenue the administration counted on in its original tax proposal. The committee did restore in a sense a pickup of about 500 million dollars by disallowing certain state taxes, principally those on gasoline, cigarettes and liquor.

The pattern of economic development since the president's message in January has served to confirm the need for a net tax of 10.3-billion-dollar reduction, Dillon said.

"While progress so far this year has been somewhat better than earlier expectations, the outlook for reducing unemployment, in the absence of substantial tax reduction, has certainly not improved, he said.

"With the postwar baby boom beginning to reach the labor market, unemployment is bound to increase unless we release the economy from the shackles imposed by our present high income tax structure."

The tax rates advanced by Dillon range from 14 to 70 per cent in place of the 14 to 65 spread originally proposed. Present rates run from 20 to 91 per cent.

The Treasury figured that, under its proposals, a married man with two dependents who earns $5,000 a year and claims average deductions would save $65 of his present $300-a-year tax bill. A $10,000-a-year-man in the same situation would save $202 of his present $1,196 tab, a $20,000-a-year-man $626 from his present $3,410 tab, and $50,000-a-year-man $2,207 from his $14,576 tax bill.

Present rates range from 20 per cent on the first $2,000 of taxable income to 91 per cent on income over $200,000.

Under the administration proposal, the bottom $2,000 bracket would be split into four $500 brackets, taxed at 14, 15, 16, and 17 per cent. The climb in rates would stop at incomes over $100,000, which would be taxed at 70 per cent.

Two-thirds of the savings for individual taxpayers, under the proposal, would go into effect Jan. 1, the rest a year later.

The corporate income tax would be reduced, also in two stages, from the present 52 per cent to 48 per cent, with an additional advantage for small firms. The present 30 per cent tax on the first $25,000 of corporate income would drop to 23 per cent.

Rights March Costs Cause New Worries

WASHINGTON (AP)—Ballooning costs today worried leaders of the huge "march on Washington for jobs and freedom," scheduled Aug. 28.

Incidental expenses — some of them far from trifling—began to loom large as the day drew nearer when an estimated 100,000 to 250,000 Negroes and white sympathizers will move from the Washington Monument to Lincoln Memorial for civil rights exercises.

The forehead of the Rev. Walter Fauntroy, District of Columbia coordinator of the march, developed a couple of new wrinkles when he got estimates for a loudspeaker system to carry music and speeches to the throngs.

The best quotation he has gotten to date is $15,800. It took only a slight calculation to figure that it will take a lot of "freedom buttons"—on sale at 25 cents apiece—to finance that item alone.

Just how is the big march being financed? Leaders say that primarily it is being paid for by the marchers themselves. Negroes and white civil rights enthusiasts coming here from many parts of the nation by special trains, planes and buses are expected to pay their own fare and wherever possible to bring along box meals.

In some cases, Negro organizations will ante up cash to send unemployed persons here. These organizations are financed mainly by dues, special contributions and bequests.

Virginia Segregation Court Rule Reversed

RICHMOND, Va. (UPI)—A federal appeals court ruled in a split decision yesterday that the state of Virginia must decide whether to operate public schools. The court refused to order re-opening of schools in Prince Edward County.

In a ruling that could have far-reaching legal implications in other school desegregation cases, the court held in a 2-1 decision that Prince Edward's closing of public schools did not violate the 14th Amendment of the Constitution.

The action overturned a 1962 decision by U.S. District Judge Oren R. Lewis who held that Prince Edward County's schools could not remain closed while other public schools in the state were open.

The county closed all public schools after being faced with school desegragation. A private system has been in operation for white children but 1,600 Negroe children have had no formal schooling in the county for four years.

The U.S. Fourth Circuit Court of Appeals ruled that the question of whether the Virginia constitution and laws require communities to operate schools must be answered by state courts.

Judges Clement F. Haynsworth and Herbert Boreman said in the majority opinion that the federal district court should have sent the case back to the state courts to resolve the issue.

Barring an appeal by Negro litigants to the U.S. Supreme Court, the next action in the case which has dragged out for 12 years is scheduled for October when the State Supreme Court of Appeals hears arguments on the issues.

In a dissenting opinion, Appeals Court Judge J. Spencer Bell said the federal district judge's order to re-open the schools "should be implemented at once."

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Sen. Edward M. Kennedy (D-Mass.) says it is the manifest destiny of the United States to lead the world in space exploration and its space program should not stop at the moon.

Bar Opposes Constitution Change Plans

CHICAGO (AP) — Three proposals to change the U.S. Constitution and curtail the powers of the federal government have been opposed by the American Bar Assn.

Earlier this year, Chief Justice Earl Warren took the nation's lawyers to task for silence about the amendments, calling it "almost an abdiction of its (the bar's) responsibility to the public."

Without any dissent, the ABA House of Delegates yesterday went on record as opposing two of the amendments. The House of Delegates, the ABA's policy-making group, has 258 members.

One amendment would make it possible for states to propose and ratify constitutional amendments on their own, without approval of Congress or a national convention.

The second, also turned down without any opposition, would make possible overruling of decisions of the U.S. Supreme Court by a "court of the union" comprising of the chief justices of the 50 states.

A third, rejected in a 136-74 standing vote, would wipe out federal jurisdiction over the apportionment of seats in state legislatures.

Should any of the proposed amendments receive support from 34 states, Congress would have to call a national convention to accept or reject it.

The third amendment, which brought some debate in the ABA sessions, would reverse the March 162 Baker vs. Carr decision of the Supreme Court.

In Baker vs. Carr, the court held that citizens could seek relief in federal courts when unequal representation of state legislatures violated constitutional rights.

One amendment would make it possible for states to propose and ratify constitutional amendments on their own, without approval of Congress or a national convention.

The second, also turned down without any opposition, would make possible overruling of decisions of the U.S. Supreme Court by a "court of the union" comprising of the chief justices of the 50 states.

A third, rejected in a 136-74 standing vote, would wipe out federal jurisdiction over the apportionment of seats in state legislatures.

Should any of the proposed amendments receive support from 34 states, Congress would have to call a national convention to accept or reject it.

The third amendment, which brought some debate in the ABA sessions, would reverse the March 162 Baker vs. Carr decision of the Supreme Court.

In Baker vs. Carr, the court held that citizens could seek relief in federal courts when unequal representation of state legislatures violated constitutional rights.

THE VICAR OBJECTS

The halo's over the head of suds in the beer mug instead of over the head of an angel on the sign advertising "The Angel" pub in Braintree, Essex, England, and that's why the local vicar, the Rev. Man Found In Canyon Next To Dead Friend

ROSEVILLE (AP)—A man who lay 600 feet down a remote Northern California canyon for 60 hours next to a dead friend was reported recuperating and in good condition at a hospital.

James D. Patten, 56, of Auburn, was a passenger Friday night in a car driven by Roscoe F. Boyer, 52, of Placerville, a fellow-employee at a bedding firm. The car skidded off a back road into a canyon on the middle fork of the American River. Both men were thrown out. Boyer was killed. Patten was too seriously injured to crawl back to the road for help.

Saturn Second Stage Gets Successful Test

SACRAMENTO (AP) — The six-engined second stage for this country's huge Saturn I rocket has been test-fired for seven minutes, and the Douglas Aircraft Co. termed the test successful.

The same engine burned for only one minute last week in a partially successful test. But a spokesman said that during yesterday's firing, the engines developed their expected thrust of 90,000 pounds.

Manufacturers produced 32.4 million dolls in 1960 and 2.1 million doll carriages to put them in, says the Census Bureau.

Paternity Suit Holding Up Ex-Dictator's Extradition

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A paternity suit appeared today to be the only barrier holding up return of Marcos Perez Jimenez, former Venezuelan dictator, to his homeland to face trial for embezzlement.

The U. S. State Department announced yesterday that Perez Jimenez, accused of embezzling more than 13 million dollars in public funds, would be extradited. A chartered plane was sent from Caracas to take him home.

It was the first time the United States approved extradition of a former chief of government and it climaxed a legal fight lasting more than four years.

Perez Jimenez, however, remained in federal custody in the Dade County jail where he has been since Dec. 12, 1962, while his attorneys explored every legal avenue of escape.

The latest development came last Thursday when Judge Robert Anderson of Dade County Circuit Court signed an order forbidding Perez Jimenez to leave the court's jurisdiction.

Anderson also signed an order for Perez Jimenez to put up $300,000 bond pending outcome of a suit by Ilona Marita Lorenz, 26, of Miami. She seeks to tie up his assets while the courts decide whether a $75,000 trust fund he allegedly established for her and her 5-year-old daughter will be recognized.

Irving Jaffe, a special attorney for Department of Justice, arrived from Washington and told reporters he believed Anderson would waive jurisdiction and not interfere with Perez Jimenez' deportation.

He told reporters, "We hope to clear this thing up by the end of the week."

Also arriving in Miami were Counsellor Raul Nass, who came from the Venezuelan Embassy with a warrant for Perez Jimenez. With him was Howard Westwood, one of the attorneys representing the Venezuelan government.

Jordan Says He May Back Kuchel

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Secretary of State Frank M. Jordan says he'll back U. S. Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel (R-Calif.) if Kuchel decides to try for the 1966 Republican gubernatorial nomination.

Jordan, a Republican, just returned from Washington, D. C., where he talked with Kuchel, said the Senate minority whip is "toying with the idea."

"But," Jordan added, "I don't think he's too serious. He likes it where he is."

The Sacramento Union reported yesterday that a Kuchel aide had termed reports that Kuchel was thinking of the governorship "inaccurate."

Tiburon Man Seeking Early Army Release

Army Specialist 4 Morgan Keith Buchanan of Tiburon wants to attend San Francisco State College this fall, but he has a problem because he's stationed in Greenland.

Buchanan has requested an early discharge so he can continue his studies toward becoming a science teacher.

His wife, Betty, who works as a doctor's office nurse, said "He gives tests to soldiers at Thule, Greenland, and all the little outposts up there to see if they're efficient enough in their jobs to warrant a pay raise."

Buchanan enlisted in 1961, seeking a way out of a financial crisis after his wife had undergone a costly pregnancy. He has completed two years of college and wants to resume his studies this fall, taking physics and chemistry courses that will not be offered next spring.

He asked for a discharge Sept. 1, five months earlier than scheduled. Mrs. Buchanan said that his commanding officer recommended the early discharge, but it was rejected by the Department of the Army in Washington.

The Buchanan's sought help from Senator Clair Engle and Rep. Donald H. Clausen (R-Crescent City), who received telegrams from the Army that Buchanan's services in a civilian capacity did not outweigh the need for him in the service.

San Francisco State College has accepted Buchanan for enrollment and the Buchanans still hope that he'll enter this fall.

Boys Set Fire With Gasoline

Two 15 year old boys made and ignited a Molotov cocktail on a vacant lot at 50 La Cuesta Drive, Greenbrae, yesterday, starting a fire that burned over about 9,000 square feet of grass and brush before 19 Larkspur firemen fought an hour to put it out.

The firemen arrived at the scene on a slope in three rigs after the alarm was sounded at 2:43 p.m. The Kentfield department also sent men in two trucks who stood by briefly.

Firemen said the device set off by the boys consisted of gasoline in a jar with a wick. The boys were lectured, a fireman said.

CHP Records Voices Of Drunken Drivers

California Highway Patrol officers in Marin County are collecting recordings of drunks, but it's all in the line of duty.

The recordings are seldom "hits" with the "recording artists."

Most suspects who hear their slurry voices on the tape later decide to plead guilty, said CHP Sgt. James C. Dukes.

"In fact," he said, "I can't recall a single not guilty plea from anyone who's been confronted with these recordings."

The suspects know they are being recorded and "some even want to hold the microphone themselves," he said.

"We find that people who are intoxicated are happy to talk into a tape recorder."

There was no money budgeted for tape recorders so patrolmen used their own money from the "pistol and recreation" fund of the Marin-Golden Gate Squad Club to buy two Japanese-made recorders from a San Rafael discount house at $130 each.

CHP Supervising Inspector D. J. O'Connell in San Francisco, commander of Zone 3, covering 10 Bay Area counties, said the recorders are being used with department approval. Tape recordings are "only one of many tools" used by officers, O'Connell said.

hopes of getting them down. While police waited, six demonstrators sat down around a power company truck which had arrived to check the poles. The six—three of them young women—were arrested.

Simultaneously, a white girl scrambled to the top of one of the mobile classrooms and refused to come down. Five policemen went after her. They strapped her into a bag normally used for psychiatric cases, lowered to the ground and placed her under arrest.

Purse Snatcher Flees In Car

The purse of a San Rafael woman was snatched last night by a youth who ran off into a waiting car, according to police.

Verna Bullis of 1215 Tamalpais Avenue, told police that her purse was snatched at about 9:45 p.m. while she was walking in front of 714 Mission Avenue.

The youth was chased by Lila and Roger Hickel of 714 Mission Avenue who witnessed the incident while sitting in their car. They said he sped off in a waiting car.

Woman Finds Husband Dead From Gunshot

Lester F. White, 43, an unemployed auto parts salesman, was found dead yesterday at his home in Strawberry with a .38-caliber bullet through his head.

Assistant Coroner William Bradley and Sheriff's investigators said the wound was apparently self-inflicted.

Mrs. White told officers her husband had been despondent over health and financial problems during the past five or six months. Yesterday, he got up around noon but did not get dressed. About 1:45 p.m., Mrs. White said she heard the sound of a shot in the bedroom. She found her husband lying on the bed, with a revolver next to him.

The Whites were married in Kentucky in 1948. They have no children.

Private funeral services will be held at Russell and Gooch Mortuary in Mill Valley.

Tunnel Benefits Seen As Slight For Marin

Though Marin commuters will find proposed "crosstown tunnel" in San Francisco of only partial help in easing the rush hour squeeze, the fringe benefits of tunnel construction may extend to more drivers.

Hidden benefits to the action by San Francisco supervisors yesterday in approving a tunnel route were pointed out by Thomas D. Hardcastle of Novato, one of Marin's representatives on Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District Board.

Hardcastle was doubtful that the tunnel would aid many Marin commuters as traffic going into much of San Francisco's business area "still would be dumped in the Market Street area."

As for fringe benefits—Hardcastle noted that the tunnel might make the bridge and its approaches eligible for federal funds by tying it into the federal interstate highway system.

Hardcastle hopes that such funds could be used to widen the present Marina approach to the bridge to eight lanes, thus opening another bottleneck which would aid another segment of Marin commuters.

The tunnel was proposed by San Francisco supervisor William C. Blake and approved by a board vote of 7-4. If constructed, it would run from Golden Gate Avenue and Franklin streets to the Marina Bridge approach in back of the Palace of Fine Arts. Its southern end would ultimately bring cars to the Panhandle Freeway.

Hardcastle said he personally endorses the tunnel proposal and pointed out that Golden Gate Bridge directors in 1959 went on record as favoring such a tunnel, reaffirming their stand just last Friday.

Aerojet Tests Might Go On Near Marin

San Rafael residents may still hear rocket engine tests near the Sisters Islands despite loss by Aerojet General Corp. of its Navy contract, manager Carroll A. Snyker of the Marin County Development Assn. told Marin supervisors today.

Snyker said the firm still has a preliminary contract with the National Aeronautic and Space Agency and that the tests may go on as initially intended for the Navy, except that the company will base at Richmond instead of the former Tiburon Net Depot now to become a research center under the Department of Interior.

Supervisor Peter Behr inquired whether the Interior Department's takeover of net depot facilities must squeeze out the international Science Foundation.

Snyker said the department has been talking "in terms of 17 buildings which sounds like pretty much the entire works" but said it was so important to attract the foundation to Marin that he is hunting for other possible bases, at the same time making sure as to whether it is really out of the Net Depot picture.

Behr gave Snyker a new notion by suggesting that though Angel Island is now a state park, to get the foundation into some of its already existing buildings might not be "an incompatible use."

Snyker said the foundation has previously talked of needing 50 acres but that he means to keep in close touch with all possibilities for luring it into Marin. Board members praised his diligence in preserving contact with all sides of the situation.

Federal Funds For Two Schools Gain Approval

The federal government has approved a $300,000 allocation to the San Jose School district for construction of two multi-purpose rooms.

The funds are administered by the office of Health, Education and Welfare under laws which set aside funds for use by schools in "federally impacted" areas where there are a large number of children of federally employed workers. About 55 per cent of the 2,600 students in the district have parents employed at Hamilton Air Force Base.

The funds will be used for construction of multi-purpose rooms at the Loma Verde and San Jose intermediate schools, though work is not expected to begin for about a year. The allocation does not include funds for furnishing the rooms.

U.S. Court Gives Plane Damages

WILMINGTON, Del. (UPI) — U. S. District Court Judge Caleb R. Layton has awarded $358,000 damages to a New Jersey widow and criticized the Venezuelan government for "abruptly" terminating investigation into a plane crash seven years ago which killed 74 persons.

Layton, in a 52-page opinion handed down July 11 and released yesterday, held that a Super-Constellation, operated by Laniea Aeropostal Venezolana, went down in the Atlantic Ocean 30 miles off Asbury Park, N. J., on June 20, 1956, because of a faulty propeller.

He assessed damages against United Aircraft Corp., which produced 90 per cent of plane propellers at the time. The award went to Mrs. Ruth M. Niel, Ridgewood, N. J., mother of three girls. Her husband was among those killed in the crash.

Thief Takes Clothes

John E. Ludlow reported to Mill Valley police at 6:29 p.m. yesterday that someone "looted" his automobile at his home at 5 Cascade Way taking $150 worth of clothing. Included were two men's suits, six white dress shirts, three sports shirts and a plastic rain coat.

TREATY

nuclear weapons which until now had been carefully censored out of all published testimony.

Among the points McNamara made:

The United States has nuclear superiority, is determined to maintain it and to achieve that "we maintain a total number of nuclear warheads, tactical as well as strategic, in the tens of thousands."

In very large weapons, the Soviets appear now to have some advantage in technology, but not in delivery ability.

The Soviets have no missile at this time which will deliver a 100-megaton warhead to ICBM ranges although even under a test ban, the Soviets could elect to develop such a missile.

The United States prefers to rely on smaller megatonnage bombs used in multiple numbers father than build giant-sized weapons. However, "the United States, without any further testing, can develop a warhead with a yield of 50 to 60 megatons" for delivery by its B-52 bombers.

"It is clear that the Soviets do not have anything like the number of missiles necessary to knock out our Minuteman force, nor do they appear to have any present plans to acquire such capability."

McNamara said "the net of the relevent factors is that the U.S. nuclear force is manifestly superior to the Soviet Union's.

"The U.S. force now contains more than 500 missiles—Atlas, Titan, Minuteman, Polaris—and is planned to increase to over 1,700 by 1966. In addition, the U.S. has Strategic Air Command bombers on air-alert and over 500 SAC bombers on quick-reaction alert.

'By comparison, the consensus is that today the Soviets could place less than half as many bombers over North America on a first strike; the Soviets are estimated to have today only a fraction as many ICBM missiles, and their submarine launched balistic missiles are short-ranged, require surface launch and generally are not comparable to our Polaris force. Between now and 1966, it is estimated that our ballistic missile numerical superiority will increase both absolutely and relatively."

Supervisor William A. Gnoss said that anybody "should have a right to come and talk to us" though the occasion should not be deemed a formal hearing.

tAt this point Fusselman sought to adjourn until afternoon. Behr moved that five more minutes be allowed to come to more definite conclusion as to just how matters are to proceed next Tuesday afternoon but during further heated interchange, his motion failed to receive a second whereupon a motion to adjourn carried 4-1 against Behr's objection.

Tiburon Man Seeking Early Army Release

Army Specialist 4 Morgan Keith Buchanan of Tiburon wants to attend San Francisco State College this fall, but he has a problem because he's stationed in Greenland.

Buchanan has requested an early discharge so he can continue his studies toward becoming a science teacher.

His wife, Betty, who works as a doctor's office nurse, said "He gives tests to soldiers at Thule, Greenland, and all the little outposts up there to see if they're efficient enough in their jobs to warrant a pay raise."

Buchanan enlisted in 1961, seeking a way out of a financial crisis after his wife had undergone a costly pregnancy. He has completed two years of college and wants to resume his studies this fall, taking physics and chemistry courses that will not be offered next spring.

He asked for a discharge Sept. 1, five months earlier than scheduled. Mrs. Buchanan said that his commanding officer recommended the early discharge, but it was rejected by the Department of the Army in Washington.

The Buchanan's sought help from Senator Clair Engle and Rep. Donald H. Clausen (R-Crescent City), who received telegrams from the Army that Buchanan's services in a civilian capacity did not outweigh the need for him in the service.

San Francisco State College has accepted Buchanan for enrollment and the Buchanans still hope that he'll enter this fall.

Boys Set Fire With Gasoline

Two 15 year old boys made and ignited a Molotov cocktail on a vacant lot at 50 La Cuesta Drive, Greenbrae, yesterday, starting a fire that burned over about 9,000 square feet of grass and brush before 19 Larkspur firemen fought an hour to put it out.

The firemen arrived at the scene on a slope in three rigs after the alarm was sounded at 2:43 p.m. The Kentfield department also sent men in two trucks who stood by briefly.

Firemen said the device set off by the boys consisted of gasoline in a jar with a wick. The boys were lectured, a fireman said.

CHP Records Voices Of Drunken Drivers

California Highway Patrol officers in Marin County are collecting recordings of drunks, but it's all in the line of duty.

The recordings are seldom "hits" with the "recording artists."

Most suspects who hear their slurry voices on the tape later decide to plead guilty, said CHP Sgt. James C. Dukes.

"In fact," he said, "I can't recall a single not guilty plea from anyone who's been confronted with these recordings."

The suspects know they are being recorded and "some even want to hold the microphone themselves," he said.

"We find that people who are intoxicated are happy to talk into a tape recorder."

There was no money budgeted for tape recorders so patrolmen used their own money from the "pistol and recreation" fund of the Marin-Golden Gate Squad Club to buy two Japanese-made recorders from a San Rafael discount house at $130 each.

CHP Supervising Inspector D. J. O'Connell in San Francisco, commander of Zone 3, covering 10 Bay Area counties, said the recorders are being used with department approval. Tape recordings are "only one of many tools" used by officers, O'Connell said.

hopes of getting them down. While police waited, six demonstrators sat down around a power company truck which had arrived to check the poles. The six—three of them young women—were arrested.

Simultaneously, a white girl scrambled to the top of one of the mobile classrooms and refused to come down. Five policemen went after her. They strapped her into a bag normally used for psychiatric cases, lowered to the ground and placed her under arrest.

Purse Snatcher Flees In Car

The purse of a San Rafael woman was snatched last night by a youth who ran off into a waiting car, according to police.

Verna Bullis of 1215 Tamalpais Avenue, told police that her purse was snatched at about 9:45 p.m. while she was walking in front of 714 Mission Avenue.

The youth was chased by Lila and Roger Hickel of 714 Mission Avenue who witnessed the incident while sitting in their car. They said he sped off in a waiting car.

Woman Finds Husband Dead From Gunshot

Lester F. White, 43, an unemployed auto parts salesman, was found dead yesterday at his home in Strawberry with a .38-caliber bullet through his head.

Assistant Coroner William Bradley and Sheriff's investigators said the wound was apaparently self-inflicted.

Mrs. White told officers her husband had been despondent over health and financial problems during the past five or six months. Yesterday, he got up around noon but did not get dressed. About 1:45 p.m., Mrs. White said she heard the sound of a shot in the bedroom. She found her husband lying on the bed, with a revolver next to him.

The Whites were married in Kentucky in 1948. They have no children.

Private funeral services will be held at Russell and Gooch Mortuary in Mill Valley.

Tunnel Benefits Seen As Slight For Marin

Though Marin commuters will find proposed "crosstown tunnel" in San Francisco of only partial help in easing the rush hour squeeze, the fringe benefits of tunnel construction may extend to more drivers.

Hidden benefits to the action by San Francisco supervisors yesterday in approving a tunnel route were pointed out by Thomas D. Hardcastle of Novato, one of Marin's representatives on Golden Gate Bridge and Highway District Board.

Hardcastle was doubtful that the tunnel would aid many Marin commuters as traffic going into much of San Francisco's business area "still would be dumped in the Market Street area."

As for fringe benefits—Hardcastle noted that the tunnel might make the bridge and its approaches eligible for federal funds by tying it into the federal interstate highway system.

Hardcastle hopes that such funds could be used to widen the present Marina approach to the bridge to eight lanes, thus opening another bottleneck which would aid another segment of Marin commuters.

The tunnel was proposed by San Francisco supervisor William C. Blake and approved by a board vote of 7-4. If constructed, it would run from Golden Gate Avenue and Franklin streets to the Marina Bridge approach in back of the Palace of Fine Arts. Its southern end would ultimately bring cars to the Panhandle Freeway.

Hardcastle said he personally endorses the tunnel proposal and pointed out that Golden Gate Bridge directors in 1959 went on record as favoring such a tunnel, reaffirming their stand just last Friday.

Aerojet Tests Might Go On Near Marin

San Rafael residents may still hear rocket engine tests near the Sisters Islands despite loss by Aerojet General Corp. of its Navy contract, manager Carroll A. Snyker of the Marin County Development Assn. told Marin supervisors today.

Snyker said the firm still has a preliminary contract with the National Aeronautic and Space Agency and that the tests may go on as initially intended for the Navy, except that the company will base at Richmond instead of the former Tiburon Net Depot now to become a research center under the Department of Interior.

Supervisor Peter Behr inquired whether the Interior Department's takeover of net depot facilities must squeeze out the international Science Foundation.

Snyker said the department has been talking "in terms of 17 buildings which sounds like pretty much the entire works" but said it was so important to attract the foundation to Marin that he is hunting for other possible bases, at the same time making sure as to whether it is really out of the Net Depot picture.

Behr gave Snyker a new notion by suggesting that though Angel Island is now a state park, to get the foundation into some of its already existing buildings might not be "an incompatible use."

Snyker said the foundation has previously talked of needing 50 acres but that he means to keep in close touch with all possibilities for luring it into Marin. Board members praised his diligence in preserving contact with all sides of the situation.

Federal Funds For Two Schools Gain Approval

The federal government has approved a $300,000 allocation to the San Jose School district for construction of two multi-purpose rooms.

The funds are administered by the office of Health, Education and Welfare under laws which set aside funds for use by schools in "federally impacted" areas where there are a large number of children of federally employed workers. About 55 per cent of the 2,600 students in the district have parents employed at Hamilton Air Force Base.

The funds will be used for construction of multi-purpose rooms at the Loma Verde and San Jose intermediate schools, though work is not expected to begin for about a year. The allocation does not include funds for furnishing the rooms.

U.S. Court Gives Plane Damages

WILMINGTON, Del. (UPI) — U. S. District Court Judge Caleb R. Layton has awarded $358,000 damages to a New Jersey widow and criticized the Venezuelan government for "abruptly" terminating investigation into a plane crash seven years ago which killed 74 persons.

Layton, in a 52-page opinion handed down July 11 and released yesterday, held that a Super-Constellation, operated by Laniea Aeropostal Venezolana, went down in the Atlantic Ocean 30 miles off Asbury Park, N. J., on June 20, 1956, because of a faulty propeller.

He assessed damages against United Aircraft Corp., which produced 90 per cent of plane propellers at the time. The award went to Mrs. Ruth M. Niel, Ridgewood, N. J., mother of three girls. Her husband was among those killed in the crash.

Thief Takes Clothes

John E. Ludlow reported to Mill Valley police at 6:29 p.m. yesterday that someone "looted" his automobile at his home at 5 Cascade Way taking $150 worth of clothing. Included were two men's suits, six white dress shirts, three sports shirts and a plastic rain coat.

TREATY

nuclear weapons which until now had been carefully censored out of all published testimony.

Among the points McNamara made:

The United States has nuclear superiority, is determined to maintain it and to achieve that "we maintain a total number of nuclear warheads, tactical as well as strategic, in the tens of thousands."

In very large weapons, the Soviets appear now to have some advantage in technology, but not in delivery ability.

The Soviets have no missile at this time which will deliver a 100-megaton warhead to ICBM ranges although even under a test ban, the Soviets could elect to develop such a missile.

The United States prefers to rely on smaller megatonnage bombs used in multiple numbers father than build giant-sized weapons. However, "the United States, without any further testing, can develop a warhead with a yield of 50 to 60 megatons" for delivery by its B-52 bombers.

"It is clear that the Soviets do not have anything like the number of missiles necessary to knock out our Minuteman force, nor do they appear to have any present plans to acquire such capability."

McNamara said "the net of the relevent factors is that the U.S. nuclear force is manifestly superior to the Soviet Union's.

"The U.S. force now contains more than 500 missiles—Atlas, Titan, Minuteman, Polaris—and is planned to increase to over 1,700 by 1966. In addition, the U.S. has Strategic Air Command bombers on air-alert and over 500 SAC bombers on quick-reaction alert.

'By comparison, the consensus is that today the Soviets could place less than half as many bombers over North America on a first strike; the Soviets are estimated to have today only a fraction as many ICBM missiles, and their submarine launched balistic missiles are short-ranged, require surface launch and generally are not comparable to our Polaris force. Between now and 1966, it is estimated that our ballistic missile numerical superiority will increase both absolutely and relatively."

Funeral arrangements are pending for Elbert McSherry Brown, known as "Dean of the California Wine Makers," who died of a heart attack at his home, 315 Locust Avenue, San Rafael, Sunday at the age of 74.

Brown was the originator of several new types of wines for California wine producers and had been associated with Christian Brothers before his retirement in 1960.

He was the first recipient of the wine makers merit award from the American Society of Enologists in 1956, and a charter member of the Wine Institute. He was chairman of the technical advisory committee of the institute.

Brown wrote the article on brandy in the Encyclopedia Britannica and numerous papers for the Foreign Winemaking Congress in Belgium.

A native of Lodi, he had lived in Marin County for 18 years, ten in San Rafael and eight in Sausalito. He was a member of the Meadow Club, Elks Lodge, Commonwealth Club and American Legion.

He was a graduate of the University of California in 1914 and served in the Chemical Warfare Service of the U.S. Army in World War I.

Surviving are his wife, Eva Gael Brown of San Rafael, and a son, Billy Benedict Brown of Wyoming, Ohio.

Private services are pending at Keaton's Mortuary.

In April, Sidley and Mrs. June Anderson Sidley, 45, reached a property settlement in her suit for divorce. The terms were not made public.

Mrs. Sidley charged him with drunkenness and desertion. The couple have an adopted daughter, Maureen, 6.

Police said an empty bottle which had contained about 30 sleeping pills was found near Sidley after Miss Mauterer heard him gasping for breath.

the other half working in one large department store. "Stores frown on hiring Negroes," said secretary-treasurer Loren Young.

3. Painters: About 30 of a total county-wide membership of 500 are Negroes. "Most are not really qualified. They learned the trade in the shipyards," according to George Scott, secretary.

4. Carpenters: About 45 of a total membership of 1,500 are Negroes. Asked about discrimination on the job, business representative Norman Campbell said, "Some of the Norwegians hate the Swedes and try to run them off the job."

5. Machinists: About six of a total membership of 700 are Negroes. Most of them are in body and fender shops. Two are currently in the apprenticeship program.

6. Plasterers and cement masons: About 45 of a membership of 120 cement masons are Negroes. One Negro is on application for membership as a plasterer. There are about 30 plasterers in the union.

7. Hodcarriers and general laborers: About half of the total membership is Negro. "Its a carry-over from the old shipyard days," according to secretary-treasurer Ken Mosher. Two-thirds of the Negro membership lives outside the county.

(A poll taken by the Marin Labor Council in 1960 showed that slightly less than one-third of the union members working in the county lived outside Marin. Fifty per cent of those living outside the county cited the high cost of homes and rentals. One and one-half per cent said they were refused a home by real estate salesmen because they were from a minority race.)

8. Teamsters: About 30 of a total membership of 1,500 are Negroes. "Most work in garages washing and lubricating cars. Few are drivers," according to Frank Jannison, business representative and vice president.

9. Electricians: There are no Negro members, although the union local had one long-time Negro member who now works elsewhere, according to Nick Frye, business manager.

10. Barbers: There are no Negro members. The only requirement for membership is a valid state license, according to secretary Manuel Martin. "We never have gotten any applications."

11. Plumbers and pipefitters: There are no Negro members. Total membership in Marin is about 250. "We never turned any down. They just haven't come around," according to Al Stagnaro, business representative.

Edwin W. Ayer, manager for the State Department of Employment office in San Rafael, says that "only a few" Negro office and sales workers register at his office. "Most go over to the city."

Wages are higher and jobs more plentiful in Marin for domestic workers who come over from Richmond and Vallejo. "But the wages will not support their living here," he said.

The cost of living is also cited by Daniel F. Deedy, executive director of the Marin County Real Estate Board Inc., for the small number of Negroes living outside of Marin City.

"It's a matter of economics. Most can't afford the average cost of a home in Marin." The average cost is between $28,000 and $30,000, according to Deedy.

Deedy says it is the individual or seller, not the real estate broker, who controls the sale of a home.

Of 3,700 homes listed in the multiple listing service last year, Deedy said that "about 10 to 15" were signified by the owner to be for sale to anyone, regardless of race, color or creed.

Deedy said he had noticed no decrease in property values in the county when a Negro moves into a neighborhood. "There is no decrease as long as the guy has the money to live in the neighborhood."

"We detest forced integration because you lose the freedom of choice. In a Democracy, you have the right of free choice," Deedy said.

Also voicing opposition to the fair housing bill passed by the state legislature is the Marin County Apartment Owners Assn.

Mrs. Hazel Thole, a director of the association, puts it this way:

"You have a 42-unit apartment building. You have loan payments and utility bills to meet each month. If you rent to a Negro you will have 41 vacant apartments. Who is going to pay the bills?"

Mrs. Thole said that she had polled apartment houses and found that "better than 50 per cent of the tenants" would have moved out if the apartment had been rented to a Negro.

She said it was the fear of some apartment owners that if one Negro family moved in an partment, others would follow and there would "be an influx and a downgrading of the property."

Racial integration, Mrs. Thole said, "is not for the landlord to shove down the throats of his tenants. He doesn't want an empty building."

At the other end of the county from Marin City, officials at Hamilton Air Force Base says, "We have been living with it (discrimination in off-base housing) for years . . . It is unfortunately a common practice that is a fact most everywhere."

Base officials could only recall one Negro Air Force family living in the Novato area. In the 1960 census, about 500 Negroes were shown to be at Hamilton.

About one month ago the secretary of defense issued an order that housing listings maintained by the base housing officer should be only those available to all races.

The effect, according to Hamilton officials, was a drop in the listings from 60 to 15. These listings included homes and apartments outside the county.

Hamilton officials point out that base housing goes first to personnel in the higher ranks. Those seeking off-base housing "have a limited income."

Areas where the Negro can afford to live and "is welcome are normally a considerable distance from the base," they said.

Dr. Edward J. Kessel, chairman of the Protestant Interracial Fellowship, feels that Novato "is the worst part of the county because of its greatest possibility" to provide housing for Negro families from Hamilton.

Kessel, a resident of the Novato area, said he tried to find a Negro couple a home in Novato recently.

"I found two homes finally and both owners dropped out of the negotiations because of objections by their neighbors," he said.

Kessel also cites the recent case of a Negro who went to a Novato real estate office and was not offered a ride in a car to tour houses for sale in the area.

"He was reluctantly given a list of homes for sale and told to ride around himself and look at them from the outside."

The Negro, Kessel said, did not return to the real estate office. He read an advertisement in a newspaper and bought a home directly from the owner. The purchase was made in Marin.

FAIRFAX HIKES TAX TWO CENTS TO $1.82

Mayor Radtke Gives Denial Of Brown Act Violations

The Fairfax City Council last night adopted a tax rate of $1.82 per $100 of assessed valuation for 1963-1964, an increase of two cents over the previous year's tax rate.

The additional two cents, City Clerk Alice Leonesio said, would raise $800 required for the city's retirement fund because of the "effect of more employees."

The council on June 25 adopted a budget, previously worked over in a closed session, calling for expenditures of $270,464. Last year's budget was $248,802.

The increase of expenditures was attributed to authorization to hire two additional firemen and a policeman and salary raises for city employees. No new capital improvement projects have been provided for in the budget.

Mayor W. E. Radtke seized the opportunity last night to make "a flat statement."

This was: "At no time in the nine years (six years on the planning commission and three on the council) has there ever been a meeting in violation of the Brown Act."

The Brown Act requires governing bodies of public agencies to conduct their meetings in public, except where the hiring or firing or hearing charges against a city employee are considered.

However, Radtke refused to release an opinion, in the hands of all councilmen, from City Atty. Wallace S. Myers. The opinion, Radtke said, "recapitulates the Brown Act."

He would not say whether there was any direct reference in the opinion to the unannounced meeting, which councilmen admit holding.

One manufactrer says he has sold more than 2,000 kits for the building of gyrogliders.

FAIRFAX HIKES TAX TWO CENTS TO $1.82

Mayor Radtke Gives Denicl Of Brown Act Violations

The Fairfax City Council last night adopted a tax rate of $1.82 per $100 of assessed valuation for 1963-1964, an increase of two cents over the previous year's tax rate.

The additional two cents, City Clerk Alice Leonesio said, would raise $800 required for the city's retirement fund because of the "effect of more employees."

Judge Orders Probation For Shooting Death

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — San Francisco Superior Court Judge Melvin I. Cronin became a judge in more than its legal sense yesterday when he decided the case of Dale W. Jones, 17-year-old Los Angeles sailor who accidentally shot and killed a 13-year-old boy in San Francisco.

Cronin forgave the injury but would not dismiss the crime:

Jones had been target practicing with his cousin in his cousin's back yard on the morning of July 27. They were shooting at a tree with a .22-caliber rifle and one of Jones' shots missed the tree, went through a fence, and struck Mark King in the abdomen.

The boy died the same afternoon in St. Luke's Hospital.

Cronin said Jones lacked criminal intent, but that he would not dismiss the charge of involuntary manslaughter against Jones, despite pleas by the victim's father who is hospitalized with a heart condition:

"Let him go free," John King had told Judge Cronin and probation officer. "He has suffered enough."

After deliberating the probation report, the charge, and the circumstances of the accident, Cronin granted Jones an "indefinite probation," and directed that he be returned to active Naval service, concerning which, Naval legal officers said he had "an unblemished record".

FROZEN PROGRESS

'Instant Beer' Prediction Given To Brewery Workers

CINCINNATI (UPI) — The unsullied pleasure of a bottle or can of cold beer may soon be corrupted by an ersatz product called "instant beer."

Delegates to the 27th biennial convention of the International Brewery Workers Union were told today that the just-add-water product soon would be ready for distribution.

Although automation and new processing methods—among them "instant beer"—are causing concern among among the union's top ranks, the new product is viewed with mixed reaction among the rank-and-file.

The process involves quick freezing fresh beer and removing the water in the form of ice.

The concentrate can then be shipped in tank cars and "reconstituted" at bottling plants scattered around the country. Shipping costs would be cut 75 per cent.

James Wolfe, union director of education and research, said, "While we might lose some jobs at the big brewing centers, we might pick up more jobs at the new reconstitution points."

Radio Man Hit By Divorce Suit After Libel Win

NEW YORK (UPI)—The wife of radio commentator John Henry Faulk has filed for separation, charging her husband left her shortly after collecting $175,000 as partial payment of a 3.5-million-dollar libel judgment.

In a state supreme court action yesterday, Mrs. Evelyn Smith Faulk asked $2,500 a month temporary alimony, plus $7,500 for legal fees. Justice Arthur G. Klein set a hearing for next Monday.

In what was believed to be a record libel judgment, Faulk in June, 1962, was awarded the 3.5 million dollars in an action he had brought against Aware, Inc.; Vincent W. Hartnett, a director of that publication; and Laurence W. Johnson, a retired supermarket operator.

Faulk charged that Aware libeled him in an article, causing his dismissal by the Columbia Broadcasting System and a subsequent blacklist throughout the broadcasting industry.

The court awarded one million dollars compensatory damages against the three defendants, and 1.25 million dollars damages against the two individual defendants. Johnson, 73, died during the trial; the $175,000 settlement was made with his estate.

According to Mrs. Faulk, her husband walked out soon after receipt of the $175,000.

Boy Makes Rubber Band Jump Rope

One enterprising carrier, Craig Whitmore of Larkspur, has put together a 250-foot rubber band by tying together more than 3,000 small rubber bands, the kind used to encircle the I-J.

Craig saved his extra rubber bands for about a month, and then yesterday with the aid of a friend, Rod Angus, put them together "just for fun."

Negro Physician Hits Hospitals On Racial Bias

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The president of the National Medical Association yesterday said most medical schools admit Negroes but there remains a concerted, if not formal, campaign to keep the Negro doctor from use of hospitals.

Dr. John A. Kenney Jr. made the statement at a news conference prior to the opening of the 68th annual NMA convention, a group composed of about 2,000 Negro physicians.

Kenney said he and other NMA officers supported such organizations as the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People in the fight against discrimination.

Kenney also criticized the American Medical Association for not taking active leadership in doing away with discrimination in all fields. He said the AMA in 1961 passed a resolution to end discrimination but nothing else had been done.

Drowning Ruled Out For Woman

A Point Reyes mother found floating in Paper Mill Creek Sunday did not die by drowning, Asst. Coroner William Bradley reported today.

Toxology and pathology studies will be made to determine the cause of the death of Mrs. May Pensotti of Cypress Road, he said.

Mrs. Pensotti, reportedly despondent over the loss of custody of her five children, disappeared Friday. Her body was found in the creek by three deer hunters on the Harold Ganazzi Ranch.

Exiled Monarch Making No Plans

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Exiled King Peter II of Yugoslavia, dethroned when Marshal Tito took power, said yesterday he has "no definite plans" to regain his throne.

But the 40-year-old monarch said he was confident that if the communists ever lose power in Yugoslavia, "the people will decide" his future and welcome him back.

King Peter, who now resides in France, is on a two-month tour of the United States to help raise funds for Yugoslav relief. He will end his visit to the Bay Area tomorrow.

Grocery Chain Opens Battle Over Stamps

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Purity Stores Inc., with more than 100 outlets in Northern California is seeking an injunction against the Blue Chip Stamp Co., because Blue Chip has threatened to cancel its contract with Purity.

Purity said the rate has been set at one stamp for every 10 cents worth of goods purchased.

When Purity offered a stamp bonus as part of a promotion campaign, store officials said Blue Chip threatened to cancel its contract.

Purity, which claims to spend $1 million dollars a year on trading stamps, named as co-conspirators, but not defendants, Safeway Stores, Inc., Lucky Stores, Inc., and P&X Markets, Inc.

Purity spokesman said the three stores and the stamp company constituted a conspiracy in restraint of trade by trying to control the issuing of trading stamps in food markets.

BEAUTY MUTINY

'Miss Italy' Declines While Others Recline

LONG BEACH (AP) — Said "Miss Italy," her green eyes flashing angrily: "Beauty queens should not be pictured flat on their backs."

With a swirl of her long, lowcut gown, Anna Lusia Rispoli then proceeded to lead the world's most beautiful mutiny.

It started yesterday when a reporter and photographer for a national magazine told 87 contestants in the International Beauty Congress they wanted them to pose lying on the floor of Long Beach Arena—in formals.

Snapped Miss Rispoli, 22, through her hostess-interpreter: "We don't do things this way in Italy."

Most of the contestants began dutifully to sink to the floor, like a field of wilting flowers, while the photographer climbed high in the arena for the angle he desired.

A small knot of dissidents, inspired by "Miss Italy's" refusal, gathered behind her.

"Japanese girls don't do this sort of thing, either," said "Miss Japan," Shizuko Shimazu of Tokyo.

"It would ruin my gown," said Lori Lechner, "Miss California."

"No, that's not for me," said Judi Cahill of New York.

"I agree with Anna Luisa," said "Miss Luxembourg," Cathrine Paulus.

Pageant officials tried to reassure the girls. They offered to pay for having the gowns cleaned.

"It's not the cleaning of the gowns," snapped "Miss Italy," a 5-foot-9- blonde. "It's the principle of the thing."

The lovely mutineers, numbering 16, stood haughtily aside. The other girls obligingly decorated the hardwood floor in a giant sunburst pattern, while the cameras clicked high overhead.

The girls, here from the United States and 46 foreign nations, are all hopeful of winning the title of "Miss International Beauty." Judging starts tonight, and will be concluded with the selection of the winner Friday.

"It's not the cleaning of the gowns," snapped "Miss Italy," a 5-foot-9- blonde. "It's the principle of the thing."

The lovely mutineers, numbering 16, stood haughtily aside. The other girls obligingly decorated the hardwood floor in a giant sunburst pattern, while the cameras clicked high overhead.

The girls, here from the United States and 46 foreign nations, are all hopeful of winning the title of "Miss International Beauty." Judging starts tonight, and will be concluded with the selection of the winner Friday.

Exiled Monarch Making No Plans

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Exiled King Peter II of Yugoslavia, dethroned when Marshal Tito took power, said yesterday he has "no definite plans" to regain his throne.

But the 40-year-old monarch said he was confident that if the communists ever lose power in Yugoslavia, "the people will decide" his future and welcome him back.

King Peter, who now resides in France, is on a two-month tour of the United States to help raise funds for Yugoslav relief. He will end his visit to the Bay Area tomorrow.

BALLOON TO NEW YORK

Two Marin Gas Pilots Help Plan Continental Flight

By BRUCE COLEMAN

Ten men working in spare time in garages and offices are developing a west-to-east balloon which they hope to man and have soaring in two or three months.

They are members of the Society for the Propagation of Free Ballooning of Northern California.

"Ballooning is ridiculous," admitted Derek Anthony Warton, 27, of Mill Valley, president of the society. "Who ever heard of a thing as absurd?"

But Warton, a printer in San Francisco, says he would be delighted to be the first man to free balloon from Mill Valley to New York City. Reason for that direction, said the balloonist, is "the path of the wind is from west to east."

The society is experimenting with miniature prototype balloons and trying to devise methods to get some sort of steerage.

They have been working in collaboration with Dow Chemical Co., Union Carbide, and the military forces, Warton explained. They are in touch with the Department of Defense which has asked for any contributions they may make, and are writing to the observatory of Paris.

One of the things which is opening up balloon travel, said the printer, is that "very shortly the Federal Aviation Agency will change its regulations to allow you to fly a balloon anywhere as a private aircraft. At present the extent of the area for ballooning is restricted since balloons are classified as experimental aircraft. With the new regulations, a balloonist can get a "certificate of airworthiness" and go any place.

Warton and Gus Ohlson, also of Mill Valley, are the only two Marinites in the society; other members are scattered around Northern California. The society is conducting a contest, with prizes offered, for the best design of a free balloon with an open basket. Designs may be sent to Warton at 363 Pinehill Road.

"It's a serious attempt to fly balloons but above all else it's got to be fun," Warton said. "We have no desires to carry passengers back and forth across the States in balloons . . . it's an easy-going organization.

The balloon they hope to fly, Warton explained, will probably have an envelope (balloon) about 30 feet in Diameter, be red and blue and segmented to look like an orange. The basket, or gondola, beneath may be made of fiberglass reinforced with aluminum. It will be open.

Gas will be used to raise and lower the balloon. The envelope will probably be of polyethelene, a plastic, about 2/1000 of an inch thick. "The important thing is that it be gas tight—not the thickness," said the free ballooner.

The balloon can hold two men but, for lightness, will take but one. Warton estimates with average winds of 15 miles per hour it will take one to two weeks non-stop to get to New York City. There will be no room for anything but food, water and flying instruments. "There won't be time to read a book," he said.

Steering may be by one of two methods, the Magnus principle which "we know works," said Warton, and the luffing method with sails which we have not tried.

The Magnus plan, he continued, works on the theory that if the wind strikes a revolving cylinder there is force asserted at 90 degrees to the incidence of the wind. For luffing, they will have sails on either side of the balloon.

Warton says the only other balloon society he knows of in the U.S. is one in the Midwest which uses a hot air balloon.

He said the classic method of dropping sand out to rise is passe and said, in the old ballooning days, sand was dropped because very obviously, "you couldn't drop bricks."

More than 50 per cent of every dollar spent in California for defense contracts is farmed to other states through the subcontracting system, reports the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce.

Parking 'Error' Hit In Fairfax

Fairfax city councilmen last night criticized city engineer Albert H. Siemer for making an "error" which might result in the loss of parking spaces on Broadway, between Pacheco Avenue and Bank Street.

The error, the council indicated, was intentional.

The council, according to Councilman Freeman Blake, was faced with two alternatives which are "utterly unacceptable."

The alternatives, as posed by a letter from the State Division of Highways stipulating use of gas tax funds for the street widening of Bolinas Road and Broadway, are:

1. To wipe out parallel parking in the area of "peak use" which would result in the loss of six or seven spaces.

2. Or to pay $10,000 to $12,000 as the city's additional share of the project for parallel parking and have to institute no parking regulations during peak hours of use.

Use of the area for diagonal parking should have been negotiated at the time the agreement was signed with the state for the street widening project, according to Mayor W. E. Radtke.

Councilman Cornelius Van Vliet said, "Seimer took a lot on himself by doing it without consulting us."

Siemer, who was unable to attend last night's meeting because he was sick, said that "I am opposed to diagonal parking." His message was transmitted by City Clerk Alice Leonesio.

The request by the Fairfax Merchants Assn. for an even split in the parkade of all-day and two-hour parking and for an additional crosswalk was referred to Police Chief James Orr.

The council set a time limit of four hours on parking in the city lot at Mono Avenue and Bolinas Road.

Council Tells Fairfax Man 16 Cats Must Go From Home

The Fairfax City Council last night denied the application of E. A. Larock of 17 Fir Trail to keep 16 cats after it heard that his home "is filthy beyond description."

The council then directed Building Inspector Rolfe M. Ockenden to look into the possibility of condemning Larock's home.

Larock had been given a month by the council to clean up his home. Councilman Freeman Blake said, "It shouldn't be allowed to stand."

A report by county Sanitarian Makoto Yano stated that the home "was filthy beyond description."

The council last night rejected the claim of former police sergeant Lee Perry for payment for 290 hours worked overtime. Perry asked a compromise settlement for 140 hours but the council refused to act because the new claim was not in writing.

Perry said, outside of the council chambers, that he would file suit for overtime pay.

The Fairfax City Council also:

1. Appointed George Pagni of 6 Ridge Road to fill the vacancy on the planning commission created by the resignation of Ralph Tomasini.

2. Decided to interview Charles Campbell of 125 Manor Road, at its Sept. 10 meeting for the position of electrical inspector.

3. Approved the request of civil defense director Gordon Adams for purchase of a $39.50 filing cabinet and a lock and door for a first aid storeroom.

4. Started condemnation proceedings against a house and garage at 81 Hillside Drive, owned by Angelo and Mamie Carmiccia of 55 Madrona Avenue, San Anselmo.

5. Appointed Robert R. Souza of 18 Claus Circle to the park and recreation commission.

6. Set for its Sept. 10 meeting a determination of responsibility for payment of removal of gasoline lines at the Fairfax Garage.

7. Called for examination of firemen for an eligibility list on Sept. 4.

8. Sent a letter of recommendation to Ronald C. Samet for his recent job as recreation director and decided to let J. D. Nichols, who has been assisting Samet, take over as director.

9. Decided to look into transfer of council meetings from the firehouse to the Fairfax Woman's Club.

10. Placed Street Supt. William Dooley and Police Officer Richard Morin on permanent status.

11. Approved purchase of a new resuscitator for $395, and three fire extinguishers, at $25 each.

Nursing Home Gets Novato Plan Approval

A 91 bed convalescent nursing home proposed on 2.7 acres at the south end of Clausing Avenue was approved last night by the Novato Planning Commission.

Alfred Belluchi and Frank De Mello asked for a used permit for the nursing home which will be east of the Pacifica Apartments and Bobo's Trailer Park.

The Backes Construction Co. was given permission to build a swimming pool and recreational area at the end of Rena Court for residents of Rancho Marin. The same company was also given permission to build two houses within 15 feet of the front property line where 25 feet was required in the same subdivision.

In other action, the commission:

1. Granted a rezoning from single family to multiple family to Albert Villa for a lot at 1040 Second Street.

2. Denied Gus Ravetz a rezoning from single to multiple family for 3.5 acres on Hancock Street and Reservoir Drive.

3. Set Aug. 26 for a hearing on the Scottsdale master plan for 80 acres west of Highway 101, south of Yukon Way to Leafwood Drive.

4. Approved Novato Hills Development Co. building two houses within 18 feet of the front property line where 25 feet is required on Rowland Boulevard.

5. Approved plans for a Veterans of Foreign Wars hall at 844 Sweetzer Avenue and a parking stall over the Carousel Drive-In at 7441 Redwood Highway.

6. Denied Jack Venton a request for commercial storage at 813 Lamont Avenue.

Harvest Ball Meeting Scheduled By Firemen

The annual Harvest Ball was discussed last night by Bolinas volunteer firemen and final plans made. The ball will be at 9 p.m. Aug. 24 at the community center with funds raised to go to the volunteers welfare fund.

Bolinas Fire Protection District commissioners, meeting before the volunteers, hired A. C. Pfefferkorn to act as secretary to the commission at a $10 a month salary.

Fairfax Road Is Labeled Not Passable

Upper Cascade Drive residents appeared before the Fairfax City Council last night to press for street repairs and wrung an admission from at least one councilman that the street was not passable.

Councilman Cornelis Van Vliet said, "the street is certainly not in a passable condition." He won applause from the delegation of residents of the area at the meeting.

Cries of "no" greeted Councilman Freeman Blake's statement that, "I drove it and it was passable."

A middle ground was struck by Councilman Stan Wilsey who said he drove the unpaved portion of the street last Friday and found that "it does have chuckholes."

Wilsey added, "It is only dangerous if you drive it at high speeds, like 15 miles per hour." He suggested that residents form an assessment district, with the city to pay 20 per cent of the costs, as has been done in other parts of the city.

Dan Giles of 610 Cascade Drive replied, "That's not the answer we like. We pay taxes." Giles maintained that the street has been accepted by the city and must be kept in a passable condition.

Mrs. George E. Capps of 581 Cascade Drive asked Mayor W. E. Radtke, "You are thinking of a bond issue for a new city hall, aren't you?"

Radtke replied, "We are contemplating it."

Mrs. Capps shot back, "Well, you are not going to get it."

Brown In Italy Holds Seminar

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Gov. Edmund G. Brown, vacationing in Europe, unexpectedly met a group of Stanford University students while touring Italy yesterday, and held an impromptu seminar on California politics.

Brown's office said the governor, his wife, daughter Kathy and one of Kathy's friends were headed for a picnic in the hills near Florence when they spotted Stanford's Italian campus.

Kathy plans to enter Stanford in Palo Alto, as a freshman this fall, and when the party decided to picnic on the campus, they were quickly surrounded by about 60 curious students.

Brown spent an hour, his office said, discussing political and economic problems.

San Rafael Hospital Chief Prescott Quits

Administrator John H. Prescott, 48, of San Rafael submitted his resignation effective Sept. 1 to the San Rafael General Hospital board of trustees last night.

Prescott, who joined the hospital staff as business manager in October, 1957, gave the press of other business as the reason for his resignation. He is owner of Petaluma General Hospital in Petaluma.

Prescott, who replaced Henry B. Lane as business manager in 1957, was named administrator a year later when that position was created.

Hospital directors voted last night to seek applicants for screening and testing in order to find a replacement. Although his resignation is to take place Sept. 1, Prescott said today that it is his intention to stay until the new man is found.

Dan E. Anderson, president of the hospital board of trustees, said the job pays $12,000 a year.

Prescott, a native of Iowa, came to San Rafael from hospital administrative job in Amador County. He, his wife and three children will continue to live at 6 Gloria Drive.

Motorcyclists Hurt Trying To Miss Truck

Two Terra Linda boys were injured about 4:30 p.m. yesterday when their motorcycle slid on Old Lucas Road and dumped them as they braked and swerved to try to avoid hitting an oncoming Marin County fire truck en route to a blaze.

The 'cycle went over the divider line and the truck ran over its rear wheel and demolished it, California Highway Patrolman Archie Stewart reported.

The cyclist, Richard Sievers, 16, of 617 Wakerobin Lane, was treated at San Rafael General Hospital for scrapes and bruises. His passenger, Daniel Glantz, 14, of 602 Wakerobin Lane, was admitted for treatment of a fractured right foot and sereve cuts. His condition today was good.

The eastbound cycle slid from under the boys when Sievers sighted a westbound fire truck driven by Capt. Lorin A. Hall, 45, en route to a brush fire on a nearby hill.

Meredith Gains One Week Stay Before Pleading

Paul M. Meredith, 23, accused of the hold-up of a San Rafael loan office and the kidnaping of a 15-year-old Sonoma County girl, was granted a one-week delay yesterday to answer the hold-up charge in Marin Superior Court.

William O. Weissich, Meredith's attorney, requested a continuance till next Monday for plea to the armed robbery charge in which the Hamilton Air Force Base airman allegedly took $6,275 in drafts from the Household Finance Corp. in San Rafael.

Meredith is held in Marin County Jail on $5,250 bail. Sonoma County has placed a hold on him for the kidnaping charge with bail set at $52,500.

Fairfax Youth Knocked Cold In Tree Fall

"Playing monkey" in a willow tree can have its downfalls Kenneth Davidson, 9, of Fairfax learned yesterday when a limb on which he was playing broke and he fell 12 feet to the earth.

Kenneth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Davidson of 17 Meadow Way, was visiting his grandmother, Mrs. Gertrude Eberitzch at 480 Washington Court, Tiburon. He and his three brothers, Larry, Timothy and Jeffrey, were playing monkey, Mrs. Eberitzsch said.

At about 3:30 p.m. Timothy reported to his grandmother that Kenneth had fallen from the willow and wouldn't move. He was unconscious. Mrs. Eberitzsch tried to revive the boy but could not and called Tiburon firemen. The boy revived and was taken to Marin General Hospital by ambulance and placed under observation. He was reported to have received no serious injuries.

Mail Pickup Is Debated In Sausalito

The altitude at which you live should not be the criteria for how many mail pickups you have per day, the Sausalito Citizens Council board of directors declared last night.

The board decided to find out location of post boxes and the collection schedules following which investigation the board may propose to the Sausalito Post Office that the afternoon collections be enlarged.

In mid-July the post office cut back some pickups in hill areas alleging there was not enough mail put in the boxes. Anthony Mederos, superintendent of mail, said today that pickups were curtailed but that some pickups which had been cut have been restored.

Afternoon pickups in residential areas were stopped in mid-July, Carl W. Spring, corresponding secretary for the council, said. "We do not feel boxes should be collected on the basis of altitude but rather that public convenience should rule."

Tomales Thief Takes Camp Gear

A thief broke into a car at Tomales Bay and stole almost $800 worth of outdoor camping gear yesterday, the owner complained to sheriff's deputies.

Joe Ray Dodson of Concord told Sheriff's Sgt. Guy V. Gibbs he parked his car on the Marconi Ranch, and accompanied his friend on a hunting expedition. When they returned to the car, the right wing vent had been pried open.

Among items missing from the car are a rifle with scope sights, worth $200; binoculars worth $195; two walkie talkies valued at $150; two sleeping bags, air mattress, lamp, flashlight and other camping equipment.

Supervisors Chip Away At $17-Million Budget

Marin County supervisors, after spending all day yesterday chipping away at a proposed 17-million-dollar budget, hoped to wind up the budget hearings tomorrow.

Hearings were closed down today as the board held its regular Tuesday session.

Coming up during tomorrow morning's hearing at the Civic Center will be four policy and budget decisions which may have a direct effect on the county tax rate. Preliminary figures on the portions of the budget thus far approved indicate a tax rate of $2.25½ cents per $100 assessed valuation, auditor-controller Michael Mitchell reported.

But supervisors still must decide the number of deputies to be salaried for the municipal court and the type of retirement plan county employees may join. They must also decide on a policy for use of county funds with federal Short-Doyle grants, and they will discuss the county garage budget.

The county roads budget dropped from a preliminary budget figure of $1,934,468 to $1,805,668 after suggestions from supervisor George H. Ludy that only engineering work proceed on the proposed Valley Ford bridge and from Supervisor William A. Gnoss that only engineering work on a proposed repaving of part of Novato Boulevard be done this year.

County supervisor Peter H. Behr voted "no" on the roads portion of the budget after pushing for further reductions.

The budget was further lowered when supervisors were advised that federal and state allocations to the county welfare department would exceed previous expectations and so lower the part to be paid by county residents by more than $35,000. Of a total $4,225,635 welfare budget approved, county taxes will pay for just under $900,000.

Supervisors also approved a plan, costing the county $8,490 for six months, which would transfer four to six girls from Juvenile Hall to Arequipa to live in a "group home" to be operated by the Friends of Arequipa.

The supervisors provisionally approved a county medical services budget with the understanding that county officials would explore the possibility of sending some patients now cared for by county home nursing service to the private home nursing service operated by Mrs. Richard T. Clarke of Mill Valley.

Also approved was $53,400 as partial payment for future construction of a school for deaf and hard of hearing children.

The board also approved a budget allocation of $5,000, up from $3,000 in the preliminary budget, for the Louise A. Boyd Natural Science Museum and agreed to budget $500 to aid the Festival of the Performing Arts.

Parking 'Error' Hit In Fairfax

Fairfax city councilmen last night criticized city engineer Albert H. Siemer for making an "error" which might result in the loss of parking spaces on Broadway, between Pacheco Avenue and Bank Street.

The error, the council indicated, was intentional.

The council, according to Councilman Freeman Blake, was faced with two alternatives which are "utterly unacceptable."

The alternatives, as posed by a letter from the State Division of Highways stipulating use of gas tax funds for the street widening of Bolinas Road and Broadway, are:

1. To wipe out parallel parking in the area of "peak use" which would result in the loss of six or seven spaces.

2. Or to pay $10,000 to $12,000 as the city's additional share of the project for parallel parking and have to institute no parking regulations during peak hours of use.

Use of the area for diagonal parking should have been negotiated at the time the agreement was signed with the state for the street widening project, according to Mayor W. E. Radtke.

Councilman Cornelius Van Vliet said, "Seimer took a lot on himself by doing it without consulting us."

Siemer, who was unable to attend last night's meeting because he was sick, said that "I am opposed to diagonal parking." His message was transmitted by City Clerk Alice Leonesio.

The request by the Fairfax Merchants Assn. for an even split in the parkade of all-day and two-hour parking and for an additional crosswalk was referred to Police Chief James Orr.

The council set a time limit of four hours on parking in the city lot at Mono Avenue and Bolinas Road.

Council Tells Fairfax Man 16 Cats Must Go From Home

The Fairfax City Council last night denied the application of E. A. Larock of 17 Fir Trail to keep 16 cats after it heard that his home "is filthy beyond description."

The council then directed Building Inspector Rolfe M. Ockenden to look into the possibility of condemning Larock's home.

Larock had been given a month by the council to clean up his home. Councilman Freeman Blake said, "It shouldn't be allowed to stand."

A report by county Sanitarian Makoto Yano stated that the home "was filthy beyond description."

The council last night rejected the claim of former police sergeant Lee Perry for payment for 290 hours worked overtime. Perry asked a compromise settlement for 140 hours but the council refused to act because the new claim was not in writing.

Perry said, outside of the council chambers, that he would file suit for overtime pay.

The Fairfax City Council also:

1. Appointed George Pagni of 6 Ridge Road to fill the vacancy on the planning commission created by the resignation of Ralph Tomasini.

2. Decided to interview Charles Campbell of 125 Manor Road, at its Sept. 10 meeting for the position of electrical inspector.

3. Approved the request of civil defense director Gordon Adams for purchase of a $39.50 filing cabinet and a lock and door for a first aid storeroom.

4. Started condemnation proceedings against a house and garage at 81 Hillside Drive, owned by Angelo and Mamie Carmiccia of 55 Madrona Avenue, San Anselmo.

5. Appointed Robert R. Souza of 18 Claus Circle to the park and recreation commission.

6. Set for its Sept. 10 meeting a determination of responsibility for payment of removal of gasoline lines at the Fairfax Garage.

7. Called for examination of firemen for an eligibility list on Sept. 4.

8. Sent a letter of recommendation to Ronald C. Samet for his recent job as recreation director and decided to let J. D. Nichols, who has been assisting Samet, take over as director.

9. Decided to look into transfer of council meetings from the firehouse to the Fairfax Woman's Club.

10. Placed Street Supt. William Dooley and Police Officer Richard Morin on permanent status.

11. Approved purchase of a new resuscitator for $395, and three fire extinguishers, at $25 each.

Nursing Home Gets Novato Plan Approval

A 91 bed convalescent nursing home proposed on 2.7 acres at the south end of Clausing Avenue was approved last night by the Novato Planning Commission.

Alfred Belluchi and Frank De Mello asked for a used permit for the nursing home which will be east of the Pacifica Apartments and Bobo's Trailer Park.

The Backes Construction Co. was given permission to build a swimming pool and recreational area at the end of Rena Court for residents of Rancho Marin. The same company was also given permission to build two houses within 15 feet of the front property line where 25 feet was required in the same subdivision.

In other action, the commission:

1. Granted a rezoning from single family to multiple family to Albert Villa for a lot at 1040 Second Street.

2. Denied Gus Ravetz a rezoning from single to multiple family for 3.5 acres on Hancock Street and Reservoir Drive.

3. Set Aug. 26 for a hearing on the Scottsdale master plan for 80 acres west of Highway 101, south of Yukon Way to Leafwood Drive.

4. Approved Novato Hills Development Co. building two houses within 18 feet of the front property line where 25 feet is required on Rowland Boulevard.

5. Approved plans for a Veterans of Foreign Wars hall at 844 Sweetzer Avenue and a parking stall over the Carousel Drive-In at 7441 Redwood Highway.

6. Denied Jack Venton a request for commercial storage at 813 Lamont Avenue.

Harvest Ball Meeting Scheduled By Firemen

The annual Harvest Ball was discussed last night by Bolinas volunteer firemen and final plans made. The ball will be at 9 p.m. Aug. 24 at the community center with funds raised to go to the volunteers welfare fund.

Bolinas Fire Protection District commissioners, meeting before the volunteers, hired A. C. Pfefferkorn to act as secretary to the commission at a $10 a month salary.

Fairfax Road Is Labeled Not Passable

Upper Cascade Drive residents appeared before the Fairfax City Council last night to press for street repairs and wrung an admission from at least one councilman that the street was not passable.

Councilman Cornelis Van Vliet said, "the street is certainly not in a passable condition." He won applause from the delegation of residents of the area at the meeting.

Cries of "no" greeted Councilman Freeman Blake's statement that, "I drove it and it was passable."

A middle ground was struck by Councilman Stan Wilsey who said he drove the unpaved portion of the street last Friday and found that "it does have chuckholes."

Wilsey added, "It is only dangerous if you drive it at high speeds, like 15 miles per hour." He suggested that residents form an assessment district, with the city to pay 20 per cent of the costs, as has been done in other parts of the city.

Dan Giles of 610 Cascade Drive replied, "That's not the answer we like. We pay taxes." Giles maintained that the street has been accepted by the city and must be kept in a passable condition.

Mrs. George E. Capps of 581 Cascade Drive asked Mayor W. E. Radtke, "You are thinking of a bond issue for a new city hall, aren't you?"

Radtke replied, "We are contemplating it."

Mrs. Capps shot back, "Well, you are not going to get it."

Brown In Italy Holds Seminar

SACRAMENTO (AP)—Gov. Edmund G. Brown, vacationing in Europe, unexpectedly met a group of Stanford University students while touring Italy yesterday, and held an impromptu seminar on California politics.

Brown's office said the governor, his wife, daughter Kathy and one of Kathy's friends were headed for a picnic in the hills near Florence when they spotted Stanford's Italian campus.

Kathy plans to enter Stanford in Palo Alto, as a freshman this fall, and when the party decided to picnic on the campus, they were quickly surrounded by about 60 curious students.

Brown spent an hour, his office said, discussing political and economic problems.

San Rafael Hospital Chief Prescott Quits

Administrator John H. Prescott, 48, of San Rafael submitted his resignation effective Sept. 1 to the San Rafael General Hospital board of trustees last night.

Prescott, who joined the hospital staff as business manager in October, 1957, gave the press of other business as the reason for his resignation. He is owner of Petaluma General Hospital in Petaluma.

Prescott, who replaced Henry B. Lane as business manager in 1957, was named administrator a year later when that position was created.

Hospital directors voted last night to seek applicants for screening and testing in order to find a replacement. Although his resignation is to take place Sept. 1, Prescott said today that it is his intention to stay until the new man is found.

Dan E. Anderson, president of the hospital board of trustees, said the job pays $12,000 a year.

Prescott, a native of Iowa, came to San Rafael from hospital administrative job in Amador County. He, his wife and three children will continue to live at 6 Gloria Drive.

Motorcyclists Hurt Trying To Miss Truck

Two Terra Linda boys were injured about 4:30 p.m. yesterday when their motorcycle slid on Old Lucas Road and dumped them as they braked and swerved to try to avoid hitting an oncoming Marin County fire truck en route to a blaze.

The 'cycle went over the divider line and the truck ran over its rear wheel and demolished it, California Highway Patrolman Archie Stewart reported.

The cyclist, Richard Sievers, 16, of 617 Wakerobin Lane, was treated at San Rafael General Hospital for scrapes and bruises. His passenger, Daniel Glantz, 14, of 602 Wakerobin Lane, was admitted for treatment of a fractured right foot and sereve cuts. His condition today was good.

The eastbound cycle slid from under the boys when Sievers sighted a westbound fire truck driven by Capt. Lorin A. Hall, 45, en route to a brush fire on a nearby hill.

Meredith Gains One Week Stay Before Pleading

Paul M. Meredith, 23, accused of the hold-up of a San Rafael loan office and the kidnaping of a 15-year-old Sonoma County girl, was granted a one-week delay yesterday to answer the hold-up charge in Marin Superior Court.

William O. Weissich, Meredith's attorney, requested a continuance till next Monday for plea to the armed robbery charge in which the Hamilton Air Force Base airman allegedly took $6,275 in drafts from the Household Finance Corp. in San Rafael.

Meredith is held in Marin County Jail on $5,250 bail. Sonoma County has placed a hold on him for the kidnaping charge with bail set at $52,500.

Juan Bids For 19th Win Tonight

CINCINNATI (AP) — It's not expected to be easy for San Francisco righthander Juan Marichal (18-5) tonight in Cincinnati where he'll try to become the first 19-gahme winner in the major leagues.

Neither is it expected to be easy for the Giants—tonight, this week or the remainder of the season, which is now about three-fourths gone.

The fourth-place Reds send ace Jim Maloney (17-5) to the mound. And the Fresno, Calif., righthander won't have to face Willie McCovey, who's sitting out the final day of a two-day suspension.

The Giants could have been only three games out of first place. But the Philadelphia Phillies beat them, 3-1, last night, scoring all their runs in the eighth inning. The Dodgers were idle.

The Giants could have used that game. For they now must face contenders Cincinnati and St. Louis in the next six contests.

When they won the pennant last year, the Giants needed 101 wins to get into the playoffs. Something less than that will take the flag this season.

If, let's say, 96 victories are good enough this year, then the Giants must win 30 of their next 45 games. In contrast, the Dodgers would have to take 27 out of 47, not as tall an order. What's worrisome to San Francisco are the five less losses Los Angeles has suffered while playing two less games.

Southpaw Chris Short picked up his first career victory over the Giants last night in Philadelphia after five failures in four years.

The game marked the comeback of Jim Hart who batted in San Francisco's only run with a double in the top of the eighth. Harvey Kuenn had singled and came home from first.

The hard-hitting rookie third baseman suffered a broken shoulder blade in the second game of a doubleheader against St. Louis July 7 when fireballer Bob Gibson hit him with a pitch. His recovery was unusually rapid.

But Hart's double wasn't enough to sustain San Francisco starter and loser Jim Duffalo (4-1) who was lucky to last until the eighth. At least one Phillie reached base each inning against Duffalo. But he benefitted from four double-plays behind him.

It all caught up with him in the eighth, however. Tony Taylor smacked his third single and Johnny Callison homered after missing a sacrifice bunt attempt. Bob Bolin relieved Duffalo, and Gonzalez stole second from where he scored on a single by Roy Sievers.

To make room for the reactivated Hart, Joey Amalfitano was optioned to Tacoma, the Giants' Pacific Coast League farm club.

Willie Has Cure For Hitting Slump

PHILADELPHIA (AP) —Willie Mays has a formula for handling batting slumps: don't get down on yourself; don't lose your courage or your confidence.

The 32-year-old outfielder for the San Francisco Giants has shaken one of the worst hit droughts of his fine career. After batting at about .260 level most of the 1963 season he has upped his average to a respectable .290 and currently has a 14-game hitting streak going.

What causes a slump?

Mays, who has hit .344 since July 1, said he expects slumps.

"I know I'm going to have at least one a season," he admits. "The thing to do is not fight yourself about it. I know what I can do and know that if I keep doing it I'll come out of it."

Confidence is the key to the Mays slump formula. He says you have to believe in yourself, that if you don't you're licked. He said he learned that the first year he came up with the Giants when he failed to get a hit in his first 25 times at bat.

Is it possible he might be slowing up a little?

"I'm doing things as well as I ever did," said the centerfielder. "I know better than anyone that I'm not as young as I used to be, but experience has helped make up the difference."

"When this game gets to be a challenge for me, I'll quit," he said.

Sohner Team Wins

Twelve errors by Country Club Bowl made it easy for Sohner Tree Service to take a 10-3 victory in Class A of the San Rafael Summer softball league.

In the other game played last night, a B league contest, Bob Wade pitched the Old Mill to a 3-2 triumph over the Independents.

Heavy Duty Taking Toll Of Dodger Big Three

MILWAUKEE (AP) —The Dodgers have had the National League lead continuously since July 2 but the Big Three of the pitching staff agree that they're getting a bit tired.

Don Drysdale and Sandy Koufax have complained of stiff arms. Johnny Podres has required lots of manipulation by the trainers to keep his pitching arm in condition.

NEED RUNS

"We're going to have to get some runs or we'll be in bad shape," says Drysdale. "Our pitching staff is wearing down faster this year than last. Close games grind down the staff and we've had a lot of close ones. I'm tired and stiff right now and I've been taking vitamin shots every other day."

Koufax didn't have his curve ball when he warmed up before Sunday's game against Cincinnati and was bombed out. He said his arm felt dead.

Both Koufax and Drysdale indicated they thought 19-year-old Richie Calmus might be able to give the staff a lift if permitted to take a starting role. The rookie has the fourth best earned run average at 2.88, but has worked only 25 innings in relief.

SMART KID

"I wish I had known at 19 what Calmus knows now about pitching," said Koufax.

But Podres says Calmus hasn't been tested under pressure. "The Dodgers gave this kid a lot of money to sign," Podres said, "so let's see if he can pitch when he's ahead. So far, he has come in when we were behind."

Podres agreed that Calmus had looked good in his relief roles. Podres will pitch the series opener tonight against Milwaukee, with the veteran Warren Spahn possibly apposing him.

Shortstop Maury Wills of the Dodgers is still bothered by a groin injury so he probably will have to sit out tonight's game. If so, Dick Tracewski will be at short.

SOLEMN FAREWELL—Stan Musial was solemn and red-eyed yesterday as he groped for the right words in announcing his retirement from baseball as a player at the close of the current season. Musial, 22 years a performer with the St. Louis Cardinals, made the announcement at an annual picnic for the team and the players' families. (AP Wirephoto)

Stan Calls It Quits As Player

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Stan Musial, 42, wrote his baseball obituary yesterday.

"Baseball has been my life," said the tearful Cardinal legend in announcing his retirement at the end of this season after 22 years in the major leagues. "I love St. Louis and I've had fun all of these years."

Choked with emotion, The Man chose as a setting for his retirement announcement the picturesque country quiet of Grant's Farm, estate of Cardinal president August A. Busch Jr. Busch was out of town and Branch Rickey, baseball's old warhorse and Redbird senior consultant, was not present.

GETS OVATION

But Stan's St. Louis teammates were, along with their families. They gave Musial a standing ovation when he moved to a battery of microphones and faced television cameras at the annual Cardinal picnic.

"This is a happy occasion in a way," he said, "and an unhappy occasion in a way. But I'll be associated with the Cardinals in a continuing capacity."

"Our outfield is in good hands," he said, "and I don't think a fellow can expect to play longer than 22 in the major leagues. But I've had the best job in the world. The thrill of putting on a major league uniform, hitting, fielding and playing ball is greater than any other job I could ever have."

AN IMMORTAL

He said that he would continue to operate his St. Louis restaurant and manage a baseball bat firm.

He has played more games with one major league club than any player in history. He holds National League records for runs, 1,939; games, 2,987; hits, 3,610; doubles, 721; times at bat, 10,881 and runs batted in, 1,937. He holds the major league record for total bases, 6,099.

Climax Appears Near In Butts Libel Suit

ATLANTA (AP) — A climax appeared near today in Wally Butts' court firght for a 10-million-dollar libel judgment from Curtis Publishing Co. after the former Georgia coach burst into tears on the witness stand.

Butts broke down yesterday after again denying Saturday Evening Post charges that he helped rig the outcome of the 1962 Georgia-Alabama football game.

His attorney, William H. Schroder Jr., indicated that the initial case for Butts might be concluded shortly. This is the seventh day of the trial.

On the stand when court adjourned yesterday was John Carmichael, Atlanta businessman and former associate of the publishing firm's star witness, George P. Burnett.

Carmichael testified he was standing outside an office door at the time Burnett said he was listening in on a conversation between Butts and Coach Paul (Bear) Bryant of Alabama.

The Post said Butts fed data on Georgia's team to Bryant.

Carmichael, dapper and darkhaired, was asked what Burnett told him.

"Well, he said coach Wally Butts had called coach Bear Bryant and he had got hooked up in the conversation . . . and coach Butts said some football player . . . was a great player . . . and Georgia had added two coaches . . . and Bryant was to call back . . . "

Carmichael said Burnett asked for advice about betting on the game, then nine days in the future. But Carmichael said he told Burnett to forget the whole thing.

Carmichael was called after Butts had testified the Post charges were not true.

Pirate Swimmers Perform Well In Four Meets

The largest group of Pirates went to the San Ramon Novice Age Group Meet, where Terry Shistar won a first, a second and two thirds in the girls 13-14 events. David Tang won a fourth and a fifth in the boys 11-12 and six other Pirates won place awards.

At the annual Junior Olympics long course meet at Redding, Candy Beeler finished second in the girls 13-14 100 and 200 meter breaststroke and sixth in the 200 meter freestyle.

Candy and Teresa Carlisle did well at the Santa Clara Classified Invitational. Candy was sixth in the girls 9-10 breaststroke, while Teresa won the girls 11-12 100 yard breaststroke and took fourth in the 200 yard individual medley.

Candy Beeler and Don Keller represented the Pirates at the Foothill Aquatic Club Invitational in Los Altos Hills. Candy was second in the 13-14 200 meter breaststroke and Don took fifth in the boys 15-17 freestyle.

Tourney Moves Into Second Day

The Mill Valley Junior Tennis Tournament entered its second day of action today with all of the top seeds still in the running. Some didn't even have to play, advancing to the second round via byes and defaults.

Among the seeded players who had to earn their place in today's schedule were Dave George of Sacramento, seeded first in the boys 18 and under singles, and Harvey Klyce of San Rafael, picked second in the same division. George defeated John Jordan of San Francisco 6-2, 6-2, while Klyce whipped Jim Cavner of Sacramento 6-0, 6-1.

One of the best matches of the day was between two boys in the 18 and under class. Mike Hardin of Phoenix faced Randy Myers of El Monte, Calif., and Myers won 6-3, 2-6, 6-2.

Doubles action starts tomorrow, and the tournament will end Saturday.

Rookie Back Will Start For 49ers

MORAGA (AP) — Rookie Kermit Alexander from UCLA has won a starting offensive position on the San Francisco 49ers for Friday's exhibition game in Salt Lake City against the St. Louis Cardinals.

Coach Red Hickey said at the 49ers training camp that the club's first draft choice will probably open at slot back. Alexander was the San Francisco star in the 43-28 loss to Minnesota last Saturday at Portland, Ore. He ran a missed field goal back 95 yards for a touchdown and later scored on an 83-yard punt return.

Defensive tackle Leo Nomellini is expected by the coaches to miss his first professional game in more than 13 seasons because of a sprained ankle.

Offensive end Monty Stickles and Nomellini's replacement—Roland Lakes—also are expected to sit it out.

Marin AC Wins 17-Mile Race

Although they didn't take first or second place, the runners from the Marin Athletic Club piled up enough points Saturday to win the 17-mile "Ocean to Bay" cross country race sponsored by the Belmont Recreation District.

All of the Marin AC runners were among the 22 of 36 starters who finished the race. Alan Beardall came in third to pace the Marinites, while his brother Darryl was fourth, Peter Wood fifth, Harold Hammer seventh and Keith Kreiger 15th. The race was won by unattached runner Tom Tuite.

Action To Start Tonight In S.A. Softball Tourney

Old Mill Tavern and Country Club Bowl will battle at 6:30 tonight when action begins in the fourth annual San Anselmo Invitational Softball Tournament.

A pair of strikeout artists, Bob Wade for Old Mill and Earl Lowe for Country Club, will oppose each other.

North Bay Flag and Two-Rock Army of Petaluma will meet tomorrow night while Sohner Tree Service and Country Club Bowl will battle Thursday.

All games are played at San Anselmo's Memorial Park. Admission is free.

Marin Swimmer Shows He's Olympic Material

Ken Frost, former Redwood High School and Marin Pirate star, established himself as a contender for a spot on the 1964 United States Olympic Swim team when he finished fourth in the 100 and 200 meter breaststroke events at the National AAU outdoor championships in Chicago last weekend.

A student at Indiana University, Ken was competing for the powerful Indianapolis Athletic Club.

He swam the 100 meter event in 1:11.6, which was 1.4 seconds off the winning time of Bill Craig of the Verdugo Hills Swim Club. His time of 2:34.5 in the 200 meter event was four seconds behind the winning mark of Ken Merten of the Los Angeles Athletic Club.

KEN FROST
A strong showing

Ken is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ken Frost of 145 Bayview Avenue, Belvedere. He was a pupil of Mrs. Beth Kaufman when he swam with the Marin Pirates.

Doherty Tops Nave Keglers

John Doherty rolled the best game and the high four-game series at Nave Lanes last week. Bowling in the 540 Masters Trio League, he carded 825-245-222, nipping Dick Treadway's 822-206-239 for high series and Al Berkovich's 244 game.

Juan Bids For 19th Win Tonight

CINCINNATI (AP) — It's not expected to be easy for San Francisco righthander Juan Marichal (18-5) tonight in Cincinnati where he'll try to become the first 19-gahme winner in the major leagues.

Neither is it expected to be easy for the Giants—tonight, this week or the remainder of the season, which is now about three-fourths gone.

The fourth-place Reds send ace Jim Maloney (17-5) to the mound. And the Fresno, Calif., righthander won't have to face Willie McCovey, who's sitting out the final day of a two-day suspension.

The Giants could have been only three games out of first place. But the Philadelphia Phillies beat them, 3-1, last night, scoring all their runs in the eighth inning. The Dodgers were idle.

The Giants could have used that game. For they now must face contenders Cincinnati and St. Louis in the next six contests.

When they won the pennant last year, the Giants needed 101 wins to get into the playoffs. Something less than that will take the flag this season.

If, let's say, 96 victories are good enough this year, then the Giants must win 30 of their next 45 games. In contrast, the Dodgers would have to take 27 out of 47, not as tall an order. What's worrisome to San Francisco are the five less losses Los Angeles has suffered while playing two less games.

Southpaw Chris Short picked up his first career victory over the Giants last night in Philadelphia after five failures in four years.

The game marked the comeback of Jim Hart who batted in San Francisco's only run with a double in the top of the eighth. Harvey Kuenn had singled and came home from first.

The hard-hitting rookie third baseman suffered a broken shoulder blade in the second game of a doubleheader against St. Louis July 7 when fireballer Bob Gibson hit him with a pitch. His recovery was unusually rapid.

But Hart's double wasn't enough to sustain San Francisco starter and loser Jim Duffalo (4-1) who was lucky to last until the eighth. At least one Phillie reached base each inning against Duffalo. But he benefitted from four double-plays behind him.

It all caught up with him in the eighth, however. Tony Taylor smacked his third single and Johnny Callison homered after missing a sacrifice bunt attempt. Bob Bolin relieved Duffalo, and Gonzalez stole second from where he scored on a single by Roy Sievers.

To make room for the reactivated Hart, Joey Amalfitano was optioned to Tacoma, the Giants' Pacific Coast League farm club.

Willie Has Cure For Hitting Slump

PHILADELPHIA (AP) —Willie Mays has a formula for handling batting slumps: don't get down on yourself; don't lose your courage or your confidence.

The 32-year-old outfielder for the San Francisco Giants has shaken one of the worst hit droughts of his fine career. After batting at about .260 level most of the 1963 season he has upped his average to a respectable .290 and currently has a 14-game hitting streak going.

What causes a slump?

Mays, who has hit .344 since July 1, said he expects slumps.

"I know I'm going to have at least one a season," he admits. "The thing to do is not fight yourself about it. I know what I can do and know that if I keep doing it I'll come out of it."

Confidence is the key to the Mays slump formula. He says you have to believe in yourself, that if you don't you're licked. He said he learned that the first year he came up with the Giants when he failed to get a hit in his first 25 times at bat.

Is it possible he might be slowing up a little?

"I'm doing things as well as I ever did," said the centerfielder. "I know better than anyone that I'm not as young as I used to be, but experience has helped make up the difference."

"When this game gets to be a challenge for me, I'll quit," he said.

Sohner Team Wins

Twelve errors by Country Club Bowl made it easy for Sohner Tree Service to take a 10-3 victory in Class A of the San Rafael Summer softball league.

In the other game played last night, a B league contest, Bob Wade pitched the Old Mill to a 3-2 triumph over the Independents.

Heavy Duty Taking Toll Of Dodger Big Three

MILWAUKEE (AP) —The Dodgers have had the National League lead continuously since July 2 but the Big Three of the pitching staff agree that they're getting a bit tired.

Don Drysdale and Sandy Koufax have complained of stiff arms. Johnny Podres has required lots of manipulation by the trainers to keep his pitching arm in condition.

NEED RUNS

"We're going to have to get some runs or we'll be in bad shape," says Drysdale. "Our pitching staff is wearing down faster this year than last. Close games grind down the staff and we've had a lot of close ones. I'm tired and stiff right now and I've been taking vitamin shots every other day."

Koufax didn't have his curve ball when he warmed up before Sunday's game against Cincinnati and was bombed out. He said his arm felt dead.

Both Koufax and Drysdale indicated they thought 19-year-old Richie Calmus might be able to give the staff a lift if permitted to take a starting role. The rookie has the fourth best earned run average at 2.88, but has worked only 25 innings in relief.

SMART KID

"I wish I had known at 19 what Calmus knows now about pitching," said Koufax.

But Podres says Calmus hasn't been tested under pressure. "The Dodgers gave this kid a lot of money to sign," Podres said, "so let's see if he can pitch when he's ahead. So far, he has come in when we were behind."

Podres agreed that Calmus had looked good in his relief roles. Podres will pitch the series opener tonight against Milwaukee, with the veteran Warren Spahn possibly apposing him.

Shortstop Maury Wills of the Dodgers is still bothered by a groin injury so he probably will have to sit out tonight's game. If so, Dick Tracewski will be at short.

Irving Chapman Wins Tourney

Irving Chapman shot 86-20-66 Sunday to edge Charles Hoertkorn and Elmer Haverty for first place in the Marin Country Club's Senior Championships. Hoertkorn carded 79-12-67 while Haverty had 90-23-67.

In the best ball foursome portion of the tournament, the team of Ron Gemmell, Bob Williams, Dr. Chi Chester and Dismo Scatena won with a score of 56. This barely nipped the team of Herbert Prodger, Chapman, Jack Noon and Harry Prendergast and that of Hoertkorn, Larry Katt, George Richardson and Paul Melcher, who carded 57s.

SOLEMN FAREWELL—Stan Musial was solemn and red-eyed yesterday as he groped for the right words in announcing his retirement from baseball as a player at the close of the current season. Musial, 22 years a performer with the St. Louis Cardinals, made the announcement at an annual picnic for the team and the players' families. (AP Wirephoto)

Stan Calls It Quits As Player

ST. LOUIS, Mo. (AP) — Stan Musial, 42, wrote his baseball obituary yesterday.

"Baseball has been my life," said the tearful Cardinal legend in announcing his retirement at the end of this season after 22 years in the major leagues. "I love St. Louis and I've had fun all of these years."

Choked with emotion, The Man chose as a setting for his retirement announcement the picturesque country quiet of Grant's Farm, estate of Cardinal president August A. Busch Jr. Busch was out of town and Branch Rickey, baseball's old warhorse and Redbird senior consultant, was not present.

GETS OVATION

But Stan's St. Louis teammates were, along with their families. They gave Musial a standing ovation when he moved to a battery of microphones and faced television cameras at the annual Cardinal picnic.

"This is a happy occasion in a way," he said, "and an unhappy occasion in a way. But I'll be associated with the Cardinals in a continuing capacity."

"Our outfield is in good hands," he said, "and I don't think a fellow can expect to play longer than 22 in the major leagues. But I've had the best job in the world. The thrill of putting on a major league uniform, hitting, fielding and playing ball is greater than any other job I could ever have."

AN IMMORTAL

He said that he would continue to operate his St. Louis restaurant and manage a baseball bat firm.

He has played more games with one major league club than any player in history. He holds National League records for runs, 1,939; games, 2,987; hits, 3,610; doubles, 721; times at bat, 10,881 and runs batted in, 1,937. He holds the major league record for total bases, 6,099.

Climax Appears Near In Butts Libel Suit

ATLANTA (AP) — A climax appeared near today in Wally Butts' court firght for a 10-million-dollar libel judgment from Curtis Publishing Co. after the former Georgia coach burst into tears on the witness stand.

Butts broke down yesterday after again denying Saturday Evening Post charges that he helped rig the outcome of the 1962 Georgia-Alabama football game.

His attorney, William H. Schroder Jr., indicated that the initial case for Butts might be concluded shortly. This is the seventh day of the trial.

On the stand when court adjourned yesterday was John Carmichael, Atlanta businessman and former associate of the publishing firm's star witness, George P. Burnett.

Carmichael testified he was standing outside an office door at the time Burnett said he was listening in on a conversation between Butts and Coach Paul (Bear) Bryant of Alabama.

The Post said Butts fed data on Georgia's team to Bryant.

Carmichael, dapper and darkhaired, was asked what Burnett told him.

"Well, he said coach Wally Butts had called coach Bear Bryant and he had got hooked up in the conversation . . . and coach Butts said some football player . . . was a great player . . . and Georgia had added two coaches . . . and Bryant was to call back . . . "

Carmichael said Burnett asked for advice about betting on the game, then nine days in the future. But Carmichael said he told Burnett to forget the whole thing.

Carmichael was called after Butts had testified the Post charges were not true.

Rookie Back Will Start For 49ers

MORAGA (AP) — Rookie Kermit Alexander from UCLA has won a starting offensive position on the San Francisco 49ers for Friday's exhibition game in Salt Lake City against the St. Louis Cardinals.

Coach Red Hickey said at the 49ers training camp that the club's first draft choice will probably open at slot back. Alexander was the San Francisco star in the 43-28 loss to Minnesota last Saturday at Portland, Ore. He ran a missed field goal back 95 yards for a touchdown and later scored on an 83-yard punt return.

Defensive tackle Leo Nomellini is expected by the coaches to miss his first professional game in more than 13 seasons because of a sprained ankle.

Offensive end Monty Stickles and Nomellini's replacement—Roland Lakes—also are expected to sit it out.

Marin Swimmer Shows He's Olympic Material

Ken Frost, former Redwood High School and Marin Pirate star, established himself as a contender for a spot on the 1964 United States Olympic Swim team when he finished fourth in the 100 and 200 meter breaststroke events at the National AAU outdoor championships in Chicago last weekend.

A student at Indiana University, Ken was competing for the powerful Indianapolis Athletic Club.

He swam the 100 meter event in 1:11.6, which was 1.4 seconds off the winning time of Bill Craig of the Verdugo Hills Swim Club. His time of 2:34.5 in the 200 meter event was four seconds behind the winning mark of Ken Merten of the Los Angeles Athletic Club.

KEN FROST
A strong showing

Ken is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ken Frost of 145 Bayview Avenue, Belvedere. He was a pupil of Mrs. Beth Kaufman when he swam with the Marin Pirates.

Pirate Swimmers Perform Well In Four Meets

The largest group of Pirates went to the San Ramon Novice Age Group Meet, where Terry Shistar won a first, a second and two thirds in the girls 13-14 events. David Tang won a fourth and a fifth in the boys 11-12 and six other Pirates won place awards.

At the annual Junior Olympics long course meet at Redding, Candy Beeler finished second in the girls 13-14 100 and 200 meter breaststroke and sixth in the 200 meter freestyle.

Candy and Teresa Carlisle did well at the Santa Clara Classified Invitational. Candy was sixth in the girls 9-10 breaststroke, while Teresa won the girls 11-12 100 yard breaststroke and took fourth in the 200 yard individual medley.

Candy Beeler and Don Keller represented the Pirates at the Foothill Aquatic Club Invitational in Los Altos Hills. Candy was second in the 13-14 200 meter breaststroke and Don took fifth in the boys 15-17 freestyle.

Tourney Moves Into Second Day

The Mill Valley Junior Tennis Tournament entered its second day of action today with all of the top seeds still in the running. Some didn't even have to play, advancing to the second round via byes and defaults.

Among the seeded players who had to earn their place in today's schedule were Dave George of Sacramento, seeded first in the boys 18 and under singles, and Harvey Klyce of San Rafael, picked second in the same division. George defeated John Jordan of San Francisco 6-2, 6-2, while Klyce whipped Jim Cavner of Sacramento 6-0, 6-1.

One of the best matches of the day was between two boys in the 18 and under class. Mike Hardin of Phoenix faced Randy Myers of El Monte, Calif., and Myers won 6-3, 2-6, 6-2.

Doubles action starts tomorrow, and the tournament will end Saturday.

Marin AC Wins 17-Mile Race

Although they didn't take first or second place, the runners from the Marin Athletic Club piled up enough points Saturday to win the 17-mile "Ocean to Bay" cross country race sponsored by the Belmont Recreation District.

All of the Marin AC runners were among the 22 of 36 starters who finished the race. Alan Beardall came in third to pace the Marinites, while his brother Darryl was fourth, Peter Wood fifth, Harold Hammer seventh and Keith Kreiger 15th. The race was won by unattached runner Tom Tuite.

Action To Start Tonight In S.A. Softball Tourney

Old Mill Tavern and Country Club Bowl will battle at 6:30 tonight when action begins in the fourth annual San Anselmo Invitational Softball Tournament.

A pair of strikeout artists, Bob Wade for Old Mill and Earl Lowe for Country Club, will oppose each other.

North Bay Flag and Two-Rock Army of Petaluma will meet tomorrow night while Sohner Tree Service and Country Club Bowl will battle Thursday.

HOW TO OPEN WITH A BANG

Wally Laster, left, of 98 Oak Springs Drive, Sleepy Hollow, and Doug Murphy of Point Reyes Station recently opened their Murphy-Laster realty business in San Rafael, and, to celebrate the event, they went out on Murphy's ranch Thursday and shot this spotted deer. Both men fired at it and the deer was hit twice, so both claimed it. It weighed 152 pounds dressed, and was part of a small herd of spotted deer, slightly larger than the native species, which was imported from India about 15 years ago to his ranch in Inverness by Dr. M. R. Ottinger.

Rod, Gun Club Picnic Is Big Success; Fine Film Planned

Judging from the enthusiasm shown by all who attended the Marin Rod and Gun Club's annual barbecue picnic on July 28, this year's affair was another smash hit.

Much credit for the success of the event goes to chairman John Stirling, co-chairman Howard Chuche and their dedicated committee workers, and also to Barney DeBisschop for the fine job he did as MC. Space does not permit listing each member who gave so freely of his time and efforts, so we'll have to settle for one big THANK YOU to all of them. This was cooperation and teamwork in its finest sense.

NEWS 'N' VIEWS: The following new members were welcomed into the club at the July meeting: George Balchini, Harold Beard, Al Cerney, Donald Davis, George Dexter, Gleen Hall, Harry Hicklin, C. D. Hoffman, Arthur Latno (junior and senior), R. L. Ditchfield, Michael Rade and E. A. Schumacher.

Fisherman-of-the-Month honors go to Richard Luce for his 19-pound striper taken at the pier on July 27. . . . Those who failed to attend the July meeting missed an excellent movie showing the progress of the club, which was ably narrated by Monty Marzetta . . . At the same meeting Fred Thomas, Pete Peters and Orlando Conti were elected to the nominating committee.

Lucky winners of attendance awards were Helen Marzetta, C. Wormald, Dick Dahl, George Baldini, H. Rossbach and Orlando Conti. Those two bait box awards were forfeited by J. L. Politi and J. C. Youngberg whose card numbers were drawn but, unfortunately, neither member was present.

ANOTHER fine film will be shown Friday by Leo Ciucci; it's a picture guaranteed to be of interest to all. By all means bring the youngsters . . . The Schenley salmon awards program produced 19 winners in the past week. Top fish weighed in at 46 pounds . . . The annual rally of Ducks Unlimited will be held on Thursday evening, Aug. 22, at 8 p.m. in the Gold Ballroom of the Sheraton-Palace. The public is invited—admission is free.

Club treasurer Roland Hellman submitted a very comprehensive financial report to the board of directors covering the annual picnic . . . President Albert Ferrari will meet with his committee chairmen on Wednesday evening, Sept. 11, for important discussions on policy and procedures. All committee chairmen are requested to attend.

Urgent reminder: All members are required to sign the logbook upon entering the club grounds. It is not sufficient merely to write in your membership card number; you must also sign the book—and legibly. Attention is also called to the fact that membership cards are not transferable.

COMMITTEE NOTES: Chairman Ray Augusto wishes to announce that the family dinners are being resumed and the next affair is scheduled for Saturday evening, Sept. 21. As usual, tickets must be secured in advance and none will be sold at the door . . . The conservation committee meeting on July 31 was chaired by Paul Jones in the absence of Judge Leonard Thomas. At the next meeting, which is scheduled for Aug. 28, Willis Evans of the fish and game department will show some highly interesting color slides on the subject of flood control.

Master planning committee chairman Bob Fagg reports that his committee is considering the paving of an additional section of the parking lot in the picnic area . . . Publicity chairman Art Clay held a meeting of his committee on Aug. 7 to lay the groundwork for additional publicity programs . . . Boating chairman Ken Watts wishes to advise all boating members that the launching ramp will be closed on Sunday, Aug. 18, a work day for construction of the new floating dock.

Good Weekend Catches Reported; Both Salmon And Bass Are Biting

STEVENS

A quick glance at my barometer; a long look at the tidal conditions now and for the immediate future causes a feeling of optimism for this week's fishing effort. So let's canvas the Bay and Delta regions and learn what's in store-based—on what has happened the past 48 hours.

To paraphrase an old maxim, a bass in the boat is worth two salmon in the ocean. Seems like the group of avid anglers aboard the good ship Evie K, on Saturday, figured that philosophy was good medicine. Skipper Dave McKinley ran into a boiling batch of large striped bass on the Potato Patch. Everybody aboard (I believe there were 11 rods) took their legal limit and exited happy.

NOT THAT the salmon were not running. They were, as proved by the exceptional catch made by the Chinook—43 salmon to 30 pounds, and the Hazel B with a much smaller load docked with nine salmon to 18 pounds.

Bob McKee and his Cherry Bob has gotten into the habit of netting bass from the Treasure Island-Alcatraz areas. Thursday, nine limits to 12 pounds; Friday, 10 limits to 12 pounds.

It was wild and wooly bass fishing in the Treasure Island area. Lee Andersons baitery in Oakland reported the boat "Cherokee" finishing by 8:30 a.m. on Saturday with six limits to 10 pounds; the R.S.P. had seven limits to 12 pounds in the same area; the Troller took seven limits to 12 pounds east of the Bay Bridge, and the Trade Winds had 11 stripers (or limits) to 18 pounds drift fishing off Alcatraz.

FLOCKS of six and seven-pound salmon infested the Duxbury Reef area on Friday and Saturday. The Privateer boated 34 to 32 pounds and the Sea Gal pulled in 29 to 30 pounds.

So the salmon and bass picture has been, is, and likely will be for all this week, mighty rosy—in the Pacific and the San Francisco Bay spots.

SAD TO relate, however, the striper fishing is almost entirely confined to the above mentioned areas. Along the Marin Shore all reports are dismal. Unless—that is—you count stingerees and sharks.

Hearing that the rays and sharks have made appearance in the San Pablo Bay reminds me that often, in years past, a huge influx of bass was preceded by such pests. Could be history will repeat itself. As I said, tidal conditions are good for this week, we are approaching the time of year when striper striving reaches its peak in the San Pablo Bay and points upstream. So let's be optimistic. A fairish number of good sized bass have been taken in the Carquinez Strait near the Black Can the past few days. They have been taken both on bait and on artificials.

Auxiliary Plans Fishing Party

The Women's Auxiliary of the Marin Rod and Gun Club hopes for better luck on its fishing party next Tuesday than it had last Tuesday, when no one hooked even so much as an old shoe. Next week's party at the pier on Point San Quentin will start at 9:30 a.m.

The auxiliary's dessert booth at the club's annual picnic was a big success, according to press chairman Evelyn Glover. Attendance at the picnic was estimated to exceed 2500 people.

DFG Right In Hunting Prediction

As it had predicted, the State Department of Fish and Game was able to report good buck hunting in the first week of August in most areas north of San Francisco Bay, and poor hunting south of the city.

About one of every four hunters checked in Marin, Sonoma and Napa Counties had his deer, but poor fawn survival and other deer losses resulting from water and feed shortages frustrated most hunters in the counties south of San Francisco.

The department is currently carrying on an extensive investigation of the intermittent fish kills in the Bay that began last May. Several thousand striped bass and anchovies have died in the last six weeks. Anyone who observes dead or ailing fish is requested to contact immediately the DFG in San Francisco.

In its efforts to pin down the cause of the wholesale kills, the department has used helicopter patrols, sampled industrial and municipal waste discharges and has taken dissolved oxygen readings of the water where the problem has been most acute.

No other big game animal in North America is as widely known and hunted as the whitetail deer. There are almost four and one-quarter million of them in the United States.

Archer Injured When He Sits On An Arrow

A 20-year-old El Verano resident became California's first reported bow and arrow hunter casualty on the opening day of the early archery deer season, the Department of Fish and Game reported this week.

The young archer had stuck some arrows in the sockets normally used for stakes in the bed of a pickup truck. The arrows were placed with the points up, to prevent dulling them.

As humorous as the accident may sound, it does emphasize the fact that hunting accidents can happen to archers as well as to gun hunters, and the DFG urged all Nimrods to observe the rules of safe hunting at all times.

The boats will proceed from Ko-Ket up one of the sloughs to a picnic site. Further details may be obtained from boat chairman Ken Watts or committee member Clarence Freeman.

HOW TO OPEN WITH A BANG

Wally Laster, left, of 98 Oak Springs Drive, Sleepy Hollow, and Doug Murphy of Point Reyes Station recently opened their Murphy-Laster realty business in San Rafael, and, to celebrate the event, they went out on Murphy's ranch Thursday and shot this spotted deer. Both men fired at it and the deer was hit twice, so both claimed it. It weighed 152 pounds dressed, and was part of a small herd of spotted deer, slightly larger than the native species, which was imported from India about 15 years ago to his ranch in Inverness by Dr. M. R. Ottinger.

Judging from the enthusiasm shown by all who attended the Marin Rod and Gun Club's annual barbecue picnic on July 28, this year's affair was another smash hit.

Much credit for the success of the event goes to chairman John Stirling, co-chairman Howard Chuche and their dedicated committee workers, and also to Barney DeBisschop for the fine job he did as MC. Space does not permit listing each member who gave so freely of his time and efforts, so we'll have to settle for one big THANK YOU to all of them. This was cooperation and teamwork in its finest sense.

NEWS 'N' VIEWS: The following new members were welcomed into the club at the July meeting: George Balchini, Harold Beard, Al Cerney, Donald Davis, George Dexter, Gleen Hall, Harry Hicklin, C. D. Hoffman, Arthur Latno (junior and senior), R. L. Ditchfield, Michael Rade and E. A. Schumacher.

Fisherman-of-the-Month honors go to Richard Luce for his 19-pound striper taken at the pier on July 27. . . . Those who failed to attend the July meeting missed an excellent movie showing the progress of the club, which was ably narrated by Monty Marzetta . . . At the same meeting Fred Thomas, Pete Peters and Orlando Conti were elected to the nominating committee.

Lucky winners of attendance awards were Helen Marzetta, C. Wormald, Dick Dahl, George Baldini, H. Rossbach and Orlando Conti. Those two bait box awards were forfeited by J. L. Politi and J. C. Youngberg whose card numbers were drawn but, unfortunately, neither member was present.

ANOTHER fine film will be shown Friday by Leo Ciucci; it's a picture guaranteed to be of interest to all. By all means bring the youngsters . . . The Schenley salmon awards program produced 19 winners in the past week. Top fish weighed in at 46 pounds . . . The annual rally of Ducks Unlimited will be held on Thursday evening, Aug. 22, at 8 p.m. in the Gold Ballroom of the Sheraton-Palace. The public is invited—admission is free.

Club treasurer Roland Hellman submitted a very comprehensive financial report to the board of directors covering the annual picnic . . . President Albert Ferrari will meet with his committee chairmen on Wednesday evening, Sept. 11, for important discussions on policy and procedures. All committee chairmen are requested to attend.

Urgent reminder: All members are required to sign the logbook upon entering the club grounds. It is not sufficient merely to write in your membership card number; you must also sign the book—and legibly. Attention is also called to the fact that membership cards are not transferable.

COMMITTEE NOTES: Chairman Ray Augusto wishes to announce that the family dinners are being resumed and the next affair is scheduled for Saturday evening, Sept. 21. As usual, tickets must be secured in advance and none will be sold at the door . . . The conservation committee meeting on July 31 was chaired by Paul Jones in the absence of Judge Leonard Thomas. At the next meeting, which is scheduled for Aug. 28, Willis Evans of the fish and game department will show some highly interesting color slides on the subject of flood control.

Master planning committee chairman Bob Fagg reports that his committee is considering the paving of an additional section of the parking lot in the picnic area . . . Publicity chairman Art Clay held a meeting of his committee on Aug. 7 to lay the groundwork for additional publicity programs . . . Boating chairman Ken Watts wishes to advise all boating members that the launching ramp will be closed on Sunday, Aug. 18, a work day for construction of the new floating dock.

Good Weekend Catches Reported; Both Salmon And Bass Are Biting

STEVENS

A quick glance at my barometer; a long look at the tidal conditions now and for the immediate future causes a feeling of optimism for this week's fishing effort. So let's canvas the Bay and Delta regions and learn what's in store-based—on what has happened the past 48 hours.

To paraphrase an old maxim, a bass in the boat is worth two salmon in the ocean. Seems like the group of avid anglers aboard the good ship Evie K, on Saturday, figured that philosophy was good medicine. Skipper Dave McKinley ran into a boiling batch of large striped bass on the Potato Patch. Everybody aboard (I believe there were 11 rods) took their legal limit and exited happy.

NOT THAT the salmon were not running. They were, as proved by the exceptional catch made by the Chinook—43 salmon to 30 pounds, and the Hazel B with a much smaller load docked with nine salmon to 18 pounds.

Bob McKee and his Cherry Bob has gotten into the habit of netting bass from the Treasure Island-Alcatraz areas. Thursday, nine limits to 12 pounds; Friday, 10 limits to 12 pounds.

It was wild and wooly bass fishing in the Treasure Island area. Lee Andersons baitery in Oakland reported the boat "Cherokee" finishing by 8:30 a.m. on Saturday with six limits to 10 pounds; the R.S.P. had seven limits to 12 pounds in the same area; the Troller took seven limits to 12 pounds east of the Bay Bridge, and the Trade Winds had 11 stripers (or limits) to 18 pounds drift fishing off Alcatraz.

FLOCKS of six and seven-pound salmon infested the Duxbury Reef area on Friday and Saturday. The Privateer boated 34 to 32 pounds and the Sea Gal pulled in 29 to 30 pounds.

So the salmon and bass picture has been, is, and likely will be for all this week, mighty rosy—in the Pacific and the San Francisco Bay spots.

SAD TO relate, however, the striper fishing is almost entirely confined to the above mentioned areas. Along the Marin Shore all reports are dismal. Unless—that is—you count stingerees and sharks.

Hearing that the rays and sharks have made appearance in the San Pablo Bay reminds me that often, in years past, a huge influx of bass was preceded by such pests. Could be history will repeat itself. As I said, tidal conditions are good for this week, we are approaching the time of year when striper striving reaches its peak in the San Pablo Bay and points upstream. So let's be optimistic. A fairish number of good sized bass have been taken in the Carquinez Strait near the Black Can the past few days. They have been taken both on bait and on artificials.

Auxiliary Plans Fishing Party

The Women's Auxiliary of the Marin Rod and Gun Club hopes for better luck on its fishing party next Tuesday than it had last Tuesday, when no one hooked even so much as an old shoe. Next week's party at the pier on Point San Quentin will start at 9:30 a.m.

The auxiliary's dessert booth at the club's annual picnic was a big success, according to press chairman Evelyn Glover. Attendance at the picnic was estimated to exceed 2500 people.

DFG Right In Hunting Prediction

As it had predicted, the State Department of Fish and Game was able to report good buck hunting in the first week of August in most areas north of San Francisco Bay, and poor hunting south of the city.

About one of every four hunters checked in Marin, Sonoma and Napa Counties had his deer, but poor fawn survival and other deer losses resulting from water and feed shortages frustrated most hunters in the counties south of San Francisco.

The department is currently carrying on an extensive investigation of the intermittent fish kills in the Bay that began last May. Several thousand striped bass and anchovies have died in the last six weeks. Anyone who observes dead or ailing fish is requested to contact immediately the DFG in San Francisco.

In its efforts to pin down the cause of the wholesale kills, the department has used helicopter patrols, sampled industrial and municipal waste discharges and has taken dissolved oxygen readings of the water where the problem has been most acute.

MARIN'S SOCIAL WHIRL

Four Birthdays Inspiration For Family Dinner Party

By FLORENCE DONNELLY

This is the year for big birthday celebrations in a well known Marin County clan. Kathy and Sig Herzog are entertaining at a family dinner party Saturday night at their San Rafael home. The other host and hostess will be Robert M. Lee and his wife also of San Rafael. Bob Lee and his first cousins, Sig Herzog and Dr. George K. Herzog of San Francisco all are celebrating their fiftieth birthdays this year. Bob's natal anniversary was earlier in 1963. But August is really the birthday month for most of the family. Saturday's party will celebrate the birthdays of Doctor Herzog, Sig Herzog, Bob Lee's mother, Mrs. Alfred S. Lee of San Francisco, formerly of Marin, and Bob's sister, Mrs. Thornton Seligman. The latter and her husband, who live in Albuquerque, N.M., arrived Thursday for a three weeks visit.

A BON VOYAGE cocktail and dinner party at Dominic's restaurant honored Mr. and Mrs. Henry J. Ghilotti shortly before they boarded a plane Thursday for a six-week holiday in South America. They flew first to Miami, Fla., where they stayed at the Fontainebleau several days.

Then they'll go to Panama, Brazil, Uruguay, Argentina and Peru. Then they'll fly to the British West Indies, the Virgin Islands and San Juan, Puerto Rico. They'll go by plane to New York, staying several days for sightseeing and showgoing.

Among the guests at the bon voyage party were Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Glicksberg, Mr. and Mrs. William A. Muzinich, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Bettini, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Santa, Mr. and Mrs. Jack von Staden, Dr. William H. Barr, Elmo Maggiora and Ted Van Midda.

MR. AND MRS. CORK MEYER of Belvedere have returned from a visit in Ensenada, Mexico. There they were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Dimitri Tchelistchef. He is with the Santa Tomas Winery in Ensenada and took the Belvedere couple on a tour of the winery.

MR. AND MRS. HAROLD GREENE of Little Reed Heights and their children, Elizabeth, Rick and Jim, have returned from a vacation at Feather River Inn and at Squaw Valley. They enjoyed golfing, tennis, swimming, horseback riding and fishing. Elizabeth returned home just in time to complete plans for a jet flight to Hawaii to visit her maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. James Crase of Honolulu.

DR. AND MRS. RUSSELL MERRET of Kent Woodlands entertained at a cocktail party Saturday honoring Roger Penn Mundorff of Portland, Ore., who will be married to the Merrets' daughter, Paula, Sept. 7. The party was an opportunity for Roger to meet 55 relatives and friends of Paula's family. Roger and Paula will exchange marriage vows in the garden of the Merret home, and a large reception will follow the 4 o'clock wedding.

STINSON BEACH has more than the usual number of summer residents this month. Mrs. Rosemary Volk of San Francisco is one of the most recent additions to the summer colony.

THE ANNOUNCEMENT of the engagement and wedding plans of Margaret Jane Poynter and William Woodbridge Goldsmith by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Frank Poynter (Josephine Thompson) of San Francisco, recalls the history of a brilliant and pioneer Mill Valley family. Mrs. Poynter and her sisters, Mrs. John Bridgman (Peggy Thompson) of Belvedere and Mrs. Adam Hulton (Jane Thompson) of New York, are the daughters of James Alden Thompson of Mill Valley and the late Mrs. Margaret Thompson and nieces of the novelist, Mrs. Charles G. Norris (Kathleen Thompson), who also was reared in Mill Valley. Mrs. Hulton recently visited her family here.

Paternal grandparents of Margaret Poynter are Mrs. John Frank Poynter of Davenport, Wash., and the late Doctor Poynter.

Bill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Joseph Goldsmith of San Francisco, and his bride-elect are both graduates of University of California. She did graduate work at Cornell University and Bill, who has a degree in engineering, is now on a three-year fellowship in city planning at Cornell.

The wedding will be August 31 at St. Peter's Church in San Francisco.

MR. AND MRS. T. N. BROWN of the San Rafael Country Club have rented their home while they are traveling in Europe. They have been attending school. Mrs. Brown, who has been assistant golf captain at the Meadow Club, has been elevated to the rank of captain.

Wilson Vickers Will Make Home In Santa Monica

Leaving on Aug. 21 to live in Santa Monica are Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Vickers, who have lived in Sausalito for 35 years.

The Vickerses have been extensively entertained at many luncheons, dinner, and cocktail parties given by neighbors and friends and relatives around the Bay Area.

Their son, Timothy, who was graduated from Tamalpais High School and is now an electronics specialist with the Hughes Aircraft Co., and his family live in Topanga Canyon, a community adjacent to Santa Monica.

MARINITES ASK

Can It Be Harmful To Eat Too Much Protein, Milk?

The following questions were asked by Marinites at the recent food buying conference held by the Marin Council of Community Services at Marin Civic Center. They are answered here by the panel of speakers and distributed by the office of the Marin County Home Advisor.

Can it be harmful to eat too much protein? Too much milk? Whole or skimmed?

IT IS ALWAYS a good idea to serve a wide variety of foods to be sure all nutrients are being provided. Any diet containing too much meat or too much milk may result in malnutrition because other food groups are being neglected.

How can I be sure that I have not lost the vitamins through cooking? Or what is the best way to retain vitamins?

THERE IS LITTLE danger in losing nutrients in cooking foods from the milk, meat or cereal groups. The best way to be sure you are retaining the nutrients in fruits and vegetables is to buy fresh products, store them carefully, cook quickly in small amounts of water, and serve soon after preparation. Cooking water may be saved and used in sauces, gravies or soup.

Two Plan Luncheon

Mrs. Frederic Palmer III and Mrs. Alan Conner will be hostesses Friday at a luncheon for chairmen of Christ Church's "Sausalito Harvest Festival," which has been set for Oct. 19.

The luncheon will be held at 12 o'clock in Campbell Hall, Sausalito. Decor will be the topiary trees and kissing balls.

Mrs. Palmer is general chairman for the annual event, and Mrs. Conner, president of St. Brigid's Guild, will be in charge of staffing.

Can It Be Harmful To Eat Too Much Protein, Milk?

The following questions were asked by Marinites at the recent food buying conference held by the Marin Council of Community Services at Marin Civic Center. They are answered here by the panel of speakers and distributed by the office of the Marin County Home Advisor.

Can it be harmful to eat too much protein? Too much milk? Whole or skimmed?

IT IS ALWAYS a good idea to serve a wide variety of foods to be sure all nutrients are being provided. Any diet containing too much meat or too much milk may result in malnutrition because other food groups are being neglected.

How can I be sure that I have not lost the vitamins through cooking? Or what is the best way to retain vitamins?

THERE IS LITTLE danger in losing nutrients in cooking foods from the milk, meat or cereal groups. The best way to be sure you are retaining the nutrients in fruits and vegetables is to buy fresh products, store them carefully, cook quickly in small amounts of water, and serve soon after preparation. Cooking water may be saved and used in sauces, gravies or soup.

Two Plan Luncheon

SOFTLY SPEAKING

Simplicity marks the fall season in the new 1963 collection by Guy Laroche of Paris. The designer puts importance in the sleeves with this coat, done in a off-white wool, by dropping the shoulder lines and covering the arm with soft weaver. The coat has a semi-fitted look with three-buttons closing the front. The soft brown fur is also used for the tiny stand-up collar that circles the neck in a cowl-like effect. A towering beaver turban completes the costume. (UPI Photos)

Drop Bridge Hands, Get Into Action Urges Peace Promoter

By GAY PAULEY
UPI Women's Editor

NEW YORK—The American woman with time on her hands should be spending it on other than hands of bridge. Get into action for promotion of world understanding and peace, says one woman active in a number of organizations in the field of international relations.

MRS. HARVEY Picker, wife of an industrialist, mother of two teenage daughters, states her view of women's role in the world's future in this way:

"Apparently half the world is manpower, half womanpower. This gives us equal responsibility.

"I feel strongly that American women who are provided financial security by their husbands should get on at the job of working toward international understanding."

Statistically, she said, a lot of women — and men — have heeded the call.

MRS. PICKER estimated that "Today there are some 350 big organizations working for peace. Ten years ago, it wasn't even respectable."

Mrs. Picker, of Quaker heritage, is active in 12 organizations working toward world peace.

"The only way I don't get confused is to keep a briefcase for each group," she said, with a laugh.

THE ORGANIZATIONS include the Committee of Correspondence, Inc., the Institute for International Order, and the Quaker-sponsored Committee for International Friendly Visits.

The correspondence committee consists of a group of American women who work with women leaders in other countries to better their peoples' living standards," she said.

The institute is a private, non-profit organization founded in 1948 by Earl D. Osborn, a wealthy Long Island industrialist, as an educational project to support the United Nations. One of the institute's most successful projects, Mrs. Picker said, is publication of a pamphlet called "Ten Minutes for Peace," a questionnaire designed for a personal audit, which since its publication in December 1961 has been distributed to an estimated half million persons.

Mrs. Picker will take copies of the questionnaire translated into Russian for her next personal tour in matters of international getting-along.

She will leave June 19 for a tour of the Soviet Union, a tour sponsored by the committee for international friendly visits and made at the invitation of the Soviet government.

"I just hope the pamphlets will stimulate the Russians to some mental exercise," said Mrs. Picker.

"People everywhere want the same things," she said in an interview. "Food, shelter, clothing, security . . . the right to hope. . . ."

Jane Picker, who was graduated from Smith College in 1942, is the wife of the president of Picker X-Ray Corp. The couple has two daughters, Frances, 14, and Gale, 12.

Through travels with her husband, Mrs. Picker became interested in trying to alter the image of the United States abroad — "we are not materialistic, not imperialistic, as so many see us," she contends.

She worked for seven years at the United Nations (until 1960) lecturing and interpreting its progress and development to special groups visiting.

"At times I couldn't help but be cynical of its work," she said, of those years. "But then, when you think back to the opening of the first general assembly, only 60 nations, then 80, then 100, now 111. If that many countries can talk, even if only to disagree, well, you can only be optimistic about chances for world peace.

"Get discouraged? Yes, I often do."

"Just," she said, "as I often think I'll never get through two teen-agers' adolescence.

"But we have to keep doing. There is no alternative. And if by 75, I've not blown up, I know that all of us have done some good."

Now Bauble-Makers Buoyant Over New Fashion Look

NEW YORK (AP)—Jubilant at a wake is the jewelry industry, ecstatic over the death of the nothing dress and its accompanying string of pearls.

Their total disrespect for the demise of this understated, underdecorated shell of a dress in fashion is proper revenge. The style was murder to the costume jewelry business.

Now bauble-makers are bouyant of the boy look, turtlenecks and short sleeves; and the girl look — turban and chemise, both of which must jingle-jangle with bangles for the full effect.

GENERALLY, in terms of the next season's jewelry fashions this means that pins, beads, bracelets and earrings will be larger, brighter, richer more authentic-looking, and noisier.

Specifically, the new style decrees from the showrooms of the garment district here and in Paris have had this influence on jewelry designs:

HAIR STYLES and hats have brought ears into focus. Hair swept up from the ears, or hair-covering turbans are now signals to get rid of small pearl button earrings in exchange for big, bold or platter types for daytime, and long, skinny, shoulder-dangling kinds for night time.

A womanly penchant for mannish hats worn back, Balenciaga-style, or coquetishly on top the American way, calls for sportive tin, fur or leather earrings to keep femininity frivolously in mind.

MOCK TURTLE necklines on dresses and blouses have inspired jewelry makers to make high-rising, close neckline beads, sometimes giant-sized single strands, other times in fine multi-stranded chains.

This up-to-chin fashion has resulted in whimsical scatter pins to be worn in clusters at the cuffline of the turtle necks.

School Togs To Be Shown In View Show

The forecast is for a cranberry-picking autumn when it comes to little girls' back to school fashions, and the popular shade will be seen in jumpers, smocks, skimmers and empire silhouettes at the back to school fashion showing Thursday at the Ondine in Sausalito.

The 12:30 p.m. showing will feature Marin mother and daughter combinations showing the cranberry collection of clothes. Modeling will be Mrs. John Hackney Jr. and her daughter Torrie, Mrs. Dorothy Wagner and her daughter Lynn, Mrs. Charles Ashley with her daughters Ann and Eden, and Mrs. Luciano Sabella with her daughter Dianne. Mrs. John John B. Bellamy Jr. will be assisted with the commentary by Harpers Bazaar fashion representative Jean Barker (Mrs. Gilbert Barker of Larkspur).

Tourist Is Judged By Travel Manners

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI)—A tourist is judged by his travel manners and the better they are the better the impression made on strangers at home and abroad.

The better also you will enjoy your trip if you exercise the rules of courtesy. Good manners add to the good service you get too from the motels, hotels, roadside eating places, airlines, trains and buses.

Those catering to the vacationer—if pinned down—could give a list of gripes that long for correction. They are tolerant, because they are seeking the tourist dollar.

But, from talking to various persons in the travel industry, we have compiled Pauley's easy guide for testing your vacation etiquette.

—DO YOU HOG two seats in the bus, train or plane by deliberately placing your coat, purse or other paraphernalia on the second seat, hoping thereby to seal it off?

—Do you on planes hang assorted cameras, coats, or other accessories including flight bags in your area so that they overlap and create a hazard—or anyway discomfort—for the person behind or in front of you?

—Do you light a cigarette, pipe or cigar without asking whether smoking bothers the person sitting next to you?

—DO YOU USE the ash tray nearest you or prefer to lean over and use the one of your neighbor, dusting ashes as you go?

—Do you march up to the reception desk of hotel or motel and elbow others aside who are in line ahead of you to register? If you've pushed your way past others a little more patient during a busy tourist season, you've just won a top award for crudeness.

—Do you adapt, if the conditions are not as perfect as promised? Some of the overseas countries are just getting in to the swing of seeking you as guest for a holiday and the shower may not always work, the soap supply not be ample. But point out politely the flaw in the service. Creating a scene does not create a favorable impression of Americans.

—IN MOTOR TRAVEL, especially in the United States, do you use the roadside picnic areas as if litter did not hurt? Multiply your left-behind paper plates and cups, soft drink bottles, etc., by the hundreds who also will use that picnic area in a given week and you see why some areas of the United States look like one big garbage heap. Crews eventually will pick up after you, but you're not thinking of the others who want to enjoy the outdoors nor of the multi-million dollars of taxpayers money spent on clean-up alone.

—DO YOUR DRIVING manners show in reverse? Tailgating, nudging out of your lane at a stop light for a quick getaway when the light turns green—these invite disaster.

—Do you remember to say thank you to the filling station attendant, the policeman or anyone else who acts as a free guide? There are a dozen times a day the tourist has a chance to say thank you, and make traveling a treat instead of a trauma.

Traditional, Antique Designs Continue In Popularity Gain

FROM ITALY, handsome collections of blown glass bowls, vases and fragile figurines in glowing colors were available. Elegant hand-cut stemware, interesting ceramics, fine onyx and alabaster accent pieces maintained the formality that goes along with traditional home furnishings.

Baroque and baronial imports from Spain include heavy wrought iron candelabra and sconces, and rugged hand carved chairs and chests. Dueling swords, wood carvings and rococo gilded mirrors and candle holders might well have been found also in the antique shops of Madrid.

A collection of hand-hammered copper from Iran included trays, pitchers, vases and bowls in shapes and patterns handed from generation to generation. Brass from India also relied on traditional motifs with a faintly exotic quality for accent.

All Artery Ills Show In Babies

NEW YORK —The hardening of arteries, a disease usually associated with old age, actually may begin in infancy.

A study of the coronary arteries of 25 dead infants and children by a team of researchers, headed by Dr. A. S. Daoud, from Albany Medical College and Veteran's Administration hospital, Albany, N.Y., showed the existence of fatty patches and wall thickening.

The children varied in age from stillborn to 15 years. These conditions were found to be more pronounced with age, and the researchers say "may represent the early stages of arteriosclerotic heart disease."

Their report was in a recent publication of the Journal of The American Medical Association.

Tourist Is Judged By Travel Manners

By GAY PAULEY

NEW YORK (UPI)—A tourist is judged by his travel manners and the better they are the better the impression made on strangers at home and abroad.

The better also you will enjoy your trip if you exercise the rules of courtesy. Good manners add to the good service you get too from the motels, hotels, roadside eating places, airlines, trains and buses.

Those catering to the vacationer—if pinned down—could give a list of gripes that long for correction. They are tolerant, because they are seeking the tourist dollar.

But, from talking to various persons in the travel industry, we have compiled Pauley's easy guide for testing your vacation etiquette.

—DO YOU HOG two seats in the bus, train or plane by deliberately placing your coat, purse or other paraphernalia on the second seat, hoping thereby to seal it off?

—Do you on planes hang assorted cameras, coats, or other accessories including flight bags in your area so that they overlap and create a hazard—or anyway discomfort—for the person behind or in front of you?

—Do you light a cigarette, pipe or cigar without asking whether smoking bothers the person sitting next to you?

—DO YOU USE the ash tray nearest you or prefer to lean over and use the one of your neighbor, dusting ashes as you go?

—Do you march up to the reception desk of hotel or motel and elbow others aside who are in line ahead of you to register? If you've pushed your way past others a little more patient during a busy tourist season, you've just won a top award for crudeness.

—Do you adapt, if the conditions are not as perfect as promised? Some of the overseas countries are just getting in to the swing of seeking you as guest for a holiday and the shower may not always work, the soap supply not be ample. But point out politely the flaw in the service. Creating a scene does not create a favorable impression of Americans.

—IN MOTOR TRAVEL, especially in the United States, do you use the roadside picnic areas as if litter did not hurt? Multiply your left-behind paper plates and cups, soft drink bottles, etc., by the hundreds who also will use that picnic area in a given week and you see why some areas of the United States look like one big garbage heap. Crews eventually will pick up after you, but you're not thinking of the others who want to enjoy the outdoors nor of the multi-million dollars of taxpayers money spent on clean-up alone.

—DO YOUR DRIVING manners show in reverse? Tailgating, nudging out of your lane at a stop light for a quick getaway when the light turns green—these invite disaster.

—Do you remember to say thank you to the filling station attendant, the policeman or anyone else who acts as a free guide? There are a dozen times a day the tourist has a chance to say thank you, and make traveling a treat instead of a trauma.

A RECEPTION in Fairfax followed the wedding of Jayne Sandra Moorhouse and Joel Anthony Emis at Trinity Lutheran Church in San Rafael. The couple is on a Southern California wedding trip.

Traditional, Antique Designs Continue In Popularity Gain

FROM ITALY, handsome collections of blown glass bowls, vases and fragile figurines in glowing colors were available. Elegant hand-cut stemware, interesting ceramics, fine onyx and alabaster accent pieces maintained the formality that goes along with traditional home furnishings.

Baroque and baronial imports from Spain include heavy wrought iron candelabra and sconces, and rugged hand carved chairs and chests. Dueling swords, wood carvings and rococo gilded mirrors and candle holders might well have been found also in the antique shops of Madrid.

A collection of hand-hammered copper from Iran included trays, pitchers, vases and bowls in shapes and patterns handed from generation to generation. Brass from India also relied on traditional motifs with a faintly exotic quality for accent.

All Artery Ills Show In Babies

A study of the coronary arteries of 25 dead infants and children by a team of researchers, headed by Dr. A. S. Daoud, from Albany Medical College and Veteran's Administration hospital, Albany, N.Y., showed the existence of fatty patches and wall thickening.

The children varied in age from stillborn to 15 years. These conditions were found to be more pronounced with age, and the researchers say "may represent the early stages of arteriosclerotic heart disease."

Their report was in a recent publication of the Journal of The American Medical Association.

HOW TO PLAY WINNING BRIDGE

'Bad Luck' At Bridge Table Is Often Just Bad Management

Is there such a thing as bad luck? Knock wood when you even ask such a question!

Bad luck does exist, and you'd better eat your oatmeal and brush your teeth if you want it to stay away from you at the bridge table. Still, many players complain about bad luck when their trouble is really bad management.

When this hand came along in a tournament some years ago, many players won the first trick in dummy with the ace of hearts and tried to decide what to discard on it.

DISCARDED

Naturally these players discarded the jack of spades, hoping that the ten of diamonds would win a trick by itself later on. Then they cashed the ace of clubs, drew trumps, and went down one trick when the diamonds failed to break.

Very sad, of course, and the complaints about bad luck were enough to turn the strongest stomach. The odds were in favor of the jack of diamonds dropping, they pointed out, and the odds were against the queen of spades dropping.

They had made the "percentage" play, but Fate had betrayed them.

NO COMPLAINT

Harry Fishbein, veteran bridge star, made no complaint. Instead, he made seven clubs.

Fishbein ruffed the opening heart lead. Then he cautiously led out the ace of spades.

TURNS OUT

As it turned out, the queen of spades dropped on Fishbein's king. This was exactly what the Sage of 57th Street had been trying to find out. He led a club to dummy's ace, discarded the ten of diamonds on the ace of hearts, and got back with a diamond to draw the rest of the trumps.

Then he took the remaining tricks with high diamonds and the jack of spades.

Tiburon Incorporation Tangle More Apparent Than Real

By no means surprisingly, a good many Marin residents find it hard to follow just what recently happened concerning the Tiburon incorporation proposal for which petitions are now being circulated.

Cause of the confusion which spread even among county supervisors was action of the Marin County Boundary Commission in disagreeing with the boundaries as proposed by the would-be incorporators, following which the petitioners declined these findings and started circulating the petitions.

Supervisors, seemingly faced with a dilemma they might do something to resolve, were told to sit quiet for the time being. Their function will develop later.

"What goes on?" was a logical public reaction, complicated by the revelation that double taxation might get into the picture somehow.

To start from the misunderstood issue of double taxation and work backward, a necessarily simplified headline in the I-J saying that "Tiburon Could Face Double Tax" led to a conclusion that such would happen. It won't. Auditor-Controller Mitchell mentioned that since there are seven taxing districts in the proposed area, action might later be necessary in order to avoid double taxation that's all, there wasn't any more.

Supervisor Peter Behr summed up by saying that this was "a problem we face if incorporation is successful" which is not at all to say that the problem can't be readily solved. Mitchell points out that the districts can reach reasonable solution, and undoubtedly they will.

About the difference of view as between the would-be incorporators and the boundary commission, it should be pointed out that though this is unusual, it is quite proper and nothing to get excited about.

The commission comprises representatives of several departments and they should represent these intelligently, not be a rubber-stamp. Planning, for instance, has a telling point against the proposed boundaries in that there is a matter of "corridor" in from tidal lots to include certain property. The lesson of Novato as to patchwork results is well worth remembering. Even as to tidal property, there may arise responsibility for water policing.

But at this stage the would-be incorporators are out for signatures so naturally they seek to include property owned by people who favor incorporation. That is perfectly legitimate. Nonetheless, the criticisms of the boundary commission should be borne in mind because later the supervisors will act and they may delete though not add areas. It will pay to get an excess of signatures.

On the governor's desk awaiting signature is legislation calling for an overall evaluation by some super-body. Thus the boundary commission may be said to be functioning in an intermediate stage, employing the new philosophy though not able to exercise the control which later will come. Legislation isn't retroactive and all concerned must work under present rules.

LOVE IS THE ANSWER

An eminent baby specialist had a standard treatment for frail newborn infants who failed to gain weight.

When he came to the baby's chart during his rounds in the hospital, he invariably scrawled the following direction to the nurse in attendance:

"This baby is to be loved every three hours."

Newborn babies are not the only ones who need love and affection. Doctors agree that many bodily ills in young and old alike are the result of not being wanted or of being ignored by those from whom they have a right to expect reasonable attention.

Love is a divine quality, a touch of heaven, that each and all of us can apply unendingly to every phase of life, from the family circle to the farthermost parts of the earth.

Love is the best answer to most problems.

"By this will all men know that you are My disciples, if you have love for one another."

MacMillan Staggers But Does Comeback, Seems Victorious

By GREGORY JENSEN

LONDON (UPI)—There is a golfer named Arnold Palmer who makes a career of trailing the pack until all hope seems gone, then staging an amazing comeback to win. There is a part-time golfer here who does the same thing.

He is the Rt. Hon. Harold Maurice MacMillan, P.C., F.R.S., M.P., Sunday duffer, leader of the Conservative Party, First Lord of the Treasury and Prime Minister of Great Britain.

War Minister John Profumo, his personal friend and close cabinet associate, had admitted he lied to the sacred House of Commons about his affair with a flashy young trollop named Christine Keeler. The sex-and-security scandal which followed shook Britain like an earthquake.

PUBLIC and political opinion was virtually unanimous that MacMillan was finished. Few thought he could stand while the shock waves of scandal jolted his foundation of power.

Yet today, MacMillan is talking and acting like a man who intends to be prime minister forever. Much of the press again depicts him as a leader in confident command.

Probably never before has "unflappable Mac" showed his unflappability more than in this summer of 1963.

What happened? How did MacMillan survive?

THE ANSWERS seem to lie in a series of threes.

Three men, political observers are agreed, could have toppled MacMillan in the sordid wake of the Profumo scandal—Vice Premier R. A. Butler, Chancellor of the Exchequer Reginald Maudling and Minister-of-All Work Viscount Hailsham.

But there were three accepted reasons why these three men did not act—their loyalty to MacMillan and their party; the fact that an election must be held within 15 months; and their uncertainty of success in uniting the party and the nation behind any of them.

Novato Hills Homes Good

Editor, Independent-Journal:

In regard to the article (Reporter's Notebook) written by Loren MacArthur on Aug. 6, she shows her ignorance regarden the building of the houses in Novato Hills subdivision. She does this by grouping all the builders so that your many readers will think that those who have built in Novato Hills are all classed alike.

My father, who is a legitimate contractor, has built and sold one home in Novato Hills and plans to build more. Her article is saying that all these homes are built "shoddy." Had Miss MacArthur done any research she would find that the homes that are beginning to deteriorate were built by an out-of-county contractor.

Tax Burden On The Oldsters

Editor, Independent-Journal:

The article by Mr. Robert M. Coppock (Reporter's Notebook) in your issue of July 30 is to be commended. At least there is one man who is interested enough in the senior citizens to try to find out what we think about.

Well, Mr. Coppock, it is not that the schools have done anything to us, but it is the tax burden that is placed upon us that hurts. We oldsters read so much about what the government can do to help the senior citizens.

Most of us are on a limited income, and in view of the fact that for many years past we have paid school taxes, and now that we do not have children in school any longer, and living on limited income, I believe that we should be exempted from the school tax.

It seems that each time the taxes go up the public officials all get substantial raises in salary, so one way to help us is to give us a raise by eliminating this school tax.

Most of the senior citizens have their own homes and have been struggling to keep our homes in our last few years. But with the continued raises in taxes it is becoming more difficult for us to meet them, and if we cannot meet the demands we will be forced to sell out.

Double Taxation Can Be Ducked

Editor, Independent-Journal:

I wish to clarify what may be a misconception concerning the "double tax question" applicable to the proposed incorporation of Tiburon.

There are seven special districts within the proposed Tiburon area, which includes lighting, fire, and sanitary—and the specific action taken by the Marin County Boundary Commission was to adopt a resolution recommending that appropriate legal steps be taken in order to avoid double taxation.

These legal steps cannot be taken until after incorporation and relate to the exercising of similar functions presently performed by special districts—which could be performed by the proposed city.

I personally have no doubt whatsoever that appropriate actions will be taken by the proponents for Tiburon incorporation; thereby avoiding the "double tax problem" which has occasionally occurred in portions of other cities where strong public interest to this situation has not been prevalent.

One of the oldest political tricks in the book was pulled at the Marin County Planning Commission hearing in connection with the approval of a use permit for a classroom facility for mentally retarded children at 29 Washington Avenue.

Interested persons had called the planning commission office all day asking what time this matter (Agenda Item 30) would be heard. They were assured that the matter would not come up until late in the afternoon; however, Item 30 was brought up ahead of schedule with Items 20 and 21, and passed before most of the opponents had arrived at the hearing and had a chance to express their views.

There is no excuse for this in Marin County and it has left a thoroughly annoyed group of citizens in its wake!

Poisoned Water For Snakes

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Please be more careful what you print! Your seemingly harmless nature note mentioning the use of poisoned water to kill rattlesnakes could cause great damage.

I beg readers—DON'T DO IT! Think of the destruction to other reptiles (mostly beneficial) and to the huge number of birds and animals always alert for a water source; killing perhaps one rattler in five or 10 years.

Your paper should attempt to educate the public in some of the principles of conservation. The use of such by each individual Marinite would assure the survival of our many and varied creatures in spite of the increasing advancement of home construction into the wooded areas which are the breeding grounds of most of Marin's wildlife.

Not Only Does Newell Enjoy Vacation, But He Tells All

IT'S NOW been one week since the vacation ended and I have been back in the saddle or harness—whichever way you want to look at it. Vacations are entirely too short to recoup a naturally lazy person like myself for another year.

We—my wife and I—took an unscheduled trip across California and southern Nevada to Utah and Arizona. There we observed such fantastic sights as Bryce, Zion and Grand Canyon National Parks, Cedar Breaks and Arches National Monuments and Monument Valley Tribal Park.

From there we went north to Ogden to see one favorite aunt and then westward across the Salt Flats and northern Nevada to home.

THE MOST PLEASANT surprise on the trip was Arches National Monument. Having just come from such spectacular scenery as Bryce, Zion and Grand Canyon, we did not think anything could impress us any more.

This monument really deserves to be raised to the status of a national park. It does not have the spectacular chasms of Bryce or the Grand Canyon, but it has some fair sized canyons. It has some of the most fantastic rock formations of all kinds that we saw anywhere. There were massive rock walls, like Zion, and unusual formations like Bryce and Monument Valley. In addition it has the arches and windows.

Anyone who gets near Moab will not regret the time spent in seeing this natural wonder. The Moab area also gave promise of more interesting spots and rock picking trips than we had time for.

SOMEWHERE in my heart has always been a soft spot for the underdog. So it has been with much more than casual interest that I have watched the remnants of a once great people, the American Indians, try to salvage something of their civilization, which we wrecked, and build another according to our ideas of a civilization.

It was with renewed interest that I drove across the Navajo Indian reservation, which sprawls along three state borders. These Indians probably received the poorest agricultural land of any. They have been so pitifully poor for generations that we with full stomachs should be ashamed of ourselves.

However, things are changing rapidly for that nation. With the advent of the discovery of uranium on the reservation along with oil, the tribe is getting some money to do things for itself.

It has recently completed a paved highway across the reservation from east to west. We stopped to see the million-dollar recreation civic center which the tribe built at Tuba City. We could also see water mains and new modern homes being built in other parts of the reservation.

NOR HAS the tribe been selfish in its use of money. It has laid aside the main part of Monument Valley and built a road around to the most central of those fantastic rock formations.

At the entrance to this tribal park is one of the most beautiful of park buildings. This was built by the Navajos themselves out of the red and white banded sandstone of the area. In the corners of the observation room are blocks containing dinosaur footprints.

In the "It takes all kinds" department, I nominate the young couple we observed in Yosemite Valley for lifetime membership. In the Toulouse Meadows area, under the shade of a tree beside a small lake and surrounded by some of the most beautiful scenery in America, this young couple were waxing their car.

Most Senators Feel Test Ban Innocent Till Proved Guilty

WASHINGTON—The attitude of most U.S. Senators is that the nuclear test ban is innocent—unless proved guilty.

The assumption is that the treaty will win the necessary two-thirds vote for ratification.

There is no doubt that the dominant sentiment on the Hill is pro-treaty. The sentiment is pro-treaty because of these beliefs:

That an end to such nuclear testing as can be policed without on-site inspection is in the national interest of both the U.S. and Russia.

That this beginning could lead to other useful negotiations and should not be thrown away.

That thus far no one has come forward with the evidence to show that the test ban, which excepts underground testing, would on balance be adverse to U.S. interests or unduly riskful.

MY OWN INSTINCT is on the side that the agreement by the three powers to refrain from testing in the atmosphere, under water, and in outer space is a good thing unless its critics can produce a case against it far stronger than yet put forward.

I think that many will want to look fully and carefully at the case against the treaty, if for no other reason than to be sure that we are not taking a false step.

It is not going to be enough for the White House to argue generalities and to assert how valuable the treaty is and how modest are the risks. It must document its assertions with solid fact.

It is not enough for the opponents of the test ban to rant that any treaty with the Soviets is bad. The test ban isn't just any treaty; it is a specific treaty with specific safeguards and purposes, and must be measured by what it contains.

THE PRESENT test ban signed last week was originally proposed by President Eisenhower and re-initiated by President Kennedy. This means that it has high and honorable and non-partisan credentials. But the Senate must give it more than pro forma examination.

It is well that two-thirds of the Senate must be satisfied that this test-ban treaty is good for the United States before approving it. It should exercise its independent judgment.

So far, at least in their public declarations, President Kennedy, Averell Harriman, and other administration spokesmen have tended to rest their case for the treaty on authority. Yes, they say, the treaty is good; no, they say, it does not involve much risk; no, the Soviets won't gain on us by it; no, we won't be hurt.

This kind of exposition is not adequate. The Senate deserves to have the facts and the judgments on which these yes-and-no answers rest.

Most Senators Feel Test Ban Innocent Till Proved Guilty

WASHINGTON — The attitude of most U.S. Senators is that the nuclear test ban is innocent — unless proved guilty.

The assumption is that the treaty will win the necessary two-thirds vote for ratification.

There is no doubt that the dominant sentiment on the Hill is pro-treaty. The sentiment is pro-treaty because of these beliefs:

That an end to such nuclear testing as can be policed without on-site inspection is in the national interest of both the U.S. and Russia.

That this beginning could lead to other useful negotiations and should not be thrown away.

That thus far no one has come forward with the evidence to show that the test ban, which excepts underground testing, would on balance be adverse to U.S. interests or unduly riskful.

MY OWN INSTINCT is on the side that the agreement by the three powers to refrain from testing in the atmosphere, under water, and in outer space is a good thing unless its critics can produce a case against it far stronger than yet put forward.

I think that many will want to look fully and carefully at the case against the treaty, if for no other reason than to be sure that we are not taking a false step.

It is not going to be enough for the White House to argue generalities and to assert how valuable the treaty is and how modest are the risks. It must document its assertions with solid fact.

It is not enough for the opponents of the test ban to rant that any treaty with the Soviets is bad. The test ban isn't just any treaty; it is a specific treaty with specific safeguards and purposes, and must be measured by what it contains.

THE PRESENT test ban signed last week was originally proposed by President Eisenhower and re-initiated by President Kennedy. This means that it has high and honorable and non-partisan credentials. But the Senate must give it more than pro forma examination.

It is well that two-thirds of the Senate must be satisfied that this test-ban treaty is good for the United States before approving it. It should exercise its independent judgment.

So far, at least in their public declarations, President Kennedy, Averell Harriman, and other administration spokesmen have tended to rest their case for the treaty on authority. Yes, they say, the treaty is good; no, they say, it does not involve much risk; no, the Soviets won't gain on us by it; no, we won't be hurt.

This kind of exposition is not adequate. The Senate deserves to have the facts and the judgments on which these yes-and-no answers rest.

In Marinwood They Say "Scarce as a Rosewood"
WHY?
1. SEPARATE Family Room (lock up the kids)
2. Utility room IN the house (keeps wives out of the rain)
3. 3 BR, 2 bath wing (guests can't see your pajamas)
4. Only 20 were built (The builder started losing money so he quit)

NOTICE OF SALE OF $1,805,000 PRELIMINARY LOAN NOTES OF REDEVELOPMENT AGENCY OF THE COUNTY OF MARIN
August 13, 1963

SEALED PROPOSALS will be received by the above-identified local public body corporate (hereinafter called the "Local Public Agency") at Administration Building in the City of Marin City, California, until, and publicly opened at one o'clock, P.M., Eastern Daylight Saving Time, on August 27, 1963, for the purchase of $1,805,000 of notes of the Local Public Agency to be known as "Preliminary Loan Notes (Fifth Series A)," being issued to aid in financing its Urban Renewal Project, designated Project No. Calif. R-8. The United States of America, acting by and through the Housing and Home Finance Agency, has agreed to make a loan under Title I of the Housing Act of 1949, as amended (42 U.S.C. 1450 et seq.), to the Local Public Agency to assist the latter in undertaking and carrying out such Project. By authority of said Act and with the agreement of the Local Public Agency, the said Notes are to be unconditionally secured as to the payment of both principal and interest by the United States of America. The full faith and credit of the United States will be pledged to such payment under an unqualified payment agreement endorsed on each of the Notes. Under said Act, such agreement is required to be construed by all officers of the United States separate and apart from said loan agreement and is incontestable in the hands of a bearer thereof.

THE NOTES will be dated September 17, 1963, will be payable to bearer on March 13, 1964, will bear interest from their date to their maturity at the rate or rates per annum fixed in the proposal or proposals accepted for the purchase of such Notes, will be issued in such denominations, and both principal and interest thereof will be payable at such incorporated Bank having trust powers or incorporated Trust Company, as the purchaser designates in the proposal. Such Bank or Trust Company must be a member of the Federal Reserve System, or of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, and must have an unimpaired capital and surplus of not less than the aggregate principal amount of Notes designated in the proposal or proposals submitted by the purchaser; provided, however, that such unimpaired capital and surplus need not exceed One Million Dollars. The Notes will provide that they are not valid until after such Bank or Trust Company has signed the agreement, appearing on each Note, to act as paying agent. The Notes will be transmitted to such Bank or Trust Company for delivery to the purchaser upon receipt and disbursement by such Bank or Trust Company of the purchase price thereof in accordance with instructions from the Local Public Agency. After taking delivery of the Notes, the purchaser shall obtain the signature of such Bank or Trust Company upon the Notes as aforesaid. All fees or charges, if any, of such Bank or Trust Company shall be paid by such purchaser.

SAID NOTES will be special obligations of the Local Public Agency and will be secured by a requisition agreement between the Local Public Agency and the United States of America under the terms of which agreement the United States of America agrees to lend the Local Public Agency prior to the maturity of said Notes an amount sufficient to pay the principal and interest of all said Notes and agrees to cause so much of the proceeds of such loan as shall be sufficient to pay the principal of and interest upon any of said Notes to be deposited at the respective Bank or Trust Company at which said Notes are payable for the benefit of the holder or holders thereof. Under the proceedings authorizing said Notes, the proceeds of such loan payment will be irrevocably pledged first to the payment, at maturity, of the principal of and interest on said Notes.

THE VALIDITY of the Preliminary Loan Notes and of said requisition agreement will be approved by Orrick, Dahlquist, Herrington & Sutcliffe, 405 Montgomery Street, San Francisco 4, California, and such attorney's opinion will be furnished to the successful purchaser without charge.

ALL PROPOSALS for the purchase of said Notes shall be submitted in a form approved by the Local Public Agency and shall be enclosed in a sealed envelope, addressed to the Local Public Agency, which should be marked on the outside "Proposal for Preliminary Loan Notes." Copies of such form of proposal may be obtained from the Local Public Agency at the address indicated above. Proposals may be submitted subject to completion pursuant to telegraphic instructions which must be received by the Local Public Agency at or before the time above specified for the opening of proposals. In view of certain statutory and policy limitations, no award of the Notes will be made at an interest rate per annum which is not less than three per centum (3%).

PROPOSALS may be for all or any part of the Notes, and separate proposals will be required for each part of said Notes for which a separate interest rate is bid. Said Notes will be awarded at the lowest interest rate or rates offered in the proposals, without reference to premium; provided, however, that, as among proposals specifying the same lowest interest rate, award will be made on the basis of the highest premium per dollar principal amount of Notes specified in such proposals. No bid for less than $50,000 principal amount of said Notes or for less than par and accrued interest (which interest shall be computed on a 360-day basis) will be entertained, and the Local Public Agency reserves the right to award to any bidder all or any part of the Notes which such bidder offers to purchase in his proposal, upon the basis of such proposal; provided, that if less than $50,000 principal amount of Notes is to be awarded to any bidder, such bidder will be relieved of the obligation to purchase such Notes upon written notice to the Local Public Agency within two days after notification of such proposed award. If only a part of the Notes bid for in a proposal are awarded by the Local Public Agency, the premium, if any, offered in such proposal shall be prorated, and said Notes will be issued in denominations in the order of the lowest denominations specified in such proposal; provided that one Note may be issued in a smaller denomination than is otherwise specified. The further right is reserved to reject any or all proposals.

SECTION 102 (g) of the Housing Act of 1949, as amended (42 U.S.C. 1452), provides as follows: "Obligations, including interest thereon, issued by local public agencies for projects assisted pursuant to this title, and income derived by such agencies from such projects, shall be exempt from all taxation now or hereafter imposed by the United States." In the event that prior to the delivery of any of the Notes to the successful bidder therefor the income received by private holders from obligations of the same type and character shall be taxable by the terms of any Federal income tax law hereafter enacted, the successful bidder may, at his election, be relieved of his obligations under the contract to purchase said Notes.

Report Points To Problems Of Regulation

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Self-policing versus government controls—an increasingly sore point in business-government relations—is brought sharply into focus today by an official study of what makes the stock market tick.

How the question is finally settled is of great importance to investors, large and small—and by implication to other parts of the business world fearful of increased or proposed government regulation.

Stock exchanges and other handlers of securities think—as do leaders in many other industries — that since they are closest to their problems they are best equipped to regulate themselves and stop or prevent malpractice that bilks the stock-buying public.

A special panel study of security marketing practices for the Securities and Exchange Commission holds — as apparently do many government officials in other lines—that self-regulation is fine but that the SEC should be given more powers to see that the policing is done, and along lines held by the government to be best for the investing public.

The theme of the study seems to be that "no business is eager for regulation" and firm "government oversight" is needed to see that the policing is done properly.

The much larger over-the-counter market of stocks unlisted on any exchange is regulated by the National Assn. of Securities Dealers, set up by law to supervise activities of some 5,000 firms, involving 100,000 persons.

SEC Chairman William L. Cary says his agency will discuss the issue of still stricter self-policing versus more government controls with the stock exchanges and the over-the-counter leaders before asking Congress for any new powers — beyond those already sought and now currently before the House after passage by the Senate.

What Congress might do next year, if the issue is raised then, depends on many things—including the course of stock prices, any fresh scandals, the general trend of conservatism versus liberalism.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Clashes Bring On Rashes But It Is Not Easy To Prove Why

VAN DELLEN

Rashes often are blamed on nervousness but the relationship between the two is not always easy to prove. Some men with a skin eruption diagnosed as neurodermatitis were found later to be allergic to the wife's perfume. The same can be said of the college girl whose "nervous rash" was due to a hair preparation rather than to her poor grades at school.

There is no doubt of the close relationship between the nervous system and the skin. Blushing is a good example of how some persons react to emotional impulses. Talk about parasites and most of us will begin to itch.

MANY SKIN disorders have a beginning or are made worse by psychic upsets. Some high-strung individuals are bothered with excessive sweating of the hands and feet. This, in turn, may encourage the growth of fungi and in time athlete's foot flourishes. Marked perspiration may irritate an existing dematitis or make it itch.

Emotional disorders also lead to hives, certain types of baldness, itching without apparent cause, and dry or oozing skin lesions. Dr. Norman R. Goldsmith says none of these conditions is found in institutions for the feedleminded. He concluded a person must have some intelligence to become jittery enough to develop neurodermatitis. It is more prevalent after age 20, when numerous stresses and tensions perplex the young person.

I AM NOT trying to overemphasize the role of emotional factors in dermatitis. But tension, worry, and burning candle at both ends increase susceptibility to "nervous rashes" and aggravate existing skin conditions. This is worth remembering, especially with a puzzling dermatitis. Often a rest or a vacation does more than all the salves, lotions, and tranquilizers on the drug store shelves.

Tepid baths without soap often prove comforting. The same can be said for avoidance of highly - spiced foods and stimulants such as tea and coffee.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

VACCINATION OF OLDSTERS

E.J.M. writes: Is it wise for a man of 72 to be vaccinated against smallpox? He was vaccinated as a child.

REPLY

Yes, even though his chance of developing the disease at this age is almost nil. There must be millions of adults who have not been vaccinated since childhood who are susceptible to smallpox. They ought to be vaccinated.

STOMACH ACID

J.M.K. writes: Tests show I have no hydrochloric acid in my stomach. Is it necessary to take this substance by mouth?

REPLY

Not unless symptoms are present. In some instances, indigestion and anemia are traced to lack of acid. But many persons have no hydrochloric adic, yet feel fine and are healthy otherwise.

More Guards Escaping Over Berlin's Wall

BERLIN (UPI) — "Conditions are so bad in the prison that even the keepers are escaping."

That's a popular West Berliners' description of East Berlin two years after the building of the anti-refugee wall that divides the city.

The wall, built by the Communists on Aug. 13, 1961, has not solved the satellite East Germans' problems, nor has it helped stabilize the regime as the Communists had hoped.

It did halt the mass flood of refugees that threatened to bleed East Germany white. But East Germans still brave death almost daily to flee by every conceivable means.

Two years ago when the wall went up East Germans were fleeing to the West Berlin hole in the Iron Curtain at the rate of up to 100 an hour.

In July, the last full month before the wall, 30,000 East Germans walked or rode across the East-West border.

The wall along the 26-mile East-West Berlin border halted that mass flow. In the two years since the wall, 16,456 refugees have managed to get to the West. The first year 12,000 got out. Strengthened controls the second year cut the number to 4,456.

But the number of escaping soldiers and police has increased. The first year 400 soldiers, border guards and policemen fled. The second year 904.

Only fear of retaliation against their families and lack of opportunity keep most border guards from fleeing, defectors have reported.

Morale is said to be extremely low because the soldiers are despised by civilians for guarding the wall.

Pfc. Manfred Tucher, 21, who fled to the U.S. Army's Checkpoint Charlie last month, said: "No matter how crowded a train is no other passenger will take a vacant seat next to a border guard.

"I was stationed in East Berlin almost two years ago and never got to know a girl. They wouldn't talk to us. Outside of the men in my company I had no friends."

Pfc. Heinz Heger, 20, who also fled, said: "More than half of my unit would defect to the West in the first few days if war broke out. They would not fight for the regime or shoot at West Germans. At the most 30 per cent are Communists."

However, some guards do shoot to kill. Since the wall 65 refugees have died, 54 trying to reach West Berlin and 11 on the East-West German border.

It is believed the death toll is much higher but only 65 deaths have been documented. Western officials say without doubt others have been killed in deserted areas or behind the wall at night when there were no eyewitnesses.

Those who do get through use every conceivable technique. They have swum lakes and rivers, broken through the wall in a Russian-made cus performer who crossed minefields on horse-drawn sleds. There was even a circus performer who crorssed on a 100 yard-long cable 50 feet above the ground.

And then there are the tunnels.

One 60-yard tunnel that took five months to build from East to West Berlin rescued 13. One blind woman was guided through by her sister. A 70-year-old grandmother was pulled along unconscious by a rope tied to her legs. Two small boys who were taken on a tunnel escape were told to pretend they were playing groundhog.

NOTICE OF SALE OF $1,805,000 PRELIMINARY LOAN NOTES OF REDEVELOPMENT AGENCY OF THE COUNTY OF MARIN
August 13, 1963

SEALED PROPOSALS will be received by the above-identified local public body corporate (hereinafter called the "Local Public Agency") at Administration Building in the City of Marin City, California, until, and publicly opened at one o'clock, P.M., Eastern Daylight Saving Time, on August 27, 1963, for the purchase of $1,805,000 of notes of the Local Public Agency to be known as "Preliminary Loan Notes (Fifth Series A)," being issued to aid in financing its Urban Renewal Project, designated Project No. Calif. R-8. The United States of America, acting by and through the Housing and Home Finance Agency, has agreed to make a loan under Title I of the Housing Act of 1949, as amended (42 U.S.C. 1450 et seq.), to the Local Public Agency to assist the latter in undertaking and carrying out such Project. By authority of said Act and with the agreement of the Local Public Agency, the said Notes are to be unconditionally secured as to the payment of both principal and interest by the United States of America. The full faith and credit of the United States will be pledged to such payment under an unqualified payment agreement endorsed on each of the Notes. Under said Act, such agreement is required to be construed by all officers of the United States separate and apart from said loan agreement and is incontestable in the hands of a bearer thereof.

THE NOTES will be dated September 17, 1963, will be payable to bearer on March 13, 1964, will bear interest from their date to their maturity at the rate or rates per annum fixed in the proposal or proposals accepted for the purchase of such Notes, will be issued in such denominations, and both principal and interest thereof will be payable at such incorporated Bank having trust powers or incorporated Trust Company, as the purchaser designates in the proposal. Such Bank or Trust Company must be a member of the Federal Reserve System, or of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation, and must have an unimpaired capital and surplus of not less than the aggregate principal amount of Notes designated in the proposal or proposals submitted by the purchaser; provided, however, that such unimpaired capital and surplus need not exceed One Million Dollars. The Notes will provide that they are not valid until after such Bank or Trust Company has signed the agreement, appearing on each Note, to act as paying agent. The Notes will be transmitted to such Bank or Trust Company for delivery to the purchaser upon receipt and disbursement by such Bank or Trust Company of the purchase price thereof in accordance with instructions from the Local Public Agency. After taking delivery of the Notes, the purchaser shall obtain the signature of such Bank or Trust Company upon the Notes as aforesaid. All fees or charges, if any, of such Bank or Trust Company shall be paid by such purchaser.

SAID NOTES will be special obligations of the Local Public Agency and will be secured by a requisition agreement between the Local Public Agency and the United States of America under the terms of which agreement the United States of America agrees to lend the Local Public Agency prior to the maturity of said Notes an amount sufficient to pay the principal and interest of all said Notes and agrees to cause so much of the proceeds of such loan as shall be sufficient to pay the principal of and interest upon any of said Notes to be deposited at the respective Bank or Trust Company at which said Notes are payable for the benefit of the holder or holders thereof. Under the proceedings authorizing said Notes, the proceeds of such loan payment will be irrevocably pledged first to the payment, at maturity, of the principal of and interest on said Notes.

THE VALIDITY of the Preliminary Loan Notes and of said requisition agreement will be approved by Orrick, Dahlquist, Herrington & Sutcliffe, 405 Montgomery Street, San Francisco 4, California, and such attorney's opinion will be furnished to the successful purchaser without charge.

ALL PROPOSALS for the purchase of said Notes shall be submitted in a form approved by the Local Public Agency and shall be enclosed in a sealed envelope, addressed to the Local Public Agency, which should be marked on the outside "Proposal for Preliminary Loan Notes." Copies of such form of proposal may be obtained from the Local Public Agency at the address indicated above. Proposals may be submitted subject to completion pursuant to telegraphic instructions which must be received by the Local Public Agency at or before the time above specified for the opening of proposals. In view of certain statutory and policy limitations, no award of the Notes will be made at an interest rate per annum which is not less than three per centum (3%).

PROPOSALS may be for all or any part of the Notes, and separate proposals will be required for each part of said Notes for which a separate interest rate is bid. Said Notes will be awarded at the lowest interest rate or rates offered in the proposals, without reference to premium; provided, however, that, as among proposals specifying the same lowest interest rate, award will be made on the basis of the highest premium per dollar principal amount of Notes specified in such proposals. No bid for less than $50,000 principal amount of said Notes or for less than par and accrued interest (which interest shall be computed on a 360-day basis) will be entertained, and the Local Public Agency reserves the right to award to any bidder all or any part of the Notes which such bidder offers to purchase in his proposal, upon the basis of such proposal; provided, that if less than $50,000 principal amount of Notes is to be awarded to any bidder, such bidder will be relieved of the obligation to purchase such Notes upon written notice to the Local Public Agency within two days after notification of such proposed award. If only a part of the Notes bid for in a proposal are awarded by the Local Public Agency, the premium, if any, offered in such proposal shall be prorated, and said Notes will be issued in denominations in the order of the lowest denominations specified in such proposal; provided that one Note may be issued in a smaller denomination than is otherwise specified. The further right is reserved to reject any or all proposals.

SECTION 102 (g) of the Housing Act of 1949, as amended (42 U.S.C. 1452), provides as follows: "Obligations, including interest thereon, issued by local public agencies for projects assisted pursuant to this title, and income derived by such agencies from such projects, shall be exempt from all taxation now or hereafter imposed by the United States." In the event that prior to the delivery of any of the Notes to the successful bidder therefor the income received by private holders from obligations of the same type and character shall be taxable by the terms of any Federal income tax law hereafter enacted, the successful bidder may, at his election, be relieved of his obligations under the contract to purchase said Notes.

Report Points To Problems Of Regulation

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Self-policing versus government controls—an increasingly sore point in business-government relations—is brought sharply into focus today by an official study of what makes the stock market tick.

How the question is finally settled is of great importance to investors, large and small—and by implication to other parts of the business world fearful of increased or proposed government regulation.

Stock exchanges and other handlers of securities think—as do leaders in many other industries — that since they are closest to their problems they are best equipped to regulate themselves and stop or prevent malpractice that bilks the stock-buying public.

A special panel study of security marketing practices for the Securities and Exchange Commission holds — as apparently do many government officials in other lines—that self-regulation is fine but that the SEC should be given more powers to see that the policing is done, and along lines held by the government to be best for the investing public.

The theme of the study seems to be that "no business is eager for regulation" and firm "government oversight" is needed to see that the policing is done properly.

Stock exchanges do considerable policing of their member brokerage houses and several times of late have cracked down on rule infractions.

The much larger over-the-counter market of stocks unlisted on any exchange is regulated by the National Assn. of Securities Dealers, set up by law to supervise activities of some 5,000 firms, involving 100,000 persons.

SEC Chairman William L. Cary says his agency will discuss the issue of still stricter self-policing versus more government controls with the stock exchanges and the over-the-counter leaders before asking Congress for any new powers — beyond those already sought and now currently before the House after passage by the Senate.

What Congress might do next year, if the issue is raised then, depends on many things—including the course of stock prices, any fresh scandals, the general trend of conservatism versus liberalism.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By DR. THEODORE R. VAN DELLEN

Clashes Bring On Rashes But It Is Not Easy To Prove Why

VAN DELLEN

Rashes often are blamed on nervousness but the relationship between the two is not always easy to prove. Some men with a skin eruption diagnosed as neurodermatitis were found later to be allergic to the wife's perfume. The same can be said of the college girl whose "nervous rash" was due to a hair preparation rather than to her poor grades at school.

There is no doubt of the close relationship between the nervous system and the skin. Blushing is a good example of how some persons react to emotional impulses. Talk about parasites and most of us will begin to itch.

MANY SKIN disorders have a beginning or are made worse by psychic upsets. Some high-strung individuals are bothered with excessive sweating of the hands and feet. This, in turn, may encourage the growth of fungi and in time athlete's foot flourishes. Marked perspiration may irritate an existing dematitis or make it itch.

Emotional disorders also lead to hives, certain types of baldness, itching without apparent cause, and dry or oozing skin lesions. Dr. Norman R. Goldsmith says none of these conditions is found in institutions for the feedleminded. He concluded a person must have some intelligence to become jittery enough to develop neurodermatitis. It is more prevalent after age 20, when numerous stresses and tensions perplex the young person.

I AM NOT trying to overemphasize the role of emotional factors in dermatitis. But tension, worry, and burning candle at both ends increase susceptibility to "nervous rashes" and aggravate existing skin conditions. This is worth remembering, especially with a puzzling dermatitis. Often a rest or a vacation does more than all the salves, lotions, and tranquilizers on the drug store shelves.

Tepid baths without soap often prove comforting. The same can be said for avoidance of highly - spiced foods and stimulants such as tea and coffee.

(Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request.)

VACCINATION OF OLDSTERS

E.J.M. writes: Is it wise for a man of 72 to be vaccinated against smallpox? He was vaccinated as a child.

REPLY

Yes, even though his chance of developing the disease at this age is almost nil. There must be millions of adults who have not been vaccinated since childhood who are susceptible to smallpox. They ought to be vaccinated.

STOMACH ACID

J.M.K. writes: Tests show I have no hydrochloric acid in my stomach. Is it necessary to take this substance by mouth?

REPLY

Not unless symptoms are present. In some instances, indigestion and anemia are traced to lack of acid. But many persons have no hydrochloric adic, yet feel fine and are healthy otherwise.

More Guards Escaping Over Berlin's Wall

BERLIN (UPI) — "Conditions are so bad in the prison that even the keepers are escaping."

That's a popular West Berliners' description of East Berlin two years after the building of the anti-refugee wall that divides the city.

The wall, built by the Communists on Aug. 13, 1961, has not solved the satellite East Germans' problems, nor has it helped stabilize the regime as the Communists had hoped.

It did halt the mass flood of refugees that threatened to bleed East Germany white. But East Germans still brave death almost daily to flee by every conceivable means.

Western officials say the Communists would risk the almost complete depopulation of East Germany if they took the wall down now.

Two years ago when the wall went up East Germans were fleeing to the West Berlin hole in the Iron Curtain at the rate of up to 100 an hour.

In July, the last full month before the wall, 30,000 East Germans walked or rode across the East-West border.

The wall along the 26-mile East-West Berlin border halted that mass flow. In the two years since the wall, 16,456 refugees have managed to get to the West. The first year 12,000 got out. Strengthened controls the second year cut the number to 4,456.

But the number of escaping soldiers and police has increased. The first year 400 soldiers, border guards and policemen fled. The second year 904.

Only fear of retaliation against their families and lack of opportunity keep most border guards from fleeing, defectors have reported.

Morale is said to be extremely low because the soldiers are despised by civilians for guarding the wall.

Pfc. Manfred Tucher, 21, who fled to the U.S. Army's Checkpoint Charlie last month, said: "No matter how crowded a train is no other passenger will take a vacant seat next to a border guard.

"I was stationed in East Berlin almost two ycars ago and never got to know a girl. They wouldn't talk to us. Outside of the men in my company I had no friends."

Pfc. Heinz Heger, 20, who also fled, said: "More than half of my unit would defect to the West in the first few days if war broke out. They would not fight for the regime or shoot at West Germans. At the most 30 per cent are Communists."

East German deserters say most border guards shoot to miss at refugees and even deliberately get bad scores in target practice to cover up.

This would account for the fact that refugee after refugee gets safely to the West although they often escape under Eastern police gunfire.

However, some guards do shoot to kill. Since the wall 65 refugees have died, 54 trying to reach West Berlin and 11 on the East-West German border.

It is believed the death toll is much higher but only 65 deaths have been documented. Western officials say without doubt others have been killed in deserted areas or behind the wall at night when there were no eyewitnesses.

Those who do get through use every conceivable technique. They have swum lakes and rivers, broken through the wall in a Russian-made cus performer who crossed minefields on horse - drawn sleds. There was even a circus performer who crorssed on a 100 yard-long cable 50 feet above the ground.

And then there are the tunnels.

One 60-yard tunnel that took five months to build from East to West Berlin rescued 13. One blind woman was guided through by her sister. A 70-year-old grandmother was pulled along unconscious by a rope tied to her legs. Two small boys who were taken on a tunnel escape were told to pretend they were playing groundhog.

MARIN BUSINESS And INDUSTRY

By HARRY CRAFT

San Geronimo Valley Country Club Opens Office In San Anselmo

The new San Geronimo Valley Country Club, still in the organizational and development stage, has opened a general office at 69 Redhill Avenue, San Anselmo to handle membership inquiries.

Its intended development is a rolling 150 acres at Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and Nicasio Road in San Geronimo. The land is to be conveyed to the club for $1 by the Lagunitas Development Co. which owns some 5,500 acres surrounding the site.

The goal is 400 members at $2,500 each for a total sum of one million dollars to build the golf course, swimming pool, tennis courts and a clubhouse, locker room and pro shop complex. So far about 50 members have subscribed, according to Paul Leahy, spokesman for the organizers. Memberships, he said are totally proprietary, non-promotional and transferable.

A CATERING BUSINESS closed for two years has been reopened by Mrs. Lee Piltz Bishaw of 838 Greenberry Lane, Lucas Valley.

Once known as the "Luau Queen" for her elaborate Hawaiian and Tahitian feasts and entertainments, Mrs. Bishaw is out to reauthenticate the title which was bestowed upon her in 1953 on a nationally broadcast television program. The business started 20 years ago when she and her former husband organized a group to help Islanders stranded in Los Angeles by putting on luaus. It led to other affairs at private homes and for organizations throughout the west.

Now recovered from an automobile accident injury, she caters for as few as 40 and up to 1,200 people—at homes, clubs, hotels and social events. These programs feature unusual South Sea dishes, recipes, drinks, native entertainment and all the festive atmosphere and props of the southern latitudes.

Typical was last week's introductory comeback at her home which exploited the culinary delights of kalua pig, yams, Tahitian poi, papaya, macadameia nuts and numerous other tidbits—along with a new Polynesian punch made from Japan's Suntory whisky introduced here last year—all topped off with the same firm's cherry blossom and green tea liqueurs.

CERTIFICATES IN REAL ESTATE from the University of California Extension Division have been awarded to three Marin residents: William D. Hassler of Terra Linda, Mrs. Beryl Strugnell of San Rafael and Clyde H. Ongaro of Sleepy Hollow. Certificates are issued to licensed realtors, salesmen and persons in related fields who have completed study in basic principles and specialized phases of realty practice. The program is conducted in co-operation with the California Real Estate Assn. and the State Division of Real Estate.

WILLIAM J. NIMS, Mill Valley resident, has been named an agent with San Rafael's district agency of Prudential Insurance Co. A native of Oregon, Nims has just completed two years service in the Army.

Chrysler Spends For Next Year

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Chrysler Corp., whose sales comeback was one of the highlights of the auto industry's record breaking 1963 year, is betting 125 million dollars it can do even better next year.

That is the amount the firm has spent in preparation for its 1964 line.

That was disclosed today by Chrysler president Lynn A. Townsend who outlined to 300 newsmen from the United States and Canada the company's plans for getting an even bigger share of the auto market.

Second Aquarama Whale Succumbs

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Newfie, the second of four pilot whales air-lifted from Newfoundland to the Aquarama, died yesterday.

The 11-foot long, 1,000-pound male whale was found floating upside down. Aquarama officials said he apparently died of lung congestion.

Recreation Program Slates Talent Show

A variety and talent show will be staged by children participating in the San Rafael summer recreation program on the afternoon of Aug. 22 in the new Community Center Building at Fourth and Union streets, San Rafael.

Skits, one act plays, group singing and folk dancing will be held from 1:30 to 4 p.m. The program is free to the public. Children interested in participating may sign up at their neighborhood playground.

Wilder Plays Due Premiere In Hub City

The Festival Theater in San Anselmo will present the West Coast premiere of Thornton Wilder's "Play's for Bleecker Street," three one-act plays, at 8:30 p.m. Friday.

There will be performance Wednesday, Fridays and Saturdays through Sept. 14.

Elizabeth Fuller will direct a cast of 16, and Elizabeth Berryhill, artistic director of the theater, will play a leading role in "Someone from Assisi." Tom Gorden is scenic designer.

"Infancy" and "Childhood" are from a series of seven one-act plays which will chronicle the seven ages of man. "Someone from Assisi," is from "The Seven Deadly Sins." The plays will not be published until Wilder completes an entire work.

Reservations can be made by writing or telephoning the Festival Theater, 2 Kinsington Road, San Anselmo.

Creative Dramatics Courses To Start

Registration for courses in children's creative dramatics will be held Sept. 7 and 14 from 10 a.m. to noon at the Marin Art and Garden Center. Classes will start the week of Sept. 16.

Conducting the classes for children four years and older will be Marion Hayes Cain of 70 Monterey Avenue, San Anselmo. Mrs. Cain has been a director for the Ross Players and the Marin Junior Theater.

Legislature Handled Heavy Load Of Bills

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Has the mass of bills clogging the hoppers of America's 50 state legislatures bogged down these traditional centers of representative government to the point where they no longer can do their jobs?

A survey by the Associated Press shows the amount of work tackled by state lawmakers this year was staggering. They worked their way through more than 81,000 bills, an average of more than 1,600 per state.

Reporters compiling the figures made repeated references to struggles to reduce the mass of legislation, find time to give bills public hearings, and get them out for debate before jammed session-end windups.

There is evidence that the 7,783 state lawmakers, many of them farmers and small businessmen with little government experience, often feel overwhelmed.

"It is impossible for an individual legislator to be informed on all the bills," a reporter said in assessing Missouri's legislative problems.

"Most are accepted on faith, on the recommendations of the committees which are supposed to consider and study them before letting them out for floor debate."

The 1,154 bills introduced in Missouri were below average for the nation and compared with a high of 8,977 for New York. The totals ranged down to Vermont's 477. The reports showed more than 30 state legislative bodies handled 1,000 or more proposals.

The figures compare with 17,230 measures introduced in the two-year 87th Congress, which ended Jan. 3. Of this total, 1,569 became law.

The problem is not new and has been studied by committees both in and out of government.

The Committee on Legislative Processes and Procedures of the National Legislative Conference, for example, observed in a 1961 report:

"In recent years the people have come to realize, in increasing degree, that the capacity of state governments to meet the demands placed upon them . . . requires the unshackling of the legislatures."

If the number of bills passed is an indicator, the lawmakers are getting something done. Nearly 25,000 measures were passed this year.

Short sessions, biennial rather than annual sessions, small research staffs, so-called "nonsense business" and unwieldy committee systems have been frequently criticized.

The range of problems is similar to many of those in Congress — civil rights, huge appropriation bills, government employee salaries, public works and taxes.

But, even with this workload, the lawmakers appear to be extremely reluctant to dispense with the congratulatory resolutions, the introductions of guests in the galleries during sessions, and the memorials to an already-burdened Congress.

Wilder Plays Due Premiere In Hub City

The Festival Theater in San Anselmo will present the West Coast premiere of Thornton Wilder's "Play's for Bleecker Street," three one-act plays, at 8:30 p.m. Friday.

There will be performance Wednesday, Fridays and Saturdays through Sept. 14.

Elizabeth Fuller will direct a cast of 16, and Elizabeth Berryhill, artistic director of the theater, will play a leading role in "Someone from Assisi." Tom Gorden is scenic designer.

"Infancy" and "Childhood" are from a series of seven one-act plays which will chronicle the seven ages of man. "Someone from Assisi," is from "The Seven Deadly Sins." The plays will not be published until Wilder completes an entire work.

Reservations can be made by writing or telephoning the Festival Theater, 2 Kinsington Road, San Anselmo.

Legislature Handled Heavy Load Of Bills

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Has the mass of bills clogging the hoppers of America's 50 state legislatures bogged down these traditional centers of representative government to the point where they no longer can do their jobs?

A survey by the Associated Press shows the amount of work tackled by state lawmakers this year was staggering. They worked their way through more than 81,000 bills, an average of more than 1,600 per state.

Reporters compiling the figures made repeated references to struggles to reduce the mass of legislation, find time to give bills public hearings, and get them out for debate before jammed session-end windups.

There is evidence that the 7,783 state lawmakers, many of them farmers and small businessmen with little government experience, often feel overwhelmed.

"It is impossible for an individual legislator to be informed on all the bills," a reporter said in assessing Missouri's legislative problems.

"Most are accepted on faith, on the recommendations of the committees which are supposed to consider and study them before letting them out for floor debate."

The 1,154 bills introduced in Missouri were below average for the nation and compared with a high of 8,977 for New York. The totals ranged down to Vermont's 477. The reports showed more than 30 state legislative bodies handled 1,000 or more proposals.

The figures compare with 17,230 measures introduced in the two-year 87th Congress, which ended Jan. 3. Of this total, 1,569 became law.

The problem is not new and has been studied by committees both in and out of government.

The Committee on Legislative Processes and Procedures of the National Legislative Conference, for example, observed in a 1961 report:

"In recent years the people have come to realize, in increasing degree, that the capacity of state governments to meet the demands placed upon them . . . requires the unshackling of the legislatures."

If the number of bills passed is an indicator, the lawmakers are getting something done. Nearly 25,000 measures were passed this year.

Short sessions, biennial rather than annual sessions, small research staffs, so-called "nonsense business" and unwieldy committee systems have been frequently criticized.

The sessions usually end in a frantic rush with bills passed in rapid-fire order.

The range of problems is similar to many of those in Congress — civil rights, huge appropriation bills, government employee salaries, public works and taxes.

But, even with this workload, the lawmakers appear to be extremely reluctant to dispense with the congratulatory resolutions, the introductions of guests in the galleries during sessions, and the memorials to an already-burdened Congress.

"Nothing is done to eliminate the nonsense stuff," one report related.

San Geronimo Valley Country Club Opens Office In San Anselmo

The new San Geronimo Valley Country Club, still in the organizational and development stage, has opened a general office at 69 Redhill Avenue, San Anselmo to handle membership inquiries.

Its intended development is a rolling 150 acres at Sir Francis Drake Boulevard and Nicasio Road in San Geronimo. The land is to be conveyed to the club for $1 by the Lagunitas Development Co. which owns some 5,500 acres surrounding the site.

The goal is 400 members at $2,500 each for a total sum of one million dollars to build the golf course, swimming pool, tennis courts and a clubhouse, locker room and pro shop complex. So far about 50 members have subscribed, according to Paul Leahy, spokesman for the organizers. Memberships, he said are totally proprietary, non-promotional and transferable.

A CATERING BUSINESS closed for two years has been reopened by Mrs. Lee Piltz Bishaw of 838 Greenberry Lane, Lucas Valley.

Once known as the "Luau Queen" for her elaborate Hawaiian and Tahitian feasts and entertainments, Mrs. Bishaw is out to reauthenticate the title which was bestowed upon her in 1953 on a nationally broadcast television program. The business started 20 years ago when she and her former husband organized a group to help Islanders stranded in Los Angeles by putting on luaus. It led to other affairs at private homes and for organizations throughout the west.

Now recovered from an automobile accident injury, she caters for as few as 40 and up to 1,200 people—at homes, clubs, hotels and social events. These programs feature unusual South Sea dishes, recipes, drinks, native entertainment and all the festive atmosphere and props of the southern latitudes.

Typical was last week's introductory comeback at her home which exploited the culinary delights of kalua pig, yams, Tahitian poi, papaya, macadameia nuts and numerous other tidbits—along with a new Polynesian punch made from Japan's Suntory whisky introduced here last year—all topped off with the same firm's cherry blossom and green tea liqueurs.

CERTIFICATES IN REAL ESTATE from the University of California Extension Division have been awarded to three Marin residents: William D. Hassler of Terra Linda, Mrs. Beryl Strugnell of San Rafael and Clyde H. Ongaro of Sleepy Hollow. Certificates are issued to licensed realtors, salesmen and persons in related fields who have completed study in basic principles and specialized phases of realty practice. The program is conducted in co-operation with the California Real Estate Assn. and the State Division of Real Estate.

WILLIAM J. NIMS, Mill Valley resident, has been named an agent with San Rafael's district agency of Prudential Insurance Co. A native of Oregon, Nims has just completed two years service in the Army.

Chrysler Spends For Next Year

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)— Chrysler Corp., whose sales comeback was one of the highlights of the auto industry's record breaking 1963 year, is betting 125 million dollars it can do even better next year.

That is the amount the firm has spent in preparation for its 1964 line.

That was disclosed today by Chrysler president Lynn A. Townsend who outlined to 300 newsmen from the United States and Canada the company's plans for getting an even bigger share of the auto market.

Second Aquarama Whale Succumbs

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Newfie, the second of four pilot whales air-lifted from Newfoundland to the Aquarama, died yesterday.

The 11-foot long, 1,000-pound male whale was found floating upside down. Aquarama officials said he apparently died of lung congestion.

Brigus, another whale, died Aug. 4, the day after the four arrived by plane.

Tokyo Native Now Citizen Of America

Carol, a native of Tokyo, Japan, was among 10 Marin residents to become citizens in court ceremonies in San Francisco this summer.

"She's very pleased to be a citizen," Mrs. Mark L. Shafer said. She and her husband lived in Japan for several years. He was owner representative of Pacific Far East Lines.

Just before coming to the Bay Area to work in the firm's main office, the Shafers adopted Carol through International Social Service. Carol was 19 months at the time.

Mrs. Grete Sophie Hayes, 3 Stewart Drive, San Rafael; John Mauris Fraser, 91 Sunnyside, Mill Valley; Miss Nora Theresa McAuliffe, San Rafael; Mrs. Patricia Willerien Martin, 548 Wakerobin Lane, San Rafael; Jeno Sandor Papp, 209 Reed Street, Mill Valley; Edward Charles Platel, 20 Circle Way, Mill Valley; Mrs. Concha Emma Shaw, 1 Pivato Court, Novato; Mrs. Jennifer Anderson, 224 Marin Road, Hamilton Air Force Base; Mrs. Gustel-Maria Sophia Weintke, 51 Ross Avenue, San Anselmo, and Mrs. Rita Sophia Werner, 93 De La Guerra Road, San Rafael.

At one time he operated the San Francisco Airport in San Rafael.

Big Sign On Agenda Of Larkspur Planners

A sign more than three times the legally permitted size, erected without a permit, at the Dophin Marine Sales Co. at 2060 Redwood Highway east of Highway 101, Greenbrae, will be discussed at 8 p.m. today by the Larkspur Planning Commission.

When city officials discovered the sign they complained to Embree F. Hockenbeamer, proprietor of the firm, who instead of removing the sign applied for a variance to legalize it.

City aides said the sign totals about 240 square feet, whereas a maximum of 70 is permitted.

Robert Busse will again ask a permit to convert a duplex at 18 Walnut Avenue into a triplex. He withdrew his application July 24 when the commission asked for more details on his proposed parking plan.

Four requests for lot split will come before the commission on proposed amendments to the zoning ordinance.

Ex-Salesman Pleads In Theft Case

Former used car salesman Joseph Correnti, charged with the $15,000 burglary of a Belvedere home last June, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Superior Court.

Judge N. Charles Brusatori set Oct. 8 for a jury trial. Correnti, 36, of Corte Madera, pleaded innocent after Judge Brusatori denied a motion to dismiss the charges. The judge said there was sufficient information to continue the case.

On June 17, Barney Norwitt, of 2 Golden Gate Avenue, Belvedere, reported the theft of valuable furs from his home. Arrested by Belvedere police as another suspect in the alleged burglary was Vincent Patrick Farina, 24, San Francisco truck driver, who has since been held by parole authorities in San Francisco.

Tokyo Native Now Citizen Of America

Carol, a native of Tokyo, Japan, was among 10 Marin residents to become citizens in court ceremonies in San Francisco this summer.

"She's very pleased to be a citizen," Mrs. Mark L. Shafer said. She and her husband lived in Japan for several years. He was owner representative of Pacific Far East Lines.

Just before coming to the Bay Area to work in the firm's main office, the Shafers adopted Carol through International Social Service. Carol was 19 months at the time.

The Shafers liked the result so much that they adopted another child soon after returning to the States. She is Debbie, now 2.

Mrs. Grete Sophie Hayes, 3 Stewart Drive, San Rafael; John Mauris Fraser, 91 Sunnyside, Mill Valley; Miss Nora Theresa McAuliffe, San Rafael; Mrs. Patricia Willerien Martin, 548 Wakerobin Lane, San Rafael; Jeno Sandor Papp, 209 Reed Street, Mill Valley; Edward Charles Platel, 20 Circle Way, Mill Valley; Mrs. Concha Emma Shaw, 1 Pivato Court, Novato; Mrs. Jennifer Anderson, 224 Marin Road, Hamilton Air Force Base; Mrs. Gustel-Maria Sophia Weintke, 51 Ross Avenue, San Anselmo, and Mrs. Rita Sophia Werner, 93 De La Guerra Road, San Rafael.

Sonoma Mortgage Opens Branch

Sonoma Mortgage Corp. of Santa Rosa has opened a branch office at 951 Front Street, Novato.

The branch, sixth Sonoma Mortgage office in Northern California, will be under the management of Everett Stanlake who will make his home in Novato with his wife and three children. Stanlake has served for three years in the Santa Rosa home office and is a graduate of the Mortgage Bankers of America School of Banking. At one time he operated the San Francisco Airport in San Rafael.

The firm's finance service includes home, construction, commercial and farm loans. The new office will handle loans in northern Marin and southern Sonoma Counties. More than $12,000,000 in loans is presently being serviced in this area, it was stated.

Receives Medal

T/Sgt. Kenneth A. Allen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert M. Allen of Palm Lane Village, Novato, has received the Air Force Commendation Medal for meritorious service as information supervisor at headquarters of the Strategic Air Command, Offutt Air Force Base, Neb. Allen is stationed at Kadena Air Force Base in Okinawa.

Big Sign On Agenda Of Larkspur Planners

A sign more than three times the legally permitted size, erected without a permit, at the Dophin Marine Sales Co. at 2060 Redwood Highway east of Highway 101, Greenbrae, will be discussed at 8 p.m. today by the Larkspur Planning Commission.

When city officials discovered the sign they complained to Embree F. Hockenbeamer, proprietor of the firm, who instead of removing the sign applied for a variance to legalize it.

City aides said the sign totals about 240 square feet, whereas a maximum of 70 is permitted.

Robert Busse will again ask a permit to convert a duplex at 18 Walnut Avenue into a triplex. He withdrew his application July 24 when the commission asked for more details on his proposed parking plan.

Four requests for lot split will come before the commission on proposed amendments to the zoning ordinance.

Ex-Salesman Pleads In Theft Case

Former used car salesman Joseph Correnti, charged with the $15,000 burglary of a Belvedere home last June, pleaded innocent yesterday in Marin Superior Court.

Judge N. Charles Brusatori set Oct. 8 for a jury trial. Correnti, 36, of Corte Madera, pleaded innocent after Judge Brusatori denied a motion to dismiss the charges. The judge said there was sufficient information to continue the case.

On June 17, Barney Norwitt, of 2 Golden Gate Avenue, Belvedere, reported the theft of valuable furs from his home. Arrested by Belvedere police as another suspect in the alleged burglary was Vincent Patrick Farina, 24, San Francisco truck driver, who has since been held by parole authorities in San Francisco.

Correnti is free of $2,100 bail.

On Destroyer

Peter H. Ilse, Navy machinist's mate third class, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Ilse of 790 Las Colindas Road, San Rafael, is serving aboard the destroyer Mullany which recently participated in a major fleet strike and anti-aircraft warfare exercise off the Pacific Coast.

10 Take Exam For Street Job

City Administrator Douglas Flautt said the post is open because Charles Beedle, street foreman, has asked to be relieved of the job.

The tests were sent to Sacramento for scoring and the results are expected in about a week, he said.

Tachometer Stolen

James Crofoot reported to Mill Valley police that on Saturday afternoon someone entered his locked car parked in the 100 block on Miller Avenue while his wife was shopping and stole a $65 Sun tachometer. Crofoot lives at 909 East Blithedale Avenue.

Tomorrow is the deadline for entrants seeking the title of "Miss Wading Pool" of 1963 in San Rafael.

Girls from three to eight years of age are eligible to participate. Girls must sign up for the contest at city playgrounds or at the recreation department office at Albert Field, B and Treanor Streets, by 5 p.m. tomorrow to be eligible.

Nine runnersup will receive banners. The judges will be looking for the nicest suntan, cutest figure, cutest nose, rosiest cheeks, cutest walk, sweetest face, most attractive hair, prettiest eyes and prettiest legs. Makeup is not allowed.

Walter Castro Will Admitted For Probate

The will of the late Walter Rafael Castro, former chairman of the Marin County Board of Supervisors, was admitted for probate yesterday in Marin Superior Court.

A report on the appraisal of Castro's estate, which he left to his wife, Fannie, has not been completed. The will, dated Feb. 2, 1953, was filed with the court last month after Castro's death July 16.

Ends Training

San Marin Annexation On Novato's Agenda

The first action to annex San Marin, the 4,200-home development on the Freitas Ranch, to the City of Novato will take place tonight at the Novato City Council meeting.

The council is expected to set Sept. 24 as the date for a public hearing on the annexation, according to Charles Joseph, director of public works.

If everything proceeds according to schedule, the first reading of the ordinance will take place that night with the second and final reading on Oct. 8, making the annexation effective on Nov. 8, Joseph said.

The area will be annexed in two parcels. One is the original 2,200 acre Freitas C Ranch which adjoins the city on the creek west of Simmons Lane. The other is the Pinheiro Property which adjoins the city on Highway 101 south of Tomahawk Lodge.

Other items to come before the council include changing the name of San Jose Boulevard to Ignacio Boulevard, conforming pavement for the West Novato School and a contract for servicing of the assessment bonds.

Four Marin Youths Take Naval Training

The trainees are Dennis R. Williams, 18, son of Mrs. Frances G. Williams, 145 King Street, Larkspur; Brian A. Larsen, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry B. Larsen, 33 Bridge Road, Larkspur; John P. Quarter-dollars were first issued in 1794.

Business Execs In Crusade Drive

Twenty-seven Marin County business executives, who will form the commerce and industrial division of the United Crusade drive in October, are participating in a training program today and tomorrow.

The program, from 8 a.m. to noon, is being held at the Fairchild Semconductor plant, according to campaign chairman Charles J. Francis. Francis and Paul Kent, chairman of the commerce and industry division will conduct the sessions.

The executives will tour agencies receiving United Crusade funds and hear speakers from the agencies.

K. Robert Dunn, son of Mr. and Mrs. K. L. Dunn, 45 Hillcrest Court, San Anselmo, has completed his summer training cruise as a Naval Reserve Officer Training Corps midshipman. He served aboard the aircraft carrier USS Bennington out of Long Beach.
